Arafat pleads his case in historic U.N. speech

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Palestine leader Yasser Arafat, in an unprecedented appearance before the U.N. General Assembly, called today for the establishment of a Palestinian National Authority and said that "war starts in Palestine and peace starts in Palestine."

Arafat, under the heaviest guard in the history of the United Nations, received a standing ovation when he appeared before the assembly wearing his black and white checked Arab headdress and his customary khaki uniform. The seats of the Israeli delegation in the front row were empty.

Death threats from the militant Jewish Defense League led federal, New York City and U.N. guards to take the strictest precautions. Arafat flew in from Algiers before dawn today and was flown to the towering 38-floor U.N. glass skyscraper by a U.S. Army helicopter.

Outside the United Nations hundreds of Jews began gathering for a demonstration. Police held the first arrivals behind baricades but many more were marching toward the U.N. Plaza.

Excerpts from Arafats' 35-page English text were made available to United Press International in advance of his noon address.

Arafat said in the text that the PLO will demand the following three objectives at this juncture:

—Self detemination for the Palestininan people.

A PLO spokesman said that the Palestinian leadership approved the text before Arafat's arrival at the U.N.

"When we speak of our common hopes for the Palestine of the future," Arafat said, "we include in our aspirations all the Jews now living in Palestine and who accept to live with us in peace and without distinction or discrimination in the land of Palestine.

"War starts in Palestine and peace starts in Palestine.

"In my capacity as chairman of the PLO and leader of the Palestinian revolution, I call upon on each and every Jew to reconsider the past where Zionism and Israeli leadership will lead them, namely to the abyss which ends up in continued bloodshed and continued war."

"We ask you to opt for the broad choice away from the attempts of your leadership to instill in you the spirit of Massada," said Arafat. "We offer you a most generous alternative: that we live together in a framework of a just peace in a democratic Palestine."

The moustachioed Arafat was cleanshaven today although he usually sports a five-day growth of whiskers. He is rarely seen without his dark glasses but he took them off today to read his speech in a strong, firm and calm voice.

In addition to the empty Israeli seats three seats of the South African delegation — expelled from the current U N. session Tuesday —were empty. The other three were occupied by blacks of the Somalia delegation wearing colorful tribal costumes.

Debris from sky panics town as planes collide

KINGSTON, Utah (UPI) — An Air Force F111A fighterbomber and a light plane collided in an explosive ball of fire over southern Utah Tuesday night, raining burning debris on this tiny mountain hamlet. One person, the pilot of the smaller airplane, was believed killed.

Two Air Force pilots smashed out their canopy and parachuted to safety, but they suffered back injuries when they landed on a small knoll just outside town.

Piute County sheriff's deputies searched around the wreckage of a twin-engine Aero Commander for its pilot, believed to be the only one aboard the smaller aircraft.

The thunderous explosion of the collision at an altitude of 17,500 feet and a falling fireball visible 50 miles away sparked brief panic among the 114 residents of Kingston and the 135 persons who live in nearby Junction, both located in mountains about 180 miles south of Salt Lake City.

"I ran outside and could hear people screaming all over town, 'It's going to hit the town!'" said Douglas Coates, 30, a logging truck driver. "They were pretty scared. Then the plane hit a power line and knocked out the electricity. That added to the panic."

"The whole plane was afire," said Marva Allen. "It looked like it was going to land right on top of us. In seconds, it flew apart and crashed in our neighbor's field."

The neighbor, rancher Darrell Luke, was in his house with his wife and four children when the F111A smashed into a field 125 yards away.

"I heard a terrific noise, then the whole field lit up. I saw another plane circling overhead," Luke said. "I was going out to the plane, but its ammunition kept going off and I was afraid I might get hurt." He and his family huddled inside until the wreckage burned out more than an hour later.

Coates and four companions hiked up a hill on the outskirts of town and located the two surviving airmen, Caps. Peter A. Granger, 33, Fargo, N.D., and Paul D. Sperry, 27, Palo Alto, Calif. Two local men carried one of the fliers back to town while the other walked. They were driven 40 miles to Sevier Valley Hospital in Richfield, Utah.

Both flyers suffered back injuries, and Granger also received facial cuts from glass which shattered when he kicked away the canopy. They were in satisfactory condition.

The pilot of the light plane, en route to Butte, Mont., was at 17,500 feet and asking the Federal Aviation Administration's Los Angeles Air Flight station for instrument flight instructions when his radio went dead.

The fuselage and a wing of the twin-engine plane landed about a mile and a half from the F111A.

"We could see it too," said Coates. "It came down as a ball of fire. But we thought it was part of the debris of the jet."

But apologizes for backing political book

Rockefeller defends his generosity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller defended his multimillion dollar generosity today as "the most natural thing in the world" but apologized profusely for his role in backing a book derogatory of a political foe.

Appearing at a nationally televised reopening of the Senate Rules Committee's hearing into his nomination, Rockefeller amplified on his defense of $2.5 million worth of gifts and loans and his explanations behind a critical biography of Arthur J. Goldberg, his 1970 Democratic opponent for the New York governorship.

Rockefeller appeared to be ill at ease. He stumbled over words in his 3-page prepared statement and frequently had to restart reading sentences.

Rockefeller admitted under questioning that his first explanation issued after word of his family's involvement in the Goldberg biography was wrong.

He said the statement he issued was based on his incomplete recollections of "15 minutes in the middle of a long campaign" and the equally incomplete memories of his brother, Laurence, who put up $60,000 to help publish the book.

"This is so unbelievable —the whole thing —that it is pathetic," he said when asked how both brothers' memories could have been faulty.

"If I was trying to make up a story I wouldn't have indicted my brother who I love very dearly."

Rockefeller was accompanied to the hearing in the ornate Senate caucus room by his wife, Happy, who was smiling and relaxed after her recent operation for breast cancer. Also seated behind the witness was Nancy Kissinger, wife of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger who was employed by Rockefeller on the staff of his Commission on Critical Choices for America.

Committee Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., charged there had been an "elaborate scheme to launder the Rockefeller money" invested in the Goldberg book. A corporation was created to publish the volume.

"Not the money, the Rockefeller name," Rockefeller shot back. He said it is difficult to attract investors to a project if word leaks out that the Rockefeller family is backing it.

Cannon said disclosure of Rockefeller's gifts and loans to associates had exploded what Rockefeller had called "the myth" of political power derived from his vast wealth.

But Rockefeller said the loans and gifts had gone to associates who had become close friends.

"Therefore, it was the most natural thing in the world for me to make loans when individual members of this group had personal or family problems, or serious concern as to their future ability to meet the needs of their family in their later years," Rockefeller said.

Tuesday's 92° sets a record for November; heat to stay

Tuesday's July-in-November weather sent temperatures soaring to 92 degrees, making it the hottest November day in Pomona since the weather bureau started keeping records in 1913.

Forecaster Wes Tuft said the warming trend will continue throughout the weekend, but will have a gradual decline in temperatures after today's high of 90 degrees. By the weekend, the temperatures should be in the low-80s, ideal weather for autumn.

Tuft said 70 degrees is the normal afternoon temperature for this time of year.

Both the Los Angeles and San Bernardino air pollution control districts were calling for smogless weather today, following Tuesday's clear skies that offered a rare view of the nearby foothills.

The National Weather Service forecaster said the valley area has had only two previous heat waves that compare with the present weather in November. Both were in the 1940s. Monday's high of 88 degrees tied a record for that date set on Nov. 11, 1942.

Another November heat wave in 1949 sent temperatures to 90 degrees on Nov. 14 and 89 degrees on the 16th and 17th during a three-day hot spell.

Other areas of Southern California also recorded temperatures about 20 degrees above normal Tuesday. The Los Angeles Civic Center had a high temperature of 93 degrees, shattering a previous record high of 92 degrees set in 1900.

'So very much in love'

Prof, wife kill selves, rather than face separation by death

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — A professor and his wife killed themselves rather than face separation by death, authorities said Tuesday

Dr. William C. Lewis, 57, a professor of psychiatry at the University of Wisconsin, and his wife, Katherine, 55, were found dead in each other's arms Monday. Cause of death was a drug overdose.

Dane County Coroner Clyde Chamberlain ruled it a double suicide. He said a note signed by both said Mrs. Lewis was suffering from emphysema and kidney, liver and heart ailments.

The oldest of seven Lewis sons, Madison attorney William C.Lewis Jr., said his mother had been seriously ill for more than a year and had been told she might live up to five years or die at any time.

"My father and mother were very much in love with each other," he said. "We wondered what my father would do if anything ever happened to Mom."

Lewis said his parents had frequently talked about suicide and "this solution was not a bad one."

"They didn't want to spend up to five years living in utter fear, worrying that any cold, sniffle or cough might bring the end," he said.

Both factions see early coal strike settlement

By United Press International

Both sides in the coal talks were optimistic today about a settlement "very, very soon" that would put the nation's 120,000 striking soft-coal miners back on the job in two weeks.

The first layoffs in related industries occurred Tuesday and power companies and auto makers prepared to deal with a severe coal shortage if the strike goes beyond the two week minimum.

United Mine Workers contract ratification procedures take between 10 days and two weeks, and the all-day bargaining sessions are aimed at getting a new contract this week.

Tuesday's 15½ hours of talks and caucuses by both sides included a complete industry package of proposals.

It was the first day of the strike at 1,200 mines in 25 states, affecting 70 per cent of the country's coal production.

"I'm very, very optimistic that we can wrap this thing up very, very soon," said UMW Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick when the Tuesday's session ended at 1 a.m. today.

Guy Farmer, chief negotiator of the Bituminous Coal Operators of America said: "I think we're now making a super human effort to make this agreement," which he said could come "at almost any time."

"We put on the table a complete, total package," Farmer said, "not as a bargaining gambit but as a package that could settle the contract."

Many of the miners, long prepared for a strike, went hunting or played golf. But the strike was grim news for 13,700 U.S. Steel company workers who will be layed off because of the banking of 17 furnaces and operations cutbacks at four others.

Republic Steel in Cleveland also said there would be layoffs, and strike-related dismissals were announced at Norfolk and Western, Penn Central, and Cheseapeake and Ohio railroads, which haul coal.

U.S. Steel said its operations cutback would result in a 30 per cent reduction in pig iron production and 25 per cent less raw steel production.

The only report of violence Tuesday came from Norton, Va., where shots were fired at UMW members picketing a nonunion mine. There were no injuries.

Ford raps general's anti-Jewish remark

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford strongly believes that a statement by Chairman George S. Brown of the Joint Chiefs of Staff about an overly strong Jewish influence in the United States was "ill advised and poorly handled," a White House spokesman said today.

Both Ford and the Pentagon disavowed the statement which Brown made in a question and answer session with students at Duke University Oct. 10.

Brown said that "the Jewish influence in this country ... is so strong you wouldn't believe it" and added that Jews own many of the nation's banks and newspapers.

The Pentagon said Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger thought the statement was "a very unfortunate mis-expression of the general's opinion."

Brown himself said he knew the remark could be interpreted as anti-Semitic, but he did not intend it that way.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters that Ford "considers Gen. Brown's remarks ill-advised and poorly handled" and "feels very strongly" about it.

"The remarks of Gen. Brown in no way represent his views or the views of any other senior official of his administration," Nessen said.

Brown today apologized in a telegram to the national commander of the Jewish War Veterans saying, "I deeply regret that my poorly articulated statements have offended a segment of the American population.

"They don't represent my true feelings toward your organization or those of your faith. My true feelings are those of respect and appreciation."

Nessen said he knew of no plans to oust Brown from the nation's top-ranking military job because of the remark.

He said the White House became aware of Brown's remark several days ago before it was disclosed by the Washington Post.

Pentagon spokesman William Beecher said that Schlesinger "continues to have confidence" in Brown and "realizes this was a very unfortunate mis-expression of the general's opinions."

Some agencies bitter as council allocates rest of revenue sharing

The Pomona City Council Tuesday night allocated approximately $34,000 in general revenue sharing funds to seven local social service organizations in a stormy session that left several agencies angry over the council's handling of the matter.

In a lengthy debate the council wrestled with its desire to allocate more money than was available, but eventually followed the recommendations of the Community Life Commission except in the case of the YMCA Outreach Program and the Upward Bound Program.

Upward Bound, which operates out of the Claremont Colleges and assists low income students in 18 local communities in their pursuit of a college education, had its recommended allocation of $2,500 cut entirely by the council.

That $2,500 and an additional $3,500 in reserve were lumped together and allocated to the Pomona Valley YMCA's Outreach Program, which doubled the Outreach Program's recommended $6,000 allocation to $12,000. It was the only organization to receive greater funding than recommended.

The council's decision to cut the Upward Bound program was based primarily on the fact that the program is federally funded. The vote to cut the organization's recommended allocation was split 3-2, with Councilmen Adrian Wright and Benjamin Ochoa voting to keep the Community Life Commission's recommendations intact.

The council approved the recommended allocations to the Mexican-American Opportunities Foundation, Open Choices, Pomona Boys' Club, Pomona Safety Council, Pomona Valley Council on Aging and the YWCA.

Following the council's actions, representatives of the Pomona Boys' Club and Open Choices complained that their organizations had not been treated fairly by council in consideration for additional funding.

They complained that the council had not given them the opportunity to present their case prior to council action.

Mayor Ray Lepire answered their criticism by reminding the agencies that the council had the full report of the Community Life Commission, which detailed the requests of each agency.

During the course of their deliberations, several council members expressed dissatisfaction with the present method of allocating revenue sharing funds to local agencies and called for major changes in the system for next year.

In other business, the council referred to the Redevelopment Commission a request from Urban Projects Inc. for an extension of its contract as redevelopment consultant.

The firm has already received $25,000 on a 90-day contract and is seeking an additional $17,000 for work until the end of the year.

In referring the matter to the Redevelopment Commission, the council asked that a full report of the firm's work and accountability of funds be made.

The council approved an amendment to the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) agreement with Los Angeles County that will provide 48 city jobs to Pomona residents.

The jobs listed fell predominantly into the building inspection and maintenance areas, but may be changed as city needs dictate.

The agreement with the county totals more than $250,000 in CETA funds.

Regional strike halts all United Parcel deliveries

The Teamsters have shut down all offices of United Parcel Service between San Diego and Santa Barbara, including the Pomona branch at 250 N. Clark St., in a contract dispute over wages and fringe benefits.

The Teamsters have been working without a contract since Nov. 1 when the old agreement expired, according to Randy Cammack, steward of Pomona Local 871. He said 40 workers are involved in the valley which covers communities from Kellogg Hill to Etiwanda.

The strike began Tuesday morning throughout the Southland, except for Pomona where the office was shut down at 3 p.m.

Cammack said not only wages but other working conditions were involved in the dispute. He said the union was asking for a "more adequate medical converage" as well as a $2 an hour wage boost over the next two years.

Ed Myers, regional customer service manager in Los Angeles, said the company's offer of an 18.9 per cent improvement in wages and fringe benefits over the next two years was rejected by the union Tuesday morning.

The offer included a pay boost of $1.36 an hour which would have raised the pay of company drivers to 7.77. Additional fringe benefits offered by the company amounted to another $2.34, he said.

Approximately 3,200 Teamsters and 200 members of other unions are affected by the dispute.

STREET OPENING

A smiling Claremont Mayor Bertye Smith leads a jubilant group of bike riders and runners south on Cambridge Avenue Tuesday across the railroad tracks to break the ribbon and officially open the new north-south street which links Arrow Highway with Bonita Avenue. It is the only such street between Towne Avenue and Indian Hill Boulevard. Mayor Smith, before city and school district officials, recalled that Wheeler Park Neighbors in 1971 gave the City Council petitions with more than 500 names asking for such a street to link south Claremont to the central part of the city.

Jon David Martin, 24, of 723 W. Vernon Drive, was treated at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland and later released.

He was driving east on the freeway and struck the pickup as he changed lanes, said highway patrolmen. The impact caused Martin to lose control and his sedan skidded off the roadway.

The second driver, Jess Coffee, 62, of Baldwin Park, was not hurt.

A 6-year-old girl was injured late Tuesday afternoon when she was hit by a car while riding her bike in La Verne.

The victim, Tifany Ann Moderow, 1051 Rosemary Lane, was taken to San Dimas Community Hospital where her condition today was termed fair. She had a head injury.

Police reported that the little girl apparently rode her bike off the sidewalk and into the street in front of a car driven by Thaddeus T. Stasik, 46, of 4795 Westside Drive, La Verne.

Motorcycle rider is injured in crash

A 19-year-old Ontario man was injured Tuesday afternoon when his cycle slid into the rear end of a car making a right turn into a private driveway at 1520 W. Holt Blvd., Ontario police reported.

Jeffery Weylin Clark of 1442 W.Fawn St., was treated for minor injuries at San Antonio Community Hospital shortly after the 3:38 p.m. accident. He was later released.

Police said that Clark's motorcycle crashed into the rear end of a car driven by Lee Ray Lovitt, 26, of 4466 Denver St., Montclair.

Classes in judo, ballet and belly dancing are being offered by the Pomona Valley YMCA.

A judo class for those 6 and over will begin Tuesday. The class will meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 6:30. Cost is $7 for members and $12 for nonmembers.

Sessions of beginning and intermediate ballet are currently being offered, with beginners meeting Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:30 p.m., and intermediates the same days at 7:30 p.m. Classes run for four weeks and the cost is $5 for members and $20 for nonmembers.

A belly dancing course is also underway, meeting each Thursday at 7 p.m. for a six-week period. Members' cost will be $9, and nonmembers, $12.

Committee delaying meeting for a week

The next meeting of Pomona's Residential Occupancy Study Committee, originally scheduled for this Thursday, has been rescheduled to Thursday, Nov. 21, in the Boards and Commission Room at Pomona City Hall.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m.

The committee is studying the city's proposed ordinance requiring the issuance of occupancy certificates for all housing units.

School board delays action on citizen complaint policy

Approval of a tough citizen complaints policy was postponed again Tuesday night by Chino school trustees.

Board members indicated they didn't have time to review the new version of the policy, which has been re-worked several times.

As first presented, the policy would have severely restricted citizen complaints at board meetings, eliminating the public hearing portion of the agenda.

The hearing, in which persons can address the board on any matters including issues not on the agenda, is allowed in the new proposal.

Citizens would still fill out forms at the beginning of meetings in order to be heard, and their time is restricted to five minutes. Also, charges against the district by employes or students may be presented only after "administrative channels" have been utilized.

The policy is an outgrowth of parent complaints on the year-round program and teacher gripes that board members said were not first discussed with Supt. Royce Lapp.

In other action, trustees authorized entering a bidding process on three portable classrooms for Don Lugo High School. Cost of the project would be $214,045, paid for through construction bond money.

The board also approved a contract with Carmichael-Kemp architects, for architectural and engineering services for the relocatable classrooms.

Trustees, in addition, approved a night differential of $10 per month for classified employes when normal night working hours extend beyond 7 p.m.

Driver hurt as car hits freeway divider

Jeffery Lynn Davis, 22, of 799 W. Seventh St., was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital for treatment.

He was traveling east when he fell asleep, said highway patrolmen. His car drifted to the right where it hit the dirt shoulder and a paddle marker near Dudley Street in Pomona.

The driver then overcorrected and the car cut back over three lanes of the freeway and hit the fence. The impact caused the car to roll over and land back on the freeway.

Davis, who was thrown out of the car, suffered leg and foot injuries and a cut near his right eye, said investigators.

Mock disaster slated to test area response

A mock disaster will be staged Saturday morning by the Pomona Office of Emergency Services in conjunction with Pomona Valley Community Hospital. The disaster will consist of a simulated train derailment and 100 injuries at the Southern Pacific depot in Pomona.

Park Avenue Hospital, Garfield Cottage Hospital and Casa Colina Hospital as well as Pomona Valley Community Hospital will be receiving the simulated victims. The police, fire and sheriff departments coroner's office, Boy Scouts and Red Cross members will be participating to practice their skills in dealing with a large disaster.

Six valuable sheep stolen from dairy

David Wilkes of Corona reported to West End sheriff's deputies that six Suffolk sheep valued at $600 has been stolen from the Van Louwen Dairy at Euclid Avenue and Pine Street in Chino since Saturday.

Sheriff hasn't requested inquest in shooting death

The sheriff's department so far has not requested an inquest into the fatal shooting late Saturday night of a Mira Loma man killed by a deputy during a fracas in Covina.

Coroner's Hearing Officer Frederick Lacey today said no one from the sheriff's department has requested a hearing into the death of John David Hudak, 27, who was shot to death by Deputy George P. Fallis of the San Dimas station.

Deputies were sent to 17022 Bygrove Ave. after Hudak's sister-in-law, Barbara Hudak, 33, called and said Hudak was fighting with her husband, David. Deputies said when they arrived, John Hudak wrested away one officer's revolver and fired two shots before Fallis shot him.

Immediately after the shooting, a sheriff's department spokesman said an inquest would be asked and he added that it was standard department practice to hold inquests in such cases.

Lacey said the only person to inquire about an inquest into Hudak's death, prior to the inquiry by the Progress-Bulletin, was an attorney. Lacey said he didn't know the attorney's connection with the case.

Lacey added that under law, the coroner must hold an inquest when one is demanded by a law enforcement agency. Others may request an inquest but in that case it is up to the coroner to determine if the circumstances of the person's death make a hearing necessary.

Smoker lighting cigarette at stove is burned

A 37-year-old Montclair woman was burned Tuesday when she bent down to light a cigarette over a stove and her hair caught fire.

Mrs. Roberta Jean Whopperer of 9797 Columbine St. was treated at Doctors Hospital in Montclair for first-, second-and third-degree burns of her head and ear and later released.

Montclair firemen reported that the woman was in her home with her two children when she bent down to light a cigarette on the stove.

School district finds a way around Reagan's budget cut

A special program designed to retrain Upland teachers in new educational techniques will continue through 1975 despite the fact that Gov. Ronald Reagan has cut off funds for the project.

Reagan denied further funding for the Research and Teacher Education (RATE) program in the state, but the Upland school board hopes to use funds from another state program to finance the innovative project for another year.

Loren E. Sanchez, director of special projects for the Upland schools, explained at a board meeting Tuesday night that an expected $60,000 from the Professional Development Center Program may be used to continue the teacher training project, which gives continuing special education to a number of elementary school teachers, in 1975.

Upland has $28,400 in unexpended funds to continue the project through the end of 1974.

After the meeting, Supt. Bill Plaster said that he hoped that in 1975 the new governor, Edmund Brown Jr., will revive the RATE program. Upland is one of five California school districts to have the training program.

The school board voted Tuesday night to accept language arts textbooks from three publishers for use in grades kindergarten through eighth. The total cost of the textbooks per pupil will be $10.25, with $6 of this amount paid by the state, $2.50 paid from carry-over funds, and $1.75 paid by the school district.

The textbooks accepted by the board for classroom use are published by Laidlaw, Harper and Row, and McGraw Hill.

After the vote to accept the textbooks carried, Chairman George Ehrnman quipped: "I trust they'll be better received in West Virginia."

Ehrnman was referring to the textbook controversy raging in Kanawha County, W. Va., where many parents have been protesting against the textbooks used in public schools there.

The five members of the board viewed a slide presentation explaining the mathematics program at Sycamore School. The slide show and explanation were given by Roger Skinner, principal at Sycamore, and Asa Bert, a mathematics resource teacher.

One candidate in board race already

City, schools to split election cost

Elections to fill two seats on the Pomona school board will be consolidated with city municipal elections March 4, 1975.

This was the decision of the school board Tuesday when members were informed election costs would be prorated between the district and the city.

Terms of Philip S. Wessels of Diamond Bar and Dr. James Bell of Pomona are expiring.

Wessels Tuesday said he definitely will not seek another term. Bell said he was "pretty sure" he would not run again.

Wessels was elected in 1967 and re-elected in 1971. He served as board president in 1972-73.

Bell was elected in 1971 and served as board president in 1973-74.

The filing period opens Thursday and closes Jan. 3, 1975. There is no filing fee. Candidates need only file declarations of candidacy with the county recorder.

One man already announced for the race is Gene Whitlock, a candidate in the special Nov. 5 school board election which was won by Mrs. Mary Montes. Whitlock said his involvement in that campaign created in him a genuine interest in the school district and its financial problems which he would like to help solve.

Bering Sea storm perils Alaska towns

NOME, Alaska (UPI) — A Bering Sea storm which wiped out a seawall and flooded the main street of Nome turned northward today, threatening small towns and villages near the Arctic Circle.

The storm, with winds up to 70 miles per hour, roared into Nome from the Bering Sea on Monday, and by Tuesday the small Alaskan town was declared a disaster area by Gov. William Egan.

Icy floodwaters were five feet deep along Nome's main street fronting the sea, forcing the evacuation of between 50 and 100 persons. The flood occurred after the storm knocked apart a seawall of rocks and metal barrels filled with sand and concrete that protected the town from water erosion.

A disaster relief team of state and federal workers along with Red Cross volunteers was en route from Anchorage to Nome to help the area's 2,500 residents in recovery operations.

The National Weather Service said high winds and rain from the storm posed a flood threat to small northern villages.

John Doore of the State Disaster Office in Anchorage said there were no serious shelter problem for Nome residents. Those driven from their homes were being cared for in schools and churches.

All communications lines except one telephone connection were severed by flood-caused power failures. As batteries ran low keeping that single line open, a plane carrying portable generators landed Tuesday and work was begun to restore power to critical areas.

Of Nome's two airports, one was under water and the second had no lights which prevented any night flights to the area.

Recessionary push

Impact of coal walkout begins

By United Press International

General Motors today announced the temporary closing next week of three compact car plants idling an additional 7,175 workers, and the coal strike added a recessionary push to the nation's slowing economy.

The Ford administration conceded for the first time Tuesday that the economy was entering a recession.

The new GM layoffs, for at least one week starting Monday, reflect sagging car sales and are not directly related to the strike by the nation's 120,000 men said a prolonged strike would exhaust the coal of its suppliers and bring auto output to a standstill.

The new layoffs bring to 42,475 the number of GM workers idled temporarily or indefinetly. Ford Motor has idled 11,475 and Chrysler 21,400.

The nation's economy was beginning to feel the initial effects of the coal strike.

The first day of the walkout forced the layoff of thousands of steel and railroad industry workers. U.S. Steel, the nation's largest steel producer, says 13,700 employes will be laid off next week.

U.S. Steel has shut down nine blast furnaces, plans to idle eight by the end of the week and operate four others at reduced levels.

The production of pig iron will be chopped 30 per cent and raw steel production 25 per cent, the company said.

Other steel companies held firm Tuesday, though they probably will face similar cutbacks if a coal miners strike lasts more than two or three weeks.

In announcing the cutbacks, Board Chairman Edgar B. Speer called for a quick settlement of the walkout before its effects "undermine our faltering economy."

The nationwide strike by 120,000 coal workers began at midnight Monday, and —even with a quick agreement by negotiators —will last at least 10 days while miners vote on ratification of any proposed contract.

An extended strike would exhaust coal supplies and bring key industries, particularly steel, autos and power utilities, to a halt. More than a million workers could be out of work, pushing the nation's unemployment rate well beyond the current three-year high of 6 per cent, leaving as many as 6.5 million jobless.

A curtailment of output and rising unemployment due to the strike was expected to add to the recessionary forces.

It has been estimated that a two-week strike would result in a production loss of $3 billion.

In a fresh sign of a declining economy, the Commerce Department reported that retail sales in October fell for the second month in a row. Retail sales dropped 0.4 per cent after a decline of 2.1 per cent in September.

The shutdown of 70 per cent of the nation's coal production came at a time when the U.S. economy, badly weakened by inflation and recession, is "particularly ill prepared to withstand a prolonged strike," a banking economist said.

16 policemen hurt, 35 jailed in school fracas

CHICAGO (UPI) — Policemen checked identity cards of students going to class at the Roberto Clemente High school today and patrolled nearby streets in squad cars to head off any resumption of the rockthrowing fracas that left 16 policemen injured and 35 persons under arrest.

Two security guards stood at each school entrance and turned away students who had lost or forgotten their identity cards. They said they were seeking to block any outsiders from entering the school where controversies over Puerto Rican political aims and reassignment of teachers touched off a melee in the street Tuesday.

Joseph Ruiz, board of education representative at the scene, said outsiders had been seen in the school and around it before and during Tuesday's disturbance.

Police said they took a juvenile into custody today after finding he was carrying a knife with a three-inch blade. They said the situation at the school, involving disputes over political activity by some teachers, had been brewing for weeks in the racially mixed neighborhood. Enrollment at Clemente is about 62 per cent youths of Puerto Rican extraction, with the remainder divided among black, Mexican-American, and white persons.

AMC sales a record

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp., the smallest of the U.S. carmakers, said today its 1974 sales hit a record $2 billion but that profits were cut by a three-week strike by the United Auto Workers union.

The company said it sold 385,000 passenger cars, the highest figure in 10 years.

$217,000 in payments to Watergate suspects described by 'delivery boy'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former New York policeman Anthony P. Ulasewicz testified today that he made a total of $217,000 in payments for the original Watergate defendants in bags deposited in airport lockers and telephone booths.

Ulasewicz, 55, talking fast in a Bronx accent, repeated for the Watergate cover-up jury the same colorful story he had given to the Senate Watergate hearings in 1973.

Describing his job as that of a "messenger" or "delivery boy," he said he used fictious names, dealt only in cash and made all of his telephone contacts on pay phones.

"At the outset, I carried the coins around in a small box, but all of that change could wear out your pocket," he said. "Later on, I got myself one of those bus driver coin changers, I could very quick then feed them into the phone."

The coin changer was introduced as evidence in the trial of five associates of former President Richard M. Nixon charged with conspiring to cover-up the Watergate scandal.

Ulasewicz said he was contacted for the job on June 28 or 29, 1972, less than two weeks after the Watergate break-in by Nixon's personal lawyer Herbert W. Kalmbach, who had testified Tuesday.

Kalmbach, Ulasewicz and Frederick LaRue, who was expected to testify later today, have been named an unindicted co-conspirator in the case.

From then until Sept. 19, 1972, he said, he delivered at total of $217,000, most of it to the wife of E. Howard Hunt Jr., one of the masterminds of the the Watergate break-in.

Ulasewicz said he delivered the first $25,000 to William O. Bittman, Hunt's attorney, by going to a supermarket, buying a brown envelope, putting the cash in it and leaving it lying on a shelf near a phone booth.

Other payments were placed in an airline bag or a brown paper bag, put in a locker at Washington's National Airport and the key to the locker was taped under a prearranged phone booth, he said.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica Tuesday personally questioned Kalmbach, who had broken into tears on the stand. Sirica said a higher court ruling gave him the right to question Kalmbach directly.

Emergency cuts ordered by TVA in coal shortage

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Valley Authority is running short of coal and ordered emergency but voluntary — reductions in the use of electricity in seven Southern states Tuesday.

"The coal supply situation we in the Tennessee Valley region face today is extremely serious and will become critical if the coal strike continues for very long," said TVA board chairman Aubrey J. Wagner.

Wagner called for four emergency measures:

—An immediate cutback of all street lighting to 50 per cent of normal.

—Immediate elimination off all outdoor decorative and advertising lighting.

—Reduction of commercial business hours to a maximum of 60 hours per week.

—Immediate reduction of heat in buildings to 65 degrees, and an immediate cut to bare minimums of all other uses of electricity in homes, offices, businesses and industries. Persons requiring more heat for health reasons were exempted.

The strike by United Mine Workers halts 75 per cent of the coal deliveries to TVA, the government agency that supplies electricity to parts of Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. Most of the electricity is produced by burning coal.

Pizza man robbed by trio

A pizza deliveryman was robbed of his money and three large pizzas Tuesday night when he arrived with the goodies in the 2300 block of Canterbury Avenue in Pomona.

Chris E. Goodin, 19, of West Covina, said that three young men, one with an automatic pistol, grabbed him when he stepped from his truck. One held the pistol to his throat while they went through his pockets. Then they ran with the gunman firing a shot into the air as they fled.

The man with the pistol was described as a Negro about 18, 6 feet 1 weighing 160 pounds. He wore a long, black leather jacket and blue jeans.

The victim is employed by Red Devil Pizza at 1005 W. Mission Blvd., Pomona.

West End sheriff's detectives, tipped off to a possible burglary in Chino, arrested a 23-year-old Ontario man leaving a home at 13207 Roswell Ave. with stolen property Tuesday.

Detectives said this morning they received information Tuesday morning that a burglary would be committed in the Chino area by the suspect, Leon Perry, of 1102 E. G St., Ontario. Detectives called for the sheriff's helicopter and placed the suspect's car under surveillance. About noon Perry's car was seen driving to the Roswell Avenue address. Detectives watched as Perry entered the home owned by Barbara Fosdyke and came out with a number of valuable articles.

Perry's car was followed by the sheriff's helicopter for a short distance until ground units could move in to make the arrest.

White House social exiles back in fold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Glamor girls Lee Radziwill and Barbara Howar made the social scene at the White House Tuesday night after years of exile.

At a dinner honoring Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky, Ford also brought back to the fold Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, whom Ford, as House Republican leader, had tried to impeach.

Asked later if he harbored any grudge against Ford, Douglas said: "No, no, no."

Mrs. Howar, a Washington socialite and author, was once friendly with the Lyndon B. Johnsons, but had a falling out with them and had not been to the White House since.

"It's been eight years since Douglas and I were booted out of the social register," she said sipping a glass of champagne. She was the date of UPI White House reporter Richard Growald.

Princess Radziwill, sister of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, said she had "nostalgic memories" of the family quarters. Asked if she were surprised to have a White House invitation (her date was architect Philip Johnson of New York), the princess replied: "I'm not surprised by anything."

Thin as a French model, she was wearing a pale pink backless gown with a beaded bodice.

When Secretary of State Henry Kissinger spotted Mrs. Howar, whom he once dated, he rolled his eyes heavenward and quipped: "What is this house coming to?"

And the beaming Ms. Howar asked Nancy Kissinger: "Are you pregnant?" Absolutely not," replied Mrs. Kissinger, a former New York socialite.

The recession and the down-and-outers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The down-and-outers are pouring into the flophouses and soup kitchens of Manhattan's skid row, and worried city officials wonder how they'll be able to feed and shelter everybody when winter comes.

"That's when the flood will hit," said Dr. Robert Reich, a psychiatrist with the Human Resources Administration and a frequent visitor to the dimly lit, rubbish strewn streets along the Bowery.

"Right now, facilities are overcrowded. The men who are still sleeping outdoors will have to go indoors soon —but most of the hotels are full"

Frank Wexler, the agency's assistant director for institutional services, says the newcomers are putting a strain on the city's main dining room for derelicts, the Shelter Care Center for Men.

"It's the worst it's been since the early '50s," he said. "Right now, we're feeding 1,500 men a day at the shelter —about 20 per cent more than at the same time last year. If we keep getting men at the same rate, we'll be in trouble."

Wexler blamed the depressed economy for the crisis. "They're drifting in from all over the city," he said. "Most of them have just marginal skills, and they just get squeezed out whenever there's a crunch."

Another problem is that a lot of men who usually migrate south when winter comes are staying put this year.

"Transportation costs are up, and word is getting around that there's just nothing for them in Florida anymore," Reich said.

He also said most state mental institutions are now releasing "chronically dysfunctional" patients —those who have permanent disorders but are able to "get by" —on the theory local communities should care for them.

"A lot of them gravitate to places like the Bowery," he said.

Struggling to make ends meet in the Bowery and its side streets, however, is nothing new for either the bureaucrats or the bums.

What is new are the hordes of young, aggressive derelicts pouring into the area.

"Nearly 40 per cent are now under 30," Wexler said. "A lot of the older men are getting crowded out by the militant young ones."

Buford Peterson, director of the Fellowship Center, a counseling service, was more blunt "The young ones are robbing the old guys," he said. "People are getting killed. The old-timers are spreading out to the other boroughs."

The Salvation Army's John Edeen, who runs Booth House II, a residence hall for men, has noticed the change.

"It was quieter in the old days," he said. "Now, the old guys are scattering or dying off. The younger people and the mental patients have disrupted the old-style community."

Two old derelicts standing in front of a honky-tonk bar on the corner of Houston Street and the Bowery groped for words to express their frustration at the change.

"It's always been the depression around here, nothing new about that," said a black panhandler who calls himself John. "But, I don't know, I think I'm getting out. Things just ain't the same."

"It's the young ones," said his bearded friend, who goes by the name of Red and says he used to be a computer technician. "You gotta watch out for them. They're the real bums."

Israeli troops on West Bank alert

By United Press International

Israeli soldiers and police went on special alert in the occupied West Bank of Jordan today to prevent possible unrest in connection with Palestinian guerrilla Yasser Arafat's speech to the U.N. General Assembly.

Newsmen touring the region said Israeli soldiers and redbereted paratroopers patrolled the streets of Nablus, largest city on the West Bank, and ordered some Arab shopkeepers to open their stores.

Besides his widow, Martha W., he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Dennis Comstock of Costa Mesa; two sons, Charles and Ron, both of San Jose; and three grandchildren.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Mason Moore, pastor of the Church of Religious Science of Claremont, will officiate and Compass Lodge 590 will conduct its ritual. Entombment will be made in Pomona Mausoleum.

Friends may make memorial contributions to the Pomona Valley Temple Association, 395 S. Thomas St., Pomona 91766.

Film director de Sica dies at age 73

PARIS (UPI) — Film director and actor Vittorio de Sica, whose films "The Bicycle Thief" and "Shoe Shine" pioneered the era of postwar realistic films, died today in Paris. He was 73.

The director's friend, producer Carlo Ponti, announced in Rome that de Sica died at 5 a.m. in a private hospital in the French capital.

The director, one of the pioneers along with director Roberto Rossellini of the new era of realism in films, was to have attended the opening in Paris tonight of his latest film, "The Voyage", starring Sophia Loren and Richard Burton.

Friends of the director said Miss Loren, Ponti's wife, was with De Sica in his final hours.

Ponti did not give the cause of death.

The actor, director and producer became ill last year shortly before directing "The Voyage" and underwent surgery in Switzerland. However he was released and returned to complete the film version of the Luigi Pirandello novel.

De Sica, the actor, was a charming interpreter of witty drawing room comedy and was often called Italy's Cary Grant.

De Sica, the Oscar-winning director, showed that Hollywood had no monopoly on cinema creativity, and his work as a director outshone even his considerable talent before the cameras.

"The Bicycle Thief" won an Oscar in 1949 and "Shoe Shine" in 1947. "Shoe Shine" was the first in a series of postwar films about which one critic remarked:

"De Sica is the poet of suffering, the spokesman for the poor and the humble of this earth."

As an actor, he co-starred with and helped make famous the bosomy Italian actresses Gina Lollobrigida and Miss Loren.

Nonviolence leader giving 4 talks in area

Carl Zietlow, consultant for nonviolent training for the Fellowship of Reconciliation, has scheduled four speaking engagements Thursday and Friday throughout the local area.

His visit is being cosponsored by the Community Council for Peace in Claremont, with other groups.

Zietlow founded and served as field secretary for the Nonviolent Training and Action Center in Chicago.

Zietlow will speak Thursday at 8:20 a.m. to a class on nonviolence in practice and theory at Scripps College.

Thursday noon he will discuss "Nonviolence and Social Change" at McAlister Center for Religious Activities, 10th Street at Columbia Avenue, Claremont.

Thursday at 7:30 p.m. his topic will be "Where Do We Go From Here? The Future of the Nonviolent Movement" in the Louise Roberts Room, United Church of Christ, Congregational, Claremont.

Friday at 10 a.m. "Nonviolence and Social Change" will be his informal talk at La Verne College in the President's Dining Room.

Two brothers fatally stabbed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies, summoned by a neighbor, discovered the bodies of two brothers who were stabbed to death in their south Los Angeles home Tuesday.

Ray Morris, 53, and his brother Brooks, 48, were found by deputies who had been called by a neighbor, alarmed because no one answered his knocks on the brothers' door.

Police said the house was not robbed and they have not determined a motive for the slayings.

Man fatally shot by 'job seekers'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — One man was shot to death Tuesday and another wounded by two men posing as job seekers.

Mike Marrufo, 24, was at work on a truck loading dock when two men, identified as male Latins, approached the dock and asked for "Mike."

When Marrufo identified himself, one of the two opened fire with a .25 caliber automatic pistol, killing Marrufo instantly. Another employee, whose name was withheld for protection, was injured, but not seriously, by a stray bullet.

Scientists accuse AEC of coverup

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — The Union of Concerned Scientists said today the Atomic Energy Commission has been involved in a massive coverup of scientific information concerning the potential for catastrophic nuclear power plant accidents.

The coalition of scientists, engineers and other professionals concerned with the impact of advanced technology on society sent a letter to President Ford, asking for suspension of plans to build nuclear power plants and help in correcting the alleged abuses.

The union said it has been studying the AEC since 1971 when it discovered "weaknesses in a key nuclear power plant safety system."

"We thought that we had discovered a technical problem that the AEC had overlooked," Daniel Ford, executive director of the Union, said. "We hoped that by pointing it out to the AEC, the AEC would correct it. The AEC did not do this."

"We learned subsequently — from secret AEC documents — that the AEC knew all about this problem," he continued, "and about several other safety problems, and that for years it has been concealing this information from the public, the Congress, the courts and sucessive administrations."

Dr. Henry W. Kendall, professor of physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a member of the Union, said the "AEC's official position on the safety of nuclear power reactors has been definitely discredited by the AEC's own scientists in these documents."

"The AEC internal studies shaws the technical correctness of nuclear power plants safety criticisms advanced by groups such as the UCS, the Ford Foundation Energy Policy Project, and the British government's chief scientific advisor," Kendall said.

The UCS said the documents were leaked by AEC staff members.

It told the President: "The AEC has asked you to promote nuclear power plant construction, but it has withheld facts supported by thousands of pages of internal AEC reports showing that a nuclear power plant safety crisis exists."

The Union told the President a review of the AEC documents shows:

"... the AEC is not able to prove that basic reactor safety systems have the capability to prevent catastrophic accident."

"... nuclear power plan accidents could have consequences in terms of loss of life and property damage that exceed any peacetime disaster in our nation's history."

".. the AEC, as a regulator, has been unable to control the commercial nuclear power industry and that the industry is largely disregarding safety practices required in the AEC's own regulations."

Poor, elderly suffer most in coal strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Those who can least afford it — the nation's poor and elderly — will be most hurt by a nationwide coal strike, according to a report by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The OEO's Institute on Energy Conservation and the Poor conducted a survey to determine the impact of a coal shutdown and urged that state and local offices prepare emergency mass shelters for the poor.

The report said a long coal strike would cause higher unemployment and drastically increase fuel costs of elderly persons on fixed budgets.

"The probable results of the impending coal strike will add measurably to the problems of the poor and elderly in the winter of 1974-75," the report said.

"While its impact will be felt in terms of actual fuel shortages, the greatly increased coal costs that will result are an added and even more difficult burden to the poor and near-poor, who already are staggering under the effects of inflation.

"It is very probable that many near-poor will find themselves unemployed and will qualify as below the poverty level as a result of the strike," the report said.

It said the rural poor who depend largely on coal for heating would be particularly hard-hit not only by an actual fuel shortage, but also by higher prices they cannot afford.

Pupils doing badly kidding themselves

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Although nine out of 10 San Francisco high school students believe careers are very important to their happiness, they may also suffer from self-delusion, a Stanford study shows.

The study, which included a random sample of nearly 2,000 students, indicated those who were doing very badly in school often believed their performance was average and that they were trying very hard.

"Somehow low achieving students are allowed to continue to kid themselves—not just on their current level of ability, but on their level of effort," said Prof. Sanford Dornbusch.

Dornbusch said schools should try to help students develop more realistic conceptions of their performance without destroying their self confidence.

Overall, the study showed that the more closely the student related a subject to a future job, the more important he considered the subject and the more effort he put into it.

According to the survey girls show an increased interest in jobs and a diminishing interest in marriage in terms of future happiness. Females worked harder and received higher grades than males in every subject except math.

"Women do less well in math because they aspire to jobs which they don't think require math, and when they do poorly, they ascribe this to lack of ability," Dornbusch said.

The findings were based on questionnaires administered to a random sample of 780 students from eight San Francisco high schools, 422 from the San Francisco Technology School and 664 from three suburban schools.

Dairymen trying to prove point

City dwellers given calves to raise

SCOTLAND, Tex. (UPI) — Dairyman Kenneth Teichman gave away five Holstein dairy calves to city folks to prove a point.

"My brother and I were milking cows—that's a good time to think—when I came up with the idea," he said.

"The simple purpose was to give city people a chance to experience first hand the high cost of producing milk," Teichman said.

The only stipulations are that city people must keep the calves for at least six months and keep records of feed costs.

Teichman said he war flooded with calls from interested people after announcing the deal in a newspaper. The takers, four of whom are from nearby Wichita Falls, have to decide for themselves how and where to raise the calves.

"I'm sure when they come back with records it'll show a substantial loss," Teichman said.

Teichman blamed high feed costs and low milk prices for the losses dairymen are taking.

"It just doesn't add up too well for us," he said.

Teichman and his brother have about 250 cows with 125 producing milk at one time. The calves he is giving away would normally sell for $10 or $15 a head at an auction, he said.

"It costs us $300 a day to feed the herd," he said. "Rent, utilities, interest and fuel push the costs up to $350 per day." And that's not mentioning feed for the nonproductive remainder of his herd, he added.

Teichman said his dairy produced approximately 140,000 pounds of milk in September. It sold for $12,000, leaving him a net loss of over $2,000.

Teichman said there are 80 or more dairies in the vicinity south of Wichita Falls that are in the same predicament.

Musical composition: car horn, trash cans

He signals stage right and a 12-volt battery and car horn are brought onstage. He motions stage left and two garbage cans are carried out.

A "guest soloist" solemnly approaches the cans and tips one into the other in a deafening crash of glass and metal rivaled only by the cannons in "1812 Overture."

The crash is something the audience in this freeway-oriented metropolitan area immediately recognizes—a traffic accident. They turn to each other and nod knowingly as horn blasts punctuate the music.

Inflation having little effect on wine prices

By BOBBY RAY MILLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — American wine drinkers can look forward to better wines at steady or even lower prices for the next several years, an industry spokesman says.

"It's a confluence of weird circumstances," said Alexander McNally, international wine manager of Heublein, Inc., noting that the amount of wine available is growing at a faster rate than the demand.

As a result, he said, the traditional economic pressures of supply and demand will bring the price down.

"You can always lay off people in the auto industry and just stop producing cars. It's different in the wine industry. The vines are there and they produce grapes."

He also said in an interview Monday that the wine scandal in France will have little influence on prices in this country, except for a possible trend away from prestigious French wines to other wines.

Heublein distributes both domestic and foreign wines, including some of the imported chateau wines.

The 1974 California crop — just harvested —was a large one, McNally said, calling it "the best in the last 20 years in terms of quality and one of the most outstanding as far as weather and grape maturity.

"And, for the first time in 15 years, more wine-type than raisin varieties were harvested."

Americans are drinking more wine, McNally said. "The growth rate is between 7 and 10 per cent a year. There hadn't been enough good wine to meet the market demands."

Then about five years ago, vintners began planting more vines both in Europe and in America, he said.

In California, the number of acres planted in grapes has tripled —most of it high-quality wine grapes. In the next four years, McNally said, the wines produced from those grapes will hit the market.

"There will be more wine from Europe. It will be enormously large in California. It costs very little more to produce a lot of wine than it does to produce just a little wine.

"So the price of new wine will be going down. And even the wine that is already on the market will keep a steady price. With inflation, that means that, in relation to other products, it, too, will be less expensive.

"There'll be a lot of wine and a lot of selection. With inflation the way it is a lot of people are doing without those Swiss vacations. Instead, they're staying at home, drinking wine, and going to the ballgame."

He said many companies are now introducing new, high quality wines that sell for less than $2 a bottle. He noted an Inglenook Navelle French Colombard, which sells for $1.89 and a Colony Zinfadel, which sells for $1.69. His firm distributes both labels.

"Ten years ago we couldn't have produced those wines — we just didn't have the grapes. But now we can do it."

EDWARD J. SANTEE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Santee, 412 E. Cucamonga Ave., Claremont, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, and is scheduled to report to aviation electrician's mate school at Memphis, Tenn.

CORY J. MILLER, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Miller of La Verne, is scheduled to participate in the 1974 Strategic Air Command elite bombing and navigation competition at Barksdale AFB, La. this week. Miller is an inflight refuel operator technician on the KC-135 tanker crew representing the 456th Bomb Wing at Beale AFB. The competition demonstrates the flying proficiency of SAC top bomber and tanker air crews against Royal Air Force crews and Tactical Air Command F-111 fighter-bomber crews.

ROBERT WAGGONER has graduated from pilot training at Vance AFB, Okla. His mother, Mrs. Virginia Waggoner, lives at 1037 E. Columbia Ave., Pomona. His wife, Marina, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Martinez, 380 E. Grove St., Pomona. Second Lt. Waggoner will be assigned to a KC-135 Stratotanker at Carswell AFB, Tex. He graduated from Pomona High School in 1968 and Arizona State College in 1973, where he earned a B.S. degree.

Number of flights decreases

OIA hits million-rider mark early

Ontario International Airport counted its one millionth passenger last month, a month earlier than last year.

Officials reported an October count of 97,776, boosting the year's total to 1,034,421. This compared with last year with an October count of 102,172 and year's total of 990,605.

But with the increased passenger count came a decrease in flight operations. Officials report 106,949 flights the first 10 months this year compared to 123,504 through October last year for a 13.4 per cent decline.

Passengers this year include 898,843 on commercial flights, 113,899 on scheduled commuters, 6,244 on nonscheduled flights and 15,435 on alternate operations.

This compares with 1973 when officials reported 853,988 persons on scheduled flights, 110,393 on scheduled commuters, 17,684 on nonscheduled flights and 8,540 on alternate operations.

Also showing an increase is the amount of air cargo being shipped and received at the airport. So far this year, officials have logged 5.5 million pounds of air freight and air express shipments. This compares to 4.6 million pounds the same period last year.

The decrease in flight operations was reported in all categories except alternate operations.

The 1974 totals include: air carrier, 25,325; alternates, 284; air taxi, 14,975; military, 10,697; and general aviation, 55,668. In comparison, the 1973 statistics show: air carrier, 29,131; alternates, 207; air taxi, 17,242; military, 11,421; and general aviation, 65,502.

Library has diverse fare

Fall and winter programs sponsored by the Ontario City Library are beginning this week. Th events are free, but students may be asked to provide and store their own supplies.

Children's department activities include: arts and crafts for tots, ages 3-5; arts and crafts for grades K-3; paper mache, grades 3-8; music, grades K-4; folk games, K-4; play production, grades 5-8; junior library volunteers and story hours for both preschool and primary children.

Young adult programs include karate, careers, library skills and special events.

The adult department will have travel talks, classes on investments, antiques, writing, automobile maintenance and repair and income tax assistance.

A sewing class for non-English speaking women now is underway at Pilgrim Congregational Church, 600 N. Garey Ave., Pomona.

Sponsored by Volunteer Vital English, the class not only will teach women sewing, but allow them an opportunity to practice English and learn English terms from volunteer sewing instructors.

Classes meet on the first and third Tuesday of each month at 9 a.m., according to chief instructor Marian Stocker.

Orientation class for volunteers interested in teaching English in the homes on non-English speaking families will be at 7 p.m., Dec. 2, at Claremont United Church of Christ, Congregational, 233 W. Harrison Ave.

Rommel's son seeking office

STUTTGART, Germany (UPI) — Manfred Rommel, son of Erwin Rommel, the "Desert Fox" of the Nazi Africa Korps, is up for election as mayor of Stuttgart.

Rommel, a state secretary at the finance ministry, is running on a Christian Democratic Party ticket and has told his public, "I am not running as someone's son, but as a man who has achieved something by himself."

Wall Street Briefs

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — J. Ray McDermott & Co. and Kaiser Steel Corp. of Oakland, Calif., announced they will build a $50 million oil drilling platform for Exxon Corp. to be used in the Santa Barbara Channel of southern California. Different parts of the vessel will be built by McDermott at Morgan City, La., and by Kaiser at Fontana, Calif.

MIDLAND, Tex. (UPI) — Dowdle Oil Corp. has brought in two additional natural gas wells in Indiana County, Pennsylvania. This makes 10 wells completed so far in the field with a combined daily potential output of between one and six million cubic feet.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Laidlaw-Coggershall Inc. says that once an upward market move begins rolling an an investor may not get another chance to invest at then existing levels. "The complexity of the present situation suggests that some setbacks are likely so we feel that purchases ... should be on a highly selective basis," the firm adds.

NEW YORK (UPI) —Parents are warned by the Insurance Information Institute against using a neglected second family car to take children to and from school, especially in pool arrangements. The second car in a family often is neglected and this could lead to serious accidents, the institute said.

If it is decided to use the second car to take the kids to and from school, some money should be spent on it. The tires, battery, brakes, front-end alignment and windshield wipers should be checked particularly and replacements and repairs carried out as recommended by a good mechanic.

If you've ever been stumped about finding a good mechanic, here's the book for you.

Where to Find Certified Mechanics for Your Car
WE EMPLOY MECHANICS CERTIFIED BY Published by MOTOR Magazine

There are lots of them around, but until now you couldn't tell a good mechanic just by looking.

Now you can. Just by looking in a new national directory that tells you exactly where to find a skilled mechanic. Here in this area, or anywhere in your travels.

That's because the key organizations concerned with repairing automobiles joined to form the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (NIASE). And the result is a first-time directory titled "Where to Find Certified Mechanics for Your Car." In it you'll find a list of new-car dealerships, service stations and repair garages employing mechanics whose skills have been certified by the Institute. These are expert mechanics. They've proven it by passing tough tests developed and administered by the Educational Testing Service — the same people who conduct college entrance exams.

The new directory is 170 pages, will fit in your glove compartment and costs $1.95. To get a copy, send a check with your name and address to:

New '74 pickups at '74 Toyota prices.

One of the longest service intervals in the small truck class — 6 months or 6,000 miles.

Enough cab room so you can really stretch those legs — 4" more leg room than our last year's model.

The 7'2" bed is almost a foot longer than any other small pickup's. So you can carry those longer loads.

The biggest 4-cylinder engine in its class, yet it still stretches a tank of gas.

See the 1974 "Pickup Truck of the Year" — according to Pickup, Van & 4-Wheel Drive Magazine — at your Toyota Dealer.

Lots of standard features are always included in the Toyota price. Like power brakes, whitewalls, 4-speed transmission, flo-thru ventilation, and even a cigarette lighter.

Small car specialists for 40 years.

School dilemma: to tax or not to tax

. . . Pomona board delays decision for two weeks

The Pomona school board Tuesday night delayed for two weeks its decision on whether to schedule another tax override election next spring.

Schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz asked that board members be prepared at the Nov. 26 meeting to vote on an administrative recommendation that the matter be turned to the voters in March or May.

On Nov. 5 district voters rejected a school proposal, Proposition QQ, to raise the tax rate by $1.44 per $100 valuation. Voters have approved only three of 11 district requests for money since 1956, the last in 1968.

Wentz told the board the situation for 1975-76 — which finds the district facing an estimated $3 million deficit — was "frustrating." But, he continued, "we are obligated to provide the best education we can to some 20,000 youngsters."

"We have nothing to lose by going back to the well again," said board President Ken Pine.

Board member Don Donnelly defined the situation as "painful" and asked if there wasn't merit in forming a committee and going back out into the community to get the thoughts of the people.

Dr. James Bell reminded his board colleagues that another tax override election and identifying cuts in staff, services and programs in light of the failure of Proposition QQ were separate issues and should not become confused.

The subject then was taken up by Delbert A. Pfeifer, executive director of Associated Pomona Teachers (APT).

"Rather than worrying about an election date," said Pfeifer, "the board should be worrying about developing a proposal that has community support.

"If that can't be done, then it must be time for a change in the board and in management."

Pfeifer said that the discussion of a choice of election dates was a futile exercise "if all the board and management plan is a re-run of past proposals.

"Community input seems to have as much impact on the board and management as does teacher input — zero. Unilateral decisions are the order of the day. Fortunately for the community, they do have the power to deliver a definitive no."

When the discussion was opened to the audience, unsuccessful school board candidate Gene Whitlock — who lost last week to Mrs. Mary Montes — said his recent involvement had proved to him that Pomona "does not want to spend more money for education today."

Whitlock, a businessman, said he had put the district's 1974-75, $25 million budget through a computer and he presented a plan whereby $740,000 could be "squeezed" from it.

Whitlock said an additional $1.8 million could be squeezed out in 1975-76, resulting in a two-year savings of $2.5 million.

His recommendations began with the consolidation (closing) of three or four school units, and went on to include the relocation of the Park Avenue High School into one of the existing elementary schools, severe reductions in the purchases of new furniture and cuts in travel, conference and recruitment expenditures.

In his austerity recommendations, Whitlock said he would reduce contracts for personal services, cut staff and administration at all levels, reduce equipment replacement and defer district debt payments.

Whitlock said with this much "belt tightening," the people of Pomona probably would be willing to give the district more tax money.

Pine thanked Whitlock for his material and said the board would analyze it thoroughly. "If what you say is right, you should be sitting up here," Pine told Whitlock.

FAREWELL PRESENT

City says farewell to Mulrooneys

Area residents said goodbye to Claremont City Manager Keith Mulrooney, his wife, Monica, and their three children, Michele, Jill and Scott, Tuesday night at a reception at Griswold's Pavilion.

During an hour-long program, Mulrooney was "roasted" good-naturedly with a "3-2" City Council proclamation read by Mayor Bertye Smith, two songs created by former Mayor Ed Malan, and sung by Malan, City Councilwoman Claire McDonald, Environmental Quality Board Chairman Sally Vogel, and City Planning Director Donald King.

The city staff added to the merriment by staging a protest march through the hall with signs reading, "You Can Commission a Commission, But Can You Manage a City Manager?" and "Up With Trees, and Down with Speed Limits."

Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire read and presented to Mulrooney a proclamation from the Pomona City Council for the contribution of Mulrooney while he was on the Pomona city staff before he moved to Claremont city government.

The Mulrooneys happily accepted two gifts: a water color entitled "Flight and Containment" by former Claremont artist Phil Dyke, and a banner created by Mrs. McDonald depicting Claremont as the city of trees and other accomplishments, and the dates of Mulrooney's reign as city manager.

The Claremont proclamation read: "He will do as much for Alexandria as Sherman did for Atlanta."

Mulrooney served as city manager under five mayors: Mrs. Marjorie Spear, Ken Beyer, Malan, McManigal and Mrs. Smith.

Mulrooney, who will be starting his new job at Alexandria, Va., as city manager next Monday, gave his friends an idea of the contrast between the city he is leaving and the city where he is going.

He mentioned that five former city managers still live within the city boundaries of Alexandria, and one is on the City Council.

Alexandria is twice the size in area but five times larger in population, has 10 times more employes, and a budget 20 times bigger.

Mulrooney asked residents to back the coming bond election for a new fire station, and said that the potential for redevelopment in the Village shopping district is very high if done sensitively.

Mrs. Mulrooney recalled that she taught French to adult school students at the Old Claremont High where the reception was being held.

"There's no equal to you," she told her listeners.

Survey discloses

Ethnic imbalance exists in three Chino schools

Three schools in the Chino Unified School District have either too few or too many Spanish-surnamed pupils and are ethnically unbalanced, according to new statistics released Tuesday night.

The ethnic survey for 1974-75, distributed at the Chino school board meeting, showed 29.2 per cent Spanish-surnamed students in the district this year, and three schools out of balance.

Also, black students number only 1.1 per cent of the student population, American Indians .2 per cent, and Asian-Americans, .6 per cent. All others, including Anglos, total 68.9 per cent, the survey showed.

El Rancho Elementary School had the widest deviation from state guidelines, showing 29.2 per cent more Spanish-surnamed students than it should have, exactly double the district norm.

It has 326 Mexican-Americans, out of 555 total pupils, or 58.4 per cent. State guidelines say that any school with a deviation of 15 per cent or more (plus or minus) from the district norm is out of balance.

Glenmeade Elementary and Buena Vista High are the two other schools with the deviations, according to the survey. Glenmeade has 70 Mexican-Americans out of 608 pupils, or 11.5 per cent — 17.7 per cent too few Spanish-surnamed pupils.

Buena Vista has 19 Spanish-surnamed out of 141 students, or 13.6 per cent, and 15.6 per cent too few.

Some others such as Chino High and the Gird schools have high percentages of Spanish-surnamed students, but do not deviate 15 per cent from the district norm. Chino High has 40.9 per cent Spanish-surnamed, 11.7 per cent above the norm, and the Gird Schools have 42.5 per cent or 13.3 above the norm.

Newman Elementary is listed at 21.3 per cent, or 7.9 per cent below the norm; Los Serranos Elementary 22.4, or 6.8 below; E. J. Marshall 18.7 or 10.5 below; Walnut Avenue 18.6 or 10.6 below; Ramona Junior High 23.8 or 5.4 below; Magnolia Junior High 27.3 or 1.9 below; Don Lugo High 24.5 or 4.7 below; and Boys Republic, 25.1 or 4.1 below.

Total Spanish-surnamed in the district number 2,889 out of 9,879 students. Also, there are 26 American Indians, 100 blacks, 61 Asian-Americans and 6,803 "others."

Percentages of Spanish-surnamed have risen, compared to two prior years. The 29.2 per cent figure this year compares to 28.6 for 1973-74 and 26.7 in 1972-73.

College to have parley on NATO

"NATO after a Quarter of a Century" will be the international relations colloquium topic scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Oldenborg Center, Pomona College. Admission is free.

The panelists will include Col. Busso Von Alvensleben and Col. Bjoern Egge from NATO, and several professors from the Claremont Colleges.

Col. von Alversleben has been the Army attache for the Federal Republic of Germany in Washington since 1973.

Col. Egge is director general of the Norwegian Defense Headquarters' Press and Information Service, and is a well-known author and lecturer. He served in the Norwegian forces during World War II.

. . . Bonita district says let's try again in March

After discussing the defeat on Nov. 5 of Bonita school district's tax override proposition, the school board voted to return to the voters on March 4 with the same revenue limit increase proposal of $60 per pupil.

This would necessitate an increase in the school tax rate of 61 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

While the November election had a light turnout for a general election (8,839 votes or 56.7 per cent voter turnout) it was a heavy vote for a school tax measure, Supt. James T. Johnson Jr., pointed out.

He noted that the largest voter turnout for a tax election in district history was on March 7, 1972 when 5,310 voted, with 3,043 voting yes to pass the measure. Therefore, he explained, although the present measure was soundly defeated, more people voted for the measure than in any other tax election.

He stated that in his opinion a March tax election would have a better chance of succeeding.

"We must give the voters one more chance to indicate what type of program and service they are willing to support. We must give the voters a chance to say if they really believe one Beverly Hills child is worth two Bonita children,," he said.

Beverly Hills schools recently won their tax override proposal and next year will have $1,275 more per pupil for education than Bonita.

Johnson reported to the board that the citizens who worked for the proposition are asking to go back to the voters in March to try again.

"But," he added, "realistically we're in for a tough year. The same people who vote no are the ones that storm this place if class sizes go up. They don't leave us a choice."

Asked by the board about the possibility of school tax aid from the new legislature, Johnson pointed out that "the earliest aid would be in fiscal 1975-76 with implementation in 1976-77. We will have to make cutbacks by March 15 if we have no assurance of increased funds. Our budget is 80 per cent people and notification to teachers has to be made by March 15. Program or service nonpersonnel cuts can be made as late as summer."

The board heard a report by Douglas Halverson, principal of Lone Hill School, describing the transition to the new facilities at the school which are rapidly nearing completion.

Halverson reported that on Friday the new music room was occupied by classes. The multipurpose room which has housed five classes now has only one class in it, with the other four moved to their permanent location. The science and art rooms were occupied by staff and students during the past week also. Work is still in process in the gym and Halverson is looking forward to full occupancy of the phase two buildings before the first of the year.

James E. Overin, assistant superintendent for business services, reported on the progress of the improvement at Bonita Stadium. He anticipates that a completion report will be ready for the next board meeting, which will be held on Dec. 10.

LA VERNE COLLEGE OUTDOOR SCHOOL in the San Bernardino Mountains will be featured on KNBC-TV's "Brainworks" Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

The outdoor education program began in 1971 under the direction of Prof. Dwight Hanawalt when students from Charter Oak School District and La Verne College teamed up for a week at a camp in Wrightwood.

This year, six schools (nearly 700 fifth and sixth graders) with their teachers and principals and 20 La Verne College students participated in six separate weeks of outdoor education—five at Wrightwood and one at Malibu.

Preschool expansion, ethnic balance

Propose sweeping school reforms

Upland Schools Supt. Bill Plaster offered the school board a package — Educational Master Planning for the Future — of educational reforms Tuesday night which includes a proposal to expand the preschool program and a suggestion to commission a demographic study of the city for future school planning.

Among other things, Plaster also wants the board to acquire property in Upland for storage and administrative facilities, to support an innovative media program, to begin planning for a new junior high school, and to undertake a rehabilitation program for existing school buildings.

"I have recommended some things which I think will enhance the educational process," Plaster told his five-member board.

Rather than ask the board to digest the entire package of recommendations at one meeting, Plaster proposed to present one or two of his major ideas at each meeting in future months. In December Plaster wants to make a detailed proposal to sell an unused school site at 1405 W. 11th St. in Upland and a recommendation for funding for a school building rehabilitation program.

In an earlier interview, Plaster, 36, an activist superintendent since he came to Upland from Santa Barbara two years ago, had described his educational master plan as one of the boldest and most thorough in the state.

Plaster points out that currently the Upland School District leases storage facilities in Ontario, and he believes that this practice is expensive and wasteful.

"We're spending $11,721 currently for lease facilities," Plaster says. "I think that's really poor business management."

He wants the board to purchase property in Upland and to build on it administrative headquarters, food storage facilities, an instructional materials center, and a speech services center.

He also believes that the board should acquire property north of Foothill Boulevard for future schools. The population growth north of Foothill in recent years has made it obvious, Plaster says, that more schools are going to be needed in that region.

Plaster argues that future school sites should be chosen in such a way as to prevent the development of racial segregation on a de facto basis in Upland.

Prof sees a self-supporting, less-troubled China ahead

The new China which has emerged in the last 25 years should become self-supporting in the foreseeable future, barring catastrophic natural diseases.

So stated Dr. John Jang, a La Verne College professor, in a discussion of old and new China before the Pomona Rotary Club on Tuesday in the Elks Lodge.

Since 1949 continental China has overcome most of its problems of hunger, poverty, disease, corruption, and prostitution no longer exists, Jang declared.

On his last visit to his homeland, he said, he did not find a single hungry looking person, and that "in itself is a major achievement."

Jang said that his prediction of a self-sustaining China is predicated on the fact that the nation has been able to control the growth of population, that the untapped oil resources will bring new wealth, and that trade exports should surpass imports, creating a higher standard of living. The Chinese people are approaching the time when they will no longer be a problem or fear in the minds of the American people, Jang said.

Water-sewer furor: is the latter purer?

The closer the nation gets to a pollution-free environment, the more it is going to come up against the hard fact that the goal of "zero discharge," as mandated by public law, may be an impossibility.

In the case of water, the Federal Water Pollution Control Act defines pollution as "the manmade or man-induced alteration of the chemical, physical, biological and radiological integrity of water." All discharges that can pass through waste treatment facilities are considered to be pollutants — whether they are toxic or not, whether they are damaging or not or whether they can be assimilated by the environment or not.

This, under stringent interpretation, has been held to include even the waste discharges of home water softeners, which consist primarily of hardness minerals removed from the original water, plus salt, which is used in the recharging process.

In no part of the country have such discharges been shown to be harmful to humans or animals or the environment, claims the Water Quality Association, a trade association of some 3,000 manufacturers, retail dealers and suppliers in the water-conditioning industry.

Yet, it says, under the guise of pollution control, the Environmental Protection Agency has encouraged many states to establish "unreasonably low" limits for salt and mineral solids.

In California, for example, salt has been classified along with pesticides and heavy metals as a toxic material. Consequently, waste effluent standards are often more restrictive than drinking water standards.

Many California communities already prohibit water softening devices in the home that recharge automatically rather than at a central location and are only a step away from complete prohibition.

For the consumer, says the association, such prohibitions result in improved sewage but poorer quality water in the home.

Actually, it argues, softened water helps to conserve natural resources and to control environmental pollution by substantially reducing the amount of soaps, detergents, phosphates and other cleaning wastes which enter our lakes and streams.

There is a great need for a more realistic philosophy in environmental standards, says the association. The concept that "the purest is the best" is often fallacious.

At the least, it would seem to be going beyond the idea of a clean environment if we were to come up with higher quality water at the sewage plant at the expense of the water we drink or use to wash our clothes.

Government's growing cost

Americans paid an average of $55 a person more in taxes to state and local governments in 1973 than they did in 1972. The total average came to $577, reports Commerce Clearing House.

The per capita share of state and local taxes went up in every state, ranging from a low of $342 in Arkansas to a high of $894 in New York (the first time the $800 level has been passed.)

Only Arkansas was below the $350 level, whereas in the previous fiscal period four states were.

Interestingly enough, the total state tax take (not local) decreased by $500 million last year. It was the first decrease in recent history, says the Tax Foundation. And the net result of tax legislation in 27 states this year is another over-all reduction.

Specifically, taxpayers in 14 states will benefit from tax cuts amounting to $685 million on an annual basis. Nine other states have increased taxes by $335 million, making for a new state tax reduction—so far—of $350 million.

As good, as bad

"Human nature will not change. In any future great national trial, compared with the men of this, we shall have as weak and as strong, as silly and as wise, as bad and as good."

That is not, of course, a quote from some current philosopher viewing the moral, political, legal maelstrom of Watergate.

It was spoken 110 years ago, on November 10, 1864, by President Abraham Lincoln. His maelstrom was the era of the Civil War. He had to contend with the weak and the strong, the silly and the wise, the good and the bad. He saw malfeasance in office. And he knew that we are a very imperfect species.

But he also had faith in our ability as a nation to persevere; to rise, and if we fall back to rise again, ever closer to the plateau of rightness our Creator intended us to reach.

Thought for today

Again Jesus spoke to them, saying, "I am the light of the world; he who follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life." — John 8:12

School financing needs overhaul

Revenue-limit increase elections were soundly defeated by voters in La Verne, San Dimas and Pomona on Nov. 5. Propositions "T" and "QQ" failed in spite of fine citizen leadership and involvement in both Bonita and Pomona. Naturally, all closely associated with the schools and the elections are disappointed.

Yet, I want to call voter attention to the fact that not all revenue-limit increase elections in Los Angeles County failed. Beverly Hills, La Canada and Santa Monica were successful. (Bonita, Downey, Inglewood, Pomona and Torrance were unsuccessful.) What do the winners have in common? They are already near the top or well above the average of the 43 unified districts in the county in income and expenditures. In other words, as the saying goes, "the rich get richer and the poor get poorer."

Let's take Beverly Hills as an example. They have a revenue limit (a guaranteed income from the state) of $2,002 per child this year. They voted to increase that limit $200 next year—in addition to the inflation allowance granted by the state. Thus, they will receive approximately $2,280 per pupil to operate their schools next year. Bonita and Pomona will have less than $1,000. Yet, the Beverly Hills tax rate increase will be only 30c; and they already pay far less than our taxpayers do. A similar $200 increase would cost La Verne, San Dimas or Pomona residents over $2.00 per $100 of assessed valuation. In other words, the present method of supporting schools allows Beverly Hills to raise over six times as much income with a 1c tax increase than we could in our area. It's small wonder that they can pass the elections and we can't. (Santa Monica's $217 increase cost them only 66c—slightly more than Bonita's $60 would have cost.)

I urge each reader to write to Gov.-elect Brown and to his state senator and assemblyman to demand a change in this inequitable system of funding public education. Does anyone honestly believe that a Beverly Hills pupil is worth more than twice as much as a Bonita or Pomona pupil? Of course not! Yet, that's what the dollars and the system are saying. The method of financing simply must be changed.

Yet, realistically, we know that such a reform will take at least another year. Therefore, we'll probably be coming back to the voters in March asking for an increase in income; and most of the neighboring districts will probably be forced to do the same. The six percent inflation allowance limit imposed by the state cannot support even existing programs, much less allow for program expansion. It isn't a question of "catching" Beverly Hills; that is obviously out of the question. It's merely a question of surviving in a period of 12 per cent to 15 per cent inflation—pending tax reform.

We wish to express our appreciation to all who supported our recent losing election effort and our understanding to those who felt they couldn't. However, we urge every reader to join forces to bring about corrective legislation in the system of school finance. Let's do it now! — James T. Johnson Jr., superintendent, Bonita School District.

Congressman-elect may not be seated

WASHINGTON — In the first such case since the late Adam Clayton Powell was unseated in 1967, a certified Congressman may be barred from the House.

He is George Hansen, an Idaho Republican, who served two terms in the House during the mid-60s and has been elected again to his old seat.

Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, the formidable House Administration chairman, will ask Hansen to stand aside until criminal charges against him are resolved.

This means he won't be sworn in with his colleagues next January. If the charges against him stand up, he may never be permitted to take his seat.

Federal auditors have turned up at least 30 apparent violations of the campaign laws by Hansen. These include the acceptance of 21 illegal corporate checks, the filing of late and inaccurate disclosure reports, the use of six secret cash accounts for his campaign and the funneling of money into his primary campaign through an unreported committee.

So serious are the charges that Hays has written two letters to the Justice Department about the case. His committee wrote the campaign law and investigated the Hansen campaign.

Yet Justice Department sources tell us that, despite overwhelming evidence, the federal prosecutors have no plans to act on the case. Indeed, the Hansen case, although the most serious, isn't the only one which the Justice Department is sitting on.

Under the campaign spending law, the Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate are supposed to refer suspected violations to the Justice Department.

When the law was enacted in 1971, there was skepticism that the House Clerk and Senate Secretary, who are under the control of Congress, would ever be able to police Congress.

In fact, they have done a scrupulous, nonpartisan job of administering the law. More than 10,000 alleged violations, including about 1,800 this year, have been sent to the Justice Department for action.

Yet, with the exception of cases developed by the special Watergate prosecutors, the Justice Department has brought only seven cases to trial. Another 30 to 40 prosecutions have been pressed in recent years under another 1925 law. This amounts to massive failure to enforce the campaign laws.

FOOTNOTE: We were unable to reach Hansen, but a spokesman declined to comment on the case. He said Hansen expected to be sworn in along with the rest of the House in January.

A Justice Department spokesman emphasized that most of the alleged violations submitted for prosecution were minor infractions, such as late or incomplete filings. Most of these errors, he said, have been cleared up when the department asked for an explanation. "We're doing one hell of a good job enforcing the law," he insisted.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Pentagon delegates to the International Military Sports Council in Zaire, held during the Ali-Foreman fight, missed the championship match. The taxpayers paid air fares and some other expenses for the six U.S. military representatives. But at $105 to $260 per ticket, the Americans sat out the fight while richer foreign colleagues attended . . . The Federal Office of Education has alarmed employes in its zeal to purge its rats. Paper saucers of rat poison were laid out around the desks. When employes complained that the oatmeal-like poison might be eaten by visiting children, a memo was sent around spelling out the antidote.

Polishing the fruits of liberty

Les R. Gee was busily waxing his car when the poll taker came around taking a survey on voter participation.

"Excuse me sir," the pollster said. "but we're conducting a study of voting behavior. Did you vote in last week's election?"

"All right, son," Gee said, "but this is mighty important work I'm doing here. I spend a lot of time on this old buggy and you've got to admit she shows it, right? So I hope this isn't going to take too long, because I've got to polish my valve lifters."

"Well, first of all, sir, did you vote?"

"Not exactly."

"Not exactly?"

"That is to say," Gee said, grunting with effort as he buffed, "I thought about voting but I didn't quite ever get around to it. There were the leaves to be raked and the garage to be painted and snacks to be eaten, you know, and I didn't really care that much about it, anyway."

"Why was that, if I may ask?"

"You know how it is, son. What's the difference between Whatshisname and Whatserface, anyhow? You ever know a politician who wasn't out to swindle the public and make himself rich? No, sir, they aren't going to trick me into voting for them."

"How would they be tricking you?"

"Look, if I vote, then I'm responsible for what happens, aren't I? This way, no matter who gets in, I didn't have anything to do with it and nobody can blame me when things start going down the drain."

"Well how did you feel about the issues?"

"The issues?" Gee said, beginning to buff his undercoating. "I try to never let the issues stand in the way of my thinking. The candidates get up there and say they're for this or against that and what does it all mean? How can you tell who's telling the truth?

"I say the best way to vote if you have to vote is to pick the one who looks less like a crook. I say you can always tell how honest someone is from looking at their face. Why bother to go reading all those position papers and junk? I know a crook when I see one."

"That's interesting," the poll-taker said. "Don't you feel a little uninvolved in the governing of your city and country, though?"

"What do you mean, uninvolved?" Gee asked as he began to spit polish his tires. "I coach the Little League, I donate to the United Fund, I watch Walter Cronkite. I'm your basic good citizen."

"But what if, for instance, people got elected and passed laws prohibiting citizens from owning their own cars. How would you feel about that?"

"Now that might be going too far." Gee mumbled. "But then they couldn't do that here. This isn't one of those communistic dictatorship countries, you know."

"Did you know, sir, that many political scientists criticize people who don't vote and say they are not fulfilling their responsibilities?"

"Ah, what do they know?" Gee said, brushing a speck of duct off his exhaust pipe. "If I don't want to vote, I don't have to. It's a free country, isn't it?"

J. K. (DOC) PEIRSOL

Just in jest

Even with all our troubles, never a week passes that someone doesn't come up with one or more marvelous new ideas on how we can solve them with a bit of personal sacrifice. The U.S. Environmental Agency gets credit for this week's goodie. —"If parking spaces in our larger cities were reduced," that Agency points out, "auto use would be reduced and consequently air quality would be improved." —

Running the U.S. Environmental Agency a close second, however, is, the manufacturer of an electronic dimmer that sells for $5. In his sales pitch he states that if his dimmers were put on all the lights in the United States and those lights were kept dimmed down by 10 per cent, it would save 100 million barrels of oil a year.

And while we are on the subject of personal sacrifice as a patriotic way to combat inflation, let's not overlook the suggestion of still another government expert who states: Americans could easily make ends meet if they would only cut utility costs by shutting off their air conditioners, washers, dryers, TV sets, hot water heaters, electric can openers, hair dryers, clocks, toasters, radios, razors, blenders, stereos, and by putting a block of ice in their electric refrigerators.

Personally, however,I much prefer the suggestion of our President who says it might be possible to lick inflation by recycling the contents of America's trash cans.

TOM TIEDE

Army in search of its general

DOVER, Del. — Edgar Coleman, Ellen Ray and the custodian at The Presbyterian Church were among the millions of eligible Americans who did not vote. For shame? Maybe.

Ray and the custodian, at least, must be censured. Mencken would have classified them Boobus Americanus. She says she did not vote because her hair was "a mess" and she thus feared being seen in public; he says he snubbed the polls because "Nine years ago I was promised a job on the highway department — I didn't get it and I ain't had anything to do with the government since."

But Coleman is something else. And he may represent millions of other nonvoting Americans who may be something else. He, a recently discharged GI, 22 years old, did not vote, did not even register to vote, because he wants no part of traditional politics; "I don't like the Republicans, I don't like the Democrats, so what else is there? Nobody in politics represents my point of view."

His logic may have flaws but his conclusion is one increasingly heard today. Many citizens in particular younger ones, feel the political system overlooks them if they do not conform to the Republican or Democratic molds, or for that matter the liberal or the conservative or the trade union or the civil rights line. Thus isolated, many are apathetic.

"Usually," says Coleman, "all the voter has to choose between is a pair of party or ideologic.

What Coleman considers as more would be "somebody who speaks to the real majority in this country." That is to say to the moderate independents, the men and women who are neither zealously right or left, elephant or donkey. These are not eunuchs, Coleman insists, rather people who consider each political or social question on its merits rather than its affiliations. "Let me tell you, if somebody came along to appeal to these people, who could truly represent their thinking, he could win any election, even the presidency.

He has a good point. And although there is no sign the traditionalist politicos will recognize it, a growing number of concerned political observers already do. Among the latter is Jack Conway, president of the Washington-based citizen action group known as Common Cause; he believes the day of the exclusive two-party system is passing, that the Republicans and Democratic organizations have reduced themselves to mere "fund raisers and candidate choosers," that a political vacuum is forming which must be filled.

"Look at the statistics," Conway says. "The last Gallup poll on voter identification indicates that only 19 per cent of the people identify with the Republicans, only 37 per cent identify with the Democrats — and 44 per cent are undecided. These undecided, or independents, are a whole new group that nobody talks to and everybody ignores. They can't be ignored for long. There's a lot of power there."

The power, however, if it is to be harnessed, will not be done so on the cheap. Conway does not believe the apathetic independents can be mobilized by extremism, such as a George Wallace bid, nor by intellectualism, such as that being offered in Gene McCarthy's infant third party movement. "My feeling," says Conway, "is the bulk of these independents are in the center of the political spectrum. I think they are looking for common sense leadership."

If so there is a danger the independent ranks will never march to the polls, common sense being a long dead casualty of American political action. Yet there is always the hope. Non-voter Edgar Coleman, for one, says he is thinking of putting an ad in the newspapers:

"Wanted, leaders for apathetic Americans. Must be able to talk and think straight. Enthusiasm required. Experience not necessary, in fact may be detrimental. Apply now for 1976 vacancies. An equal opportunity employer."

Other causes push up cost of pop with artificial sugar

I have been wondering ever since the question was put to me, why has the price of artificially sweetened soda gone up along with the price of sugar-sweetened drinks?

Are we, the unsuspecting buying public, being duped again?

We asked the Coca-Cola Co. to answer your question.

Frank Bean, manager of the company's corporate services group, explained that Coca-Cola USA, the soft drink division of the firm, manufactures syrups and concentrates which are sold to franchised bottlers.

"Generally, a major increase or decrease in the price of an ingredient would be reflected in our prices to some extent, since ingredients costs are a part, but only one part, of our cost of doing business," he said.

Bottlers' costs, on the other hand, include not only ingredients, but bottles, cans, labels, cartons, equipment, labor, trucks, gasoline, taxes, etc.

Each bottler establishes the price he charges his retailers. The retail store also does its own pricing.

Unless there is a substantial differential in the wholesale price, the store will often set the same price for an entire line of products, according to Bean, to eliminate confusion at the check-out counter and to permit the customer to "mix or match."

If the cost of sugar continues to increase substantially for a prolonged period, Bean said, it may become more and more important in pricing decisions.

"We understand that in a few areas the retail price of sugar-free drinks is less than other soft drinks at the present time," he added, "and this decision depends on local conditions and the effect of inflation."

If this answer doesn't sweeten your outlook our advice is to keep right on complaining—to store managers, company offices, consumer agencies, legislators and anyone else who will listen.

I am writing regarding my disability check from the Social Security Administration.

When my check did not come on Sept. 3 I called the local Social Security office the following day. I was told that a form would be sent for me to fill out but that I should not mail it before Sept. 6 after the incoming mail arrived.

I waited until Sept. 10 and called again. I was told that the form couldn't be mailed to the disability insurance office until Sept. 12.

I said my need was urgent as my disability check is my only income. My wife can't work either.

The woman I was talking to at the local office spoke to her Supervisor and then said the necessary information would be wired to the disability insurance office.

I still haven't got that check although my Oct. 3 check arrived on time.—R.D., Chino

After we talked with a local office and wrote two letters to the U.S. Treasury Department, you finally got your check. It was about two months overdue.

You sent us a note of thanks.

ANN LANDERS

Crybaby may not be responsible, but he sure knows phone company

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can parents do about a 27-year-old son who comes home from the service, discovers his wife has fallen in love with another man, refuses to accept the realities of the situation, and decides to do everything and anything to get her back?

What he did first was to call her long-distance on OUR phone every night for three weeks. (We live in Miami. She went to her mother's in Seattle.) The bill came to over $500.

When my husband and I saw it, we almost had a double case of heart failure. His father handed him the bill and said, "We can't afford to pay this." He handed the bill back and replied, "That's too bad. I bet you'll find the money somehow when they tell you they are disconnecting your telephone."

Two days later he left for Seattle. In the meantime, the phone company is writing and calling us and we think it's lousy. After all, we aren't to blame for the crazy behavior of a 27-year-old crybaby. All we did was give him room and board. Any suggestions?—Broke and Burning

Dear B and B.: Sorry, but if the crybaby made the calls on your phone, you are responsible for the bill. Moreover, he is right when he says if you don't pay it the phone company will discontinue the service. (P.S. Who rasied that vegetable?)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You reprinted a piece by another writer called, "The Great Automobile Repair Rip-Off." It was an insult to the thousands of ethical, hard-working men and women in the auto-repair industry.

Our organization, Independent Garage Owners, is dedicated to consumer protection. Our code of ethics states our pledge to give quality work at fair prices.

Your readers should be informed that the majority of auto-repair shops are out to give top service and make satisfied customers. We can be found in the Yellow Pages under Auto Repairs. Thank you.—Terry Parker, President, I.G.O., Chicago, Illinois

Dear Terry Parker: Ten lashes with an old fuel pipe for Ann Landers. I should not have permitted the clobber to go unchallenged.

Granted, there's plenty of ripping off these days, and the auto-repair people are among the worst offenders, but I know there are many honest people in the business and I should have said so. Thanks for sharpening my points.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few weeks ago you published an essay—"Author Unknown"—sent in by a woman who found it between a baby book and an old road map. It was written by a mother of three explaining why she loved each child "the best."

That "unknown author" happens to be Erma Bombeck. She deserves credit for it.—A Reader of HERS, Too

Dear Reader: I feel like falling on my sword in the city room. Not only is Erma a great writer, but she is a good friend of mine.

I thought I'd read every word Erma ever wrote, but I must have been out of the country when that column appeared. Thanks for letting me know. (P.S. Erma, dear, please write and tell me all is forgiven.)

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-address envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

AT WIT'S END

Not everyone gets an itch to create

By ERMA BOMBECK

You could go for miles through my neighborhood this time of year and never see a human being.

They're all indoors feverishly covering pots with little knots and making banks out of old bleach bottles.

It's no secret to anyone that when God was passing out creativity, he gave me a credit card. I once tried to sketch a free-style flower on some name tags and was accused of desecrating the Polish flag. This year, I was approached by a group of handy persons and asked what I would like to contribute to the bazaar.

"How about $20?" I asked.

"Get serious. We don't want your money. We want your 'free' talent. Do you sew? Paint? Macrame? Needlepoint? Make candles? Embroider? String beads? Decoupage? Cut glass? Knit? Paste? Lick stamps?"

I shook my head twelve times.

"Then we" put you down for an original flower arrangement. You know, something dried in a converted coffee can. No money. Just talent."

The first thing I discovered was that my talent had to be subsidized by a loan from my Christmas fund.

Talent needs gas to run and I had to drive 30 miles to the site of the flowers ($4.08). The rash I contracted picking sumac amounted to $7.60.

The gold spray paint ($1.59). The paint remover to get the gald spray paint off the garage floor ($2.89). The steak to get my husband's mind off the gold spray paint on the garage floor ($5.86.)

The paint for the coffee can (.89). The decals to disguise the coffee can ($3.05).

At the bazaar, I began to look at the items with more respect than ever before. With the price of sugar, the talent for canning preserves had gone up to $2. One pop bottle with a basic value of ten cents was covered with $8 worth of scraps to make a doll. One blue workshirt that probably cost $6 to begin with had another $12 worth of creative talent and yarn in the yoke.

"Doesn't it make you tingle all over seeing all this talent for making something out of nothing?" said the chairman.

"It's more like an itch," I said hastily hiding my own coffee can filled with dried flowers I just bought for $10.

THE DOCTOR COMMENTS

By Lawrence E. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have what my doctor describes as Meniere's disease. It is located in my right ear where I have little or no hearing and I'm always dizzy. There is also a constant buzzing.

Could you give me a little information on this as to what causes it, if there is a cure, and any other information on it as I am very interested. The dizziness is quite severe.

DEAR READER — It's a fairly common problem. Typically it is characterized by buzzing or ringing in the ear or ears, which doctors call tinnitus, with loss of hearing and dizziness.

A group of patients have similar complaints without the hearing loss, and they are called "pseudo-Meniere's disease" meaning false Meniere's disease. Many of these develop the hearing loss later and are then properly classied as Meniere's disease.

Some patients have nausea, vomiting and sensations of fainting with the attacks, then symptoms subside. The severe attacks may last a few minutes or several hours. During the severe attack the illusion of movement that the patient calls dizziness may be so bad that the patient cannot walk.

Either one or both ears can be involved. The hearing loss may precede the other characteristics of the disease. The hearing loss is usually worse during the severe attack. As the attacks recur the hearing gets progressively worse.

The buzzing in the ear may be constant even between severe attacks. Incidentally, this is only one of many causes of ringing in the ears, so I hope everyone who has this symptom will not immediately conclude they have Meniere's disease.

The attacks of dizziness sometimes cease after the hearing is totally lost in the affected ear. Many patients have remissions of the attacks and may go for years without a recurrence of the attacks.

The problem seems to involve the delicate semicircular canals and hearing parts of the ear. It is not a disease of the nerve between the ear and the brain or of any part of the brain.

Just why the delicate ear organ goes berserk isn't known. Some doctors think it is because of an accumulation of excess fluid in the complex structure of the ear. In cases where the hearing has been totally lost removal of the inner ear mechanism has provided relief, demonstrating that the problem is in the ear, not the brain.

Most attacks can be controlled by various medicines the doctor uses to counteract dizziness, including those used to prevent motion sickness. Other measures have also been used, including a low-salt diet with variable results. It is fair to say that no one form of treatment has been a cure-all for all patients with this problem. It is important to have continued checks of your hearing and evaluation of your progress. While your doctor can't be expected to cure your problem, he can give you medicines that will provide a great deal of relief and make it possible for you to get along much better, specifically limiting or preventing disabling attacks.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on losing weight, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Losing Weight" booklet.

L. M. BOYD

'Earmarked' from cow identification

Note it stated in print the word "earmarked" grew out of that frowned-upon practice of turning down the corner of a book page to show where the reading left off. That's not right. British farmers of old notched the ears of their cattle to identify them. That's the origin.

NOTHING MYSTERIOUS about why a giraffe's blood pressure is so high. To be specific, about three and a half times higher than human blood pressure. That's a heavy pumping job the giraffe's heart has, to get the blood all the way up to the head.

TAKES about 45 days for the average child to wear out a pair of shoes. And to confirm what you no doubt suspected, the average boy will wear out a pair 25 per cent faster than the average girl.

SOUND, COLOR

Rare is the citizen who realizes that color came before sound in motion pictures. First color film was "Toll of the Sea" in 1922. "The Jazz Singer" brought out the first full-length sound in 1927.

Q. "WHERE'S the Atlantic Ocean deepest?"

A. In the Puerto Rico trench. At 28,-374 feet.

TO ALLOW a child to walk at too early an age is to encourage bowleggedness. That is the ancient belief of numerous citizens. Horseradish, says psychologist Philip R. Zelazo, or words to that effect. He blames wrong food, mostly. Says early walking is dandy for the muscles.

NEITHER the Irish nor the New Zealanders are generally regarded as prone to obesity. However, both eat more calories than average citizens elsewhere.

FILTHY LUCRE

Microscopic examination of coins and currency proves such lucre is filthy. What, you know that? But do you know exactly how filthy? Drs. Berel L. Abrams and Norton G. Waterman of the University of Louisville School of Medicine undertook this study. And 13 per cent of the metal money and 42 per cent of the bills they tested proved to be germy. Very germy. They recommend we do business henceforth with $100 bills only. Such aren't handled so much. How true.

DO YOU BELIEVE the wife should have the final say so in the naming of the offspring? Mrs. Walt Disney thought so, evidently. The record shows it was she who changed the name of Mortimer Mouse to Mickey.

Barbs

Calling a spade an implement for manually digging an aperature in the earth's upper crust makes you a natural candidate for a government speech writer.

Penny-pinchers are a nuisance, says a girl we know of the same name.

Astrographs

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, Nov. 14

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try not to skip over a problem, thinking it will take care of itself later on. It won't.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Avoid friends for the present who are able to spend beyond your budget. It will exhaust your purse just trying to keep up with them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Make an extra effort to be as practical as possible in making major decisions. You tend to take more for granted than is wise.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you've performed a task that you're especially proud of, let someone else beat the drum. Boasting about it will turn your listener off.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't gamble on things sight-unseen. For the next few days you're not too lucky with situations over which you don't have direct control.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be sensible regarding things you want to get for the home and family. If you can't afford them now, wait a bit till you can.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll be tempted to give another expert directions on how to do something you know little about. It will cause a problem if you do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're a shade too liberal and loose with your assets. Later, you'll wonder why your funds haven't stretched as far as you anticipated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try not to jump into situations today unless you know for sure just how deep they are. Your impulsiveness will get you in over your head.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're likely to jump to conclusions before the facts are in. Wait till you're sure you have all the information you need before cting.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) One you always go out of your way to do things for but who seldom recriprocates will get to you for something again today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's a lot of opportunity about you at this time but you tend to take things for granted. You don't make of them what you should.

Your Birthday, Nov. 14

Unusual conditions will develop this year that could be of profit to you, if handled prudently. Try to see how much you can save, not spend.

About this and that

Folding fans in England in the 18th century were embellished with love scenes to commemorate weddings. They were made fashionable by the elaborate fan carried by Princess Anne, daughter of King George II, when she married William, Prince of Orange, in 1734. The wedding inspired a popular fan inscribed "To the Lovely She Who has more than 80,000 Charms," referring to the Princess's dowry of 80,000 pounds.

Q. "CAN TWO PEOPLE HAVE THE SAME FINGERPRINTS?"

NO TWO FINGERPRINTS HAVE AS YET BEEN FOUND TO BE EXACTLY ALIKE. THE CHANCES OF TWO PEOPLE HAVING THE SAME FINGER PRINTS ARE ABOUT 1 IN 24 MILLION!

JOHNNY WONDER'S PUZZLE BOOK: 60 pages of fun and games. Order your book now. Send $1.25 to Puzzle Book, (c/o this newspaper), P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

If you press your finger on an ink pad and then onto a piece of paper, you will have a "fingerprint" that no one else in the world can make!

This fact seems even more amazing when we learn that from the day of birth to the day of death our fingerprints do not change, unless by injury.

If you look at your fingertips, you'll see a series of ridges.

Each finger has its own uninque pattern or fingerprint.

Fingerprint experts tell us that the chances of two people having the same fingerprints are about 1 in 24 million.

Because no two fingerprints have as yet been found to be exactly alike, they are a foolproof means of identification.

The FBI and other law enforcement agencies keep millions of fingerprints on file to identify people.

Many hospitals take palm and footprints of newborn babies. Then the babies cannot get mixed up.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Barbershop show slated at Citrus

The West Covina chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will present "Just Plain Barbershop" in the Citrus College auditorium at 8:07 p.m. Saturday.

This is the chapter's ninth annual show. Don Clarke directs the Chorus of the Foothills.

Also taking part in the show will be the quartets RSVP from the Riverside chapter; Notes of Interest, Simi Valley chapter; Country Gentlemen, West Covina and Arcadia chapters; Royal Coachmen, West Covina chapter; Touch of Class, Pomona and West Covina chapters, and the Royal Stewart Singers of Glendora High School.

Tickets are $3.

A DOG'S LIFE — Johanna Meier will sing the role of Rosalinda in the New York City Opera production of "Die Fiedermaus" at the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8 p.m. Saturday. The company opens its eighth Los Angeles season tonight with a presentation of Puccini's "Tosca," with Birgit Nilsson.

Yul Brynner returns to acting on stage

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Yul Brynner is headed back to the theater 23 years after "The King and I" and his hairless pate brought him to public notice.

Since then, it has been one motion picture after another for the star, who has been one of the top cinema wage-earners for years.

Brynner is scheduled to play the leading role in a musical adaptation of "The Odyssey" that will open the second half of the season at the John F. Kennedy Center in Washington at the turn of the year.

The musical is a major enterprise as can be seen from the persons involved in it besides Brynner. The book and lyrics are by Erich Segal, whose "Love Story" novel, and its subsequent movie version, were sensational successes only a few seasons ago.

Early music group seeking new singers

The Collegium, early music group at the Claremont Colleges, is looking for additional sopranos and male voices.

The chorus is open to everyone in the community interested in singing music from the early repertoire. The Collegium is now working on a program of English Renaissance music, both instrumental and vocal. In the spring the group will turn to Baroque music and will present a cantata with soloists and orchestra.

The Collegium meets at the Scripps College Music Department Monday evenings. Further information can be obtained from the Music Department of Claremont Graduate School, 626-8511, Ext. 3694.

TODAY'S Women

Martin and Mitchell vows are exchanged

MRS. BRADLEY T. MARTIN

In an afternoon ceremony at Hillcrest Church, Whittier, Miss Jacqueline K. Mitchell of Fullerton became the bride of Bradley T. Martin of Claremont.

The Rev. Ed Bloomfield performed the double-ring ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Mitchell of Spokane, Wash., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent F. Martin of Claremont.

The bride wore a gown of organza over satin trimmed with lace. The princess-style lines were enhanced with a high neckline and long sleeves. A deep organza ruffle edged the floor-length skirt.

Mrs. Bruce Hanson was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Douglass Faist, Mrs. Anthny Esser and Miss Cody Stuplich.

Mrs. Warren Loomis, the soloist, was accompanied by Joe Booth.

Steven Barwick was best man. Ushers were James Herkelrath, Douglas Faist and Joe Booth.

A reception at Barwick Hall of the church feted the newlyweds. Special guests included the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Reid, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

After a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe, Mr. and Mrs. Martin will make their home in Fullerton.

Pen Women set meeting Thursday

Claremont Branch of the National League of American Pen Women will be guests of Dr. Helen Walker and Miss Marie Russ, 926 W. Harrison Ave., Claremont, at 2:30 p.m.

Members are asked to bring short pieces of work, such as a poem, opening paragraph of a story or essay, or outline of an article for appraisal by the group. Musicians and artists may present anything of their choosing.

Garman, Holmes rites read

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Curtis N. Holmes of Pomona of the marriage of their daughter, Marie Louise, to Larry C. Garman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Garman of Pomona.

The evening wedding was read at St. Madeleine Catholic Church with the Rev. James Sartoris reading the service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown fashioned with an empire waist, A-line skirt and bishop sleeves edged in lace. A satin train was attached to the paneled skirt. Her headpiece held a two-tier, cathedral-length veil and she carried a cascade of white carnations with red roses and baby's breath.

Miss Karen Miller was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Marcia Holmes, Miss Lee Ann Shank and Miss Vickie Mosier.

Paul Flatfelter was the best man and ushers were Mark Holmes, Randy Savage and Robert Wallace.

Following a reception at the American Legion Hall, the couple left on a trip along the coast and to Lake Tahoe. They are residing in Pomona.

Pickus, Hyman troth told

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pickus of Playa del Rey announce the engagement of their daughter, Leone C., to Bradley C. Hyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hyman of Pomona.

The bride-elect received a B.A. degree in mathematics in June from the University of California at San Diego. She is employed at Hughes Aircraft as manufacture control analyst.

Mr. Hyman received a B.A. in biology in June from UCSD and is working towards a doctorage in cell biology at UCLA.

Brochures available on cancer

With the sudden and intense interest in the subject of breast cancer among women, Glendora Community Hospital is making an excellent educational pamphlet on the subject available to the public.

In cooperation with Blue Cross of Southern California the hospital has available 500 pamphlets entitled "Why Me?" The material was prepared by television station KNXT (Channel 2) in cooperation with the American Cancer Society. It is a summarization of the station's special program on the incidence of breast cancer in women.

Interested organizations and individuals may contact Jim Arkison, hospital public relations director, 213-335-0231, for the brochure or others on emergency preparedness, blood pressure and heart attack information.

Too much bulk

The new fur-trimmed bulky sweaters should not be worn by those who have short, stout figures. Select a more flattering long-line sweater.

Pfeiffer and Morgan vows are exchanged

Miss Denise Leslie Morgan and Paul Albert Pfeiffer II were united in marriage in an afternoon ceremony at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church in Claremont.

Officiant for the double-ring rites was the Rev. Neil O'Dwyer.

MRS. PAUL A. PFEIFFER II

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin W. Morgan of Pomona was given in marriage by her father. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Pfeiffer of Claremont.

The bride's gown of polyester organza was edged in embroidered flowers with ruffles at the wrists of the long sleeves. Tiny seed pearls accented the collar and v-neckline. A cluster of embroidered flowers held the bride's sheer, fingertip-length veil.

White roses and carnations, accented with blue forget-me-nots, were arranged in the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Elaine Parham was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Christine Lopez, Miss Laurie Spindler and Miss Cheri Morgan.

The groom's brother, Darrell Pfeiffer, was best man. Ushers were Jeffery Pfeiffer, brother of the groom, Mark Morgan, brother of the bride, and Gary Hurlburt.

Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer have returned from a honeymoon in Las Vegas and are residing in Montclair.

JANICE SOBIESKI

A December wedding is being planned by Miss Janice Cecilia Sobieski and Duane Odell Griffin.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Sobieski of Pomona is a Ganesha High School graduate. She is a receptionist at Churchman's Center of Pomona..

Mr. Griffin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Deltus Griffin of Pomona. He graduated from Ganesha High School and is employed by Market Basket as a grocery clerk.

Toe tips

Toes are more sensitive and infection-prone than fingers. Never cut toe cuticles or use sharp instruments to push them back but trim toenails once a week to avoid long nails and other problems which develop from neglect.

St. Joseph Church setting for nuptials

The Rev. Norman Priebe performed the marriage rites for Miss Sharon Mae O'Rourke and Charles Edward Even in St. Joseph Catholic Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Rourke of Pomona was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a gown of lace, trimmed with seed pearls. It was designed with an attached capelet and long sleeves. Her three-tiered, chapel-length mantilla was of chantilly lace.

Miss Diane Robert was maid of honor. The groom's sister, Miss Liz Even, was bridesmaid.

Susie Mariano, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Bobby Marino was ring bearer.

Don Even was best man for his brother. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Even of Pomona. Danny O'Rourke, brother of the bride, was the usher.

After a honeymoon in Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. Even are making their home in Pomona.

One purpose of the demographic survey which Plaster wants taken is to identify trends in the ethnic composition of the city. One way to avoid racial troubles, Plaster asserts, is to avoid a pattern of school construction which reinforces racial isolation.

The school superintendent believes that the board will have to act soon to provide the community with another junior high school. The two existing junior high schools, Pioneer and Upland, are rapidly approaching capacity, although neither of them is yet filled to capacity.

Pioneer Junior High has a capacity of 900 students and an enrollment of 815. Upland Junior High School has a capacity of 850 and an enrollment of 715.

The junior high schools, under Plaster's long-range plan, will be expanded from their present two grade levels to three grade levels.

Plaster would like to see preschool for 4-year-olds established as an equivalent for the existing kindergarten program, with kindergarten becoming the equivalent of first grade. Sixth grade, the last year in the elementary program, would then be detached from the elementary level and added to the junior high program.

Plaster says that this innovation has been made possible by the increasing sophistication of educational programs in the early grades. Teachers have found that 4-year-olds can benefit from kindergarten program, and 5-year-olds who have had preschool training are ready for first-grade education, he believes.

Another feature in Plaster's master plan for education in Upland is something he calls "a learning resource service system." This system, as the superintendent explains it, is essentially an enlargement on the library system in the schools, and it will include a media program directed by specialists in communications.

Plaster would like to see 2,000 square feet devoted to the learning resource service system in each school. He would like the board to begin looking for specialists who are trained to be school librarians and have additional media competence.

"We haven't really taken a hard look at the kinds of materials we make available to kids," Plaster points out, noting that most of the books in the schools' libraries are donated to the system secondhand and are not systematically acquired to support the educational program in the schools.

Plaster would like to see classroom instruction further supplemented with films and other research materials.

"The scope of the textbook as it is used today is completely outdated," he argues.

Plaster says that he has been working on the educational master plan for six months, and he has done most of the planning himself.

After receiving his teaching credentials, Plaster taught in the Los Angeles area, then for two years he traveled about the country on a Ford Foundation grant.

The foundation grant paid for a study of primary education programs and rural education in the United States. After completing the study, Plaster went to UCLA as a lecturer in education and as a clinical educationalist. He then became assistant superintendent of schools in Santa Barbara.

Candidate in race as peanut

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — Artist Vincent Trasov, dressed as a peanut, has entered Vancouver's Nov. 20 mayoralty race on the Peanut Party line. His campaign plans include singing and dancing at rallies with Myrna Peanut and the Peanettes.

"I'm sure people are as ready for one nut as they are for the next," Trasov said.

Also on the Vancouver election scene, Jim Land, who lists his occupation as "gentleman," has announced he is running for town fool.

There is no provision for voting for town fool, but Land has urged voters to mark an X on the backs of their ballots to show support for such an office.

"It would be an office anyone could run for," Land said. "Then Mr. Peanut wouldn't have to waste his time running for mayor."

By WARREN L. NELSON

WASHINGTON (UPI —A little noticed debate has been mounting daily over whether Russia is violating the agreements it reached with the United States in the 1972 Strategic Arms Limitations Talks.

Rumors of Soviet violations have been circulating in Washington for a month.

One report said the Russians built up to 200 new ICBM silos which would put them more than 100 missiles above the ceiling of 1,618 provided in the 1972 pact.

Last week Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., said there was "mounting evidence" the Soviets were trying to conceal some of their construction from American spy satellites —in itself a violation of the SALT pact.

The Pentagon has backed away from the charges, referring newsmen to an Oct. 10 statement by Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff: "I can state categorically that we have no information that the Soviet Union is failing to abide by those agreements."

Then on Oct. 31 Pentagon spokesman William Beecher took the debate one step further saying, "there have been some indications that the Soviets are building some command and control facilities in their silo fields."

That would not be a violation of the SALT agreements.

Finally Wednesday the Pentagon said silos could be used for ICBMs, for shorter range missiles or for launch control equipment.

Then it added in a written statement, "in the early construction phases it is sometimes difficult to determine the purpose to which a silo is to be put when completed."

That had the effect of downgrading Brown's categorical denial of a Russian violation since the silos wouldn't be a violation when under construction although they would be if ICBMs were installed in them later.

Pentagon sources said there is considerable debate within intelligence circles over the purposes of the construction.

Some officials suspect the new holes will house new ICBMs. Others think it is innocent work on command centers.

The sources said the United States has taken the matter up with the Soviet Union privately and asked for an explanation.

Even if the Soviets are violating the agreements, they would not get a sudden military abililty to overwhelm the United States.

Pentagon officials have frequently said the Russians have no way of finding and destroying all 41 U.S. missile submarines.

Paddles canoe

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Scott Emerich, 27, insurance agent-turned-adventurer, arrived in Kansas City Monday in a kayak he is paddling down the Missouri River.

Emrich started in Omaha, Neb., Oct. 27, and hopes to paddle all the way to Connecticut via the Mississippi River, the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean.

He said that next summer he will attempt to cross the Atlantic to England in his 17-foot homemade kayak.

'Winegate'

French wine scandals ferment new controls

PARIS (UPI) — France is drafting strict new controls to prevent wine dealers from such abuses as putting fancy labels on fermented grape juice doctored to pass for expensive vintages.

Officials have begun work on the measures without waiting for a Bordeaux court to hand down verdicts in the "Winegate" trial, which has cast a shadow over France's wine industry.

The court trying 18 merchants on charges of falsely labeling or doctoring wine completed hearing testimony last week and is expected to hand down its decision Dec. 18.

In Bordeaux, the Association of Géneric Bordeaux Wine Producers has proposed tough controls on dealers, including a "conformity certificate" for bulk wines and stricter labeling rules.

The association says wine bottles should include labels of guarantee and vintners ought to use separate warehouses for ordinary and expensive vintages.

In Brussels, Common Market officials said they are also drawing up "standards and quality control to prevent wine fraud."

The French Agriculture Ministry has hastily signed a new decree limiting the number of wine grapes grown per acre to keep quality high. Grapes from intensively planted land can only be used to make liqeurs.

"These severe restrictions will improve quality and in the long run gain back for France its reputation for fine wines," one American wine critic said. "In the short run, there will be a few lean years especially for Bordeaux."

The "Bordeaux 18" defendents have been accused of using chemicals to upgrade wine illegally and of altering their records in a cover-up.

Acting on a tip, the government fraud squad forced its way into the offices of two defendants, Yvan and Lionel Cruse, last year and claimed to have found 2 million bottles of falsely labeled wine.

One defendant, wine merchant Pierre Bert, said "thousands are guilty." He told newsmen "the best Bordeaux contains Algerian wine" and "the Sauternes also contain Spanish wine."

The trial has also shaken the age-old art of wine tasting. Witnesses testified "when a wine is young you can't tell a Languedoc from a Bordeaux," smashing the mystique of French wine snobs.

Chile junta promises to free 100 prisoners

SANTIAGO (UPI) — The Chilean military government has announced plans to free more than 100 political prisoners, challenging the Soviet Union and Cuba to do the same.

Gen. Raul Benavidez, the junta's interior minister, said Monday night the prisoners would have the option of remaining in Chile or being sent into exile.

Benavidez said the right-wing regime would give the International Red Cross a list of 100 prisoners to be freed. He said more prisoners would be named in the future, but he did not say how many.

Samuel Nalegach, a Protestant clergyman and refugee official, said the 100 names submitted by the junta did not include any major figure in the government of the late President Salvadore Allende.

Several thousand persons were arrested by the junta after a right-wing military coup toppled Allende's Marxist government on Sept. 11, 1973.

The junta has reported arresting 2,000 prisoners since the coup, but reports from critics of the military regime have placed the number as high as 8,000.

Benavidez said the government, in compiling the initial list of 100 names, gave priority to untried persons arrested under state of siege laws.

He said the junta would study the possibility of a "second phase" to free prisoners already sentenced or undergoing trial.

The interior minister denied that pressure from the United Nations forced the junta into releasing the political prisoners.

He described the announcement as "the exercise of our soverign will. There has been no internal or external pressure for this resolution."

The United Nations last week overwhelmingly approved a resolution petitioning Chile to free political prisoners, restore human rights and permit opponents to leave the country.

For the second time in two months, the junta challenged its strongest critics, Cuba and the Soviet Union, to release their political prisoners.

"With this challenge we have the security of showing before the world who are the tyrants who feel no respect for ideological and physical liberty," Benavidez said.

HAPPINESS IS? — Trenton Jones throws a football around with one of his pupils in the land he went to after deciding he wanted "to get away from the big city." This is his one-room school house.

Teacher finds happiness in desolate Big Bend country

By WALTER A. FRERCK

STUDY BUTTE, Tex. (UPI) — Schoolteacher Trenton Jones first saw the desolate, rocky desert of the Big Bend country five years ago, and it was love at first sight.

All he had to do was figure out how to earn a living amid the wilderness that Indian lore said was made from the leftovers of the Earth's creation.

Today, from a one-room schoolhouse in the foothills of the Christmas Mountains, Jones teaches 14 children who make the trek each day to the tar-shingled, tin-roofed public school.

"I wanted to get away from the big city," Jones said as he watched students raise the state and American flags before school. "People thought we were crazy and wouldn't last a month. But after a year, it's better than ever."

Fewer than 100 persons live within the area served by the school.

The 26-year-old Corpus Christi, Tex., native and former San Antonio school teacher said the isolation of the small community has influenced his approach to teaching.

"With no television to watch and radio only at night the kids aren't distracted and they read like crazy," he said.

"When I finish a day with these kids I really feel I have accomplished something. There just isn't the pressure of the big classroom. I have time to work with each kid.

"When I was in San Antonio the classes were all too big. I think it is one of the downfalls of our school system. You just can't reach all of them -there are so many kids."

Study Butte was a quicksilver mining town until the demand for mercury fell during the 1950s.

Now only a few ranches operate in the area, along with several gasoline stations and motels which serve tourists visiting Big Bend National Park. Jones and his wife, Olga, know everyone for miles around.

Whenever it rains Jones pumps water into a storage tank from an arroyo he has dammed up. "If it goes too long between rains we have water trucked in, but that hasn't happened very often."

"You learn to be a jack-of-all-trades out here because there is no one around to come fix things," he said.

When Olga is not working in her garden or helping out afternoons in the school the couple and their 14-month-old daughter, Anna Maria, go into the nearby canyon cauntry to swim in the cool pools of water.

They like the simple life.

"People who come out here run up and down the roads — they can't stay still," he said. "Some are afraid of the isolation, I guess. They are always wondering what we do for entertainment.

"We drive to Alpine, 108 miles away, for groceries once a month and if we really want to do it big and have a night on the town we drive to El Paso. People who live in town get bored, but for us it's a big deal.

"In fact, we're planning to drive to Alpine this weekend, get a motel room and watch television."

Ivan the Ripper

Moscow slaying spree

MOSCOW (UPI) — It took a widespread crime scare to do it, but Moscow's police chief finally resorted to the unthinkable —he went on television to admit his men have failed to catch a killer stalking the Soviet capital.

Police Chief Vadim G. Samokhvalov made a rare television appearance Sunday to tell Muscovites his men are hard at work trying to end a series of muggings and murders in the city.

The chief, in an unusual, American-style, crime announcement, said two women were slain last month during the spate of muggings and police have yet to solve the cases.

The Soviet Union usually suppresses crime news, saying the reports fail to provide ideological messages. But Samokhvalov said he decided to go before the cameras to calm Muscovites worried by word-of-mouth reports of the murders.

The widespread reports, sparked by signs of stepped-up police activity on the streets of the capital, had prompted many Moscow women to stay behind locked doors after sunset.

The police chief blamed foreign correspondents for spreading the rumors about crime in the city and said Soviet citizens had then embellished the reports on their own.

Manson mental condition said much improved

VACAVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — Convicted murderer Charles Manson's mental condition has greatly improved after his seven-month stay at the Vacaville Medical Facility, officials said recently.

Manson, serving a life sentence for the Hollywood murders of actress Sharon Tate and seven others, was transferred back to Folsom Prison Oct. 22.

"He has a better contact with reality now," said Dr. Everly Owens, chief medical officer at Folsom. "He's less depressed and more alert. He communicates much better."

FTC proposes food ad regulations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission has proposed extensive new rules designed to force food advertisers to more clearly inform consumers on the nutritional content of the foods they are marketing.

It may be years before the rules go into effect, but FTC officials said they could eventually affect all forms of food advertising.

J. Thomas Rousch, head of the FTC's bureau of consumer protection, said the proposals should eventually "insure that food advertising is both scrupulously accurate and adequately informative." He said food consumers are "captive consumers. There is no such thing as an option not to buy food.

"Yet these consumers can be seriously misled. And the problem is aggrivated by the fact that the food dollar is shrinking today on an almost across the shelf basis."

The FTC proposal is the second major nutritional step by the government in recent years. The Food and Drug Administration more than two years ago put out rules under which food labels will have to disclose nutritional information.

Under the proposal, any food advertiser, print or broadcast, who voluntarily makes a nutritional claim —such as that a can of vegetables is "loaded with Vitamin A" —must not only be able to prove there is a high percentage of the vitamin but also display in print, or on the TV screen, exactly how much of the nutrient is involved.

Similar requirements would also be imposed on ads that claim the food involved has more of a vitamin than some other food, those which make overall claims for nutrition — such as "orange juice is nutritious" —or foods which claim to be a source of vitamins when they are combined with other foods.

The proposal, as published today, involves only advertising where such claims are made of the advertiser's own volition. A food which is simply touted as tasting good would not be covered.

Husband beat, wife kidnaped

HARBOR CITY (UPI) — Six men dragged a 21-year-old woman and her infant daughter into a car and drove off after beating up her husband and a friend in an alley, police said Sunday.

Police were searching for Josephine Castro and her 12-month-old daughter, Ela.

The woman was walking home with her daughter and husband, Miguel, 27, and a friend, Salvatore Muniz, also 27, when they were reportedly accosted by the men Saturday night

Demo caucus

State group varied

By United Press International

The job of choosing delegates to a national party convention next month has touched off a power struggle among California Democrats but appears to have had the opposite effect in New York state.

Democrats met in district caucuses throughout California Saturday to choose 126 delegates to the convention, which begins in Kansas City Dec. 6, and selected just 124.

Josh Muravchik, 27, a spokesman for the national Coalition for the Democratic Majority, said Democrats fell short of the full figure "because of the madhouse in Congressman (Ronald) Dellum's Berkeley district."

He said "militant feminists, Black Panthers, gays, more moderate Berkeley radicals who would be considered far out in any other district in the country" went through seven ballots and only came up with two of their four winners.""The state Democratic committee will probably fill those two remaining seats," said Muravchik, who is co-ordinator of the national coalition's caucus monitoring force.

Muravchik said a breakdown of delegates to represent California Democrats at the national convention indicates 51 persons "who are rather largely identified with what you might call "new politics' or McGovernites. Forty-four were clearly identified with the mainstream of moderate labor and 18 were what we call 'swing' people—known to go back and forth between the two groups in their political beliefs," Muravchik said.

In New York, meanwhile, Gov.-elect Hugh L. Carey has apparently decided to hold off ousting party chairman Joseph F. Crangle until after the convention.

Upstate elements of the party are resisting the expected switch from Crangle to Patrick J. Cunningham, the Bronx Democratic chairman, because they oppose a further shift of power to New York City.

Carey apparently wants to send a delegation to the Kansas City meeting without the strife and discord any move to stifle opposition to Cunningham might produce.

The Kansas City convention will be the first held by a major political party in a nonpresidential election year. The full-dress convention is aimed at drafting a special constitution for the Democrats, setting out party structure and goals.

Oil profits

Need more for self reliance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Oil company profit increases averaging 65 per cent this year are not enough to pay for development of new energy sources, according to an industry executive.

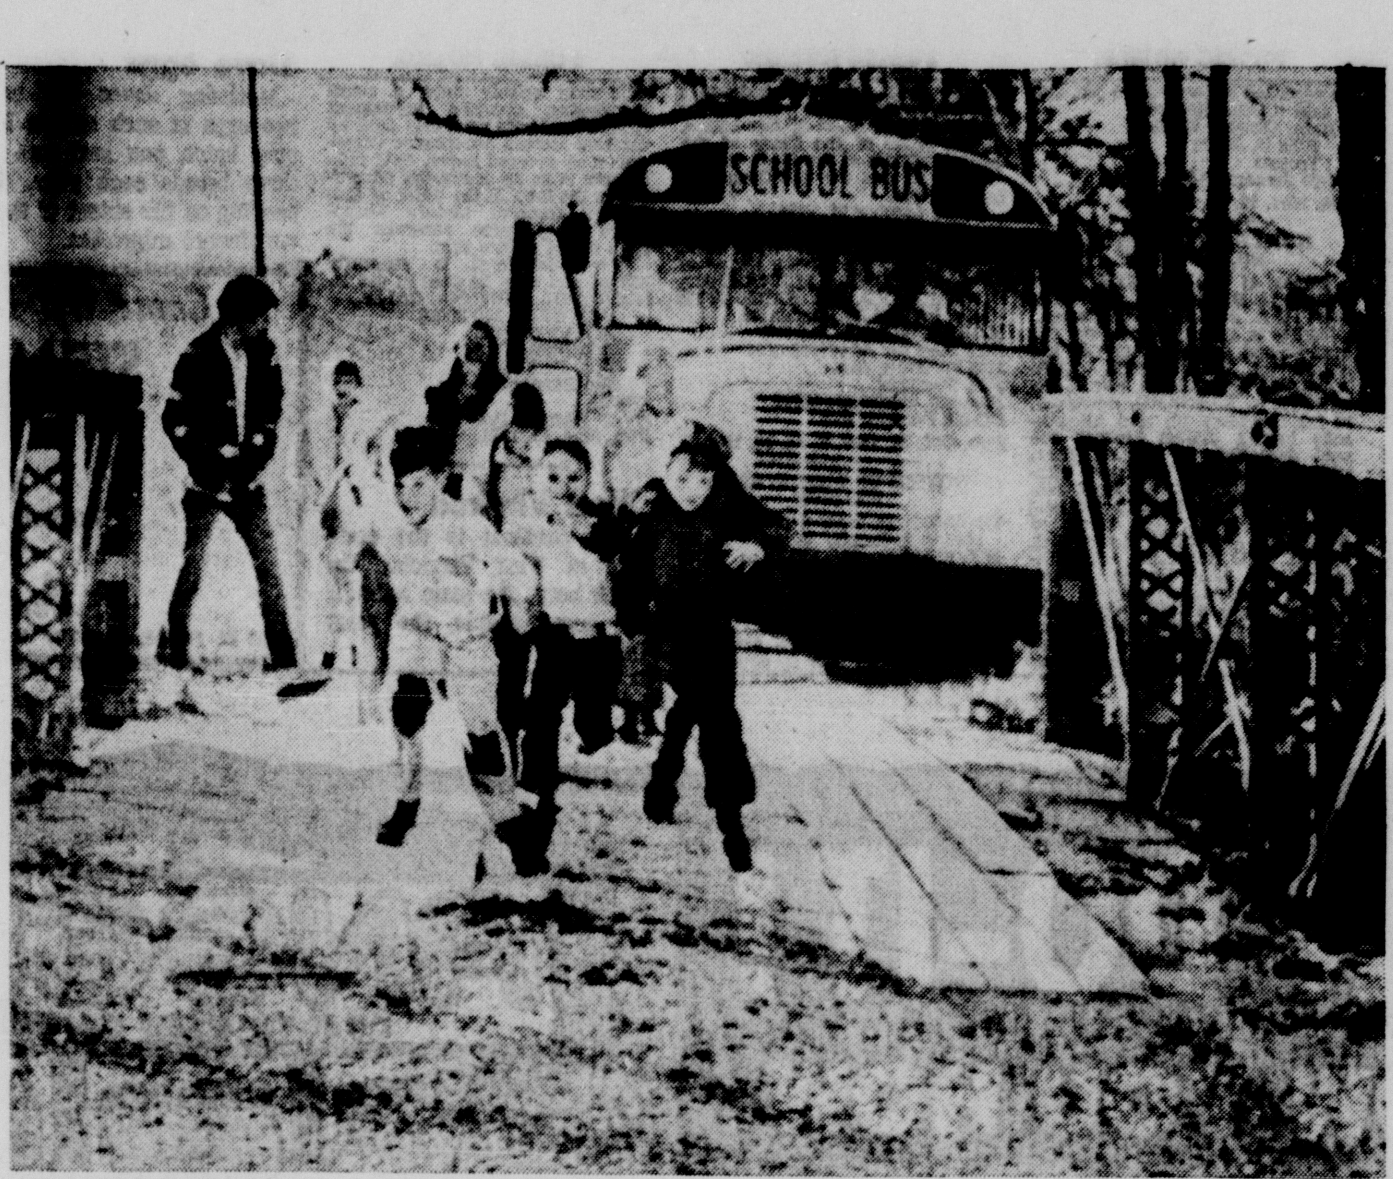
"Inflation hurts us as much as anybody," Kerryn King, a senior vice president of Texaco, said in an interview.

His views were echoed in a statement by the American Petroleum Institute, which said the United States should not hope to become self-sufficient in oil if it is unwilling to pay for it.

"A lot of people wonder what we are going to do with these earnings and the answer is, we need them to get more supplies of oil," King said. "Getting new supplies of petroleum and natural gas is a very expensive proposition."

An API chart shows earnings of the 23 biggest oil companies for the first nine months of this year were sharply higher than the same period last year.

On the average, those companies had 65 per cent bigger profits so far this year than last. Texaco's were up 66.9 per cent in the nine-month period, the chart showed. Texaco's profits of $1.4 billion were second only to Exxon's $2.28 billion.



HOOSIER EXPEDIENCY — School bus from Indiana's Clay County Community Schools stops at bridge built in 1894 and now deemed unsafe for carrying children across. Rather than reroute bus miles out of its way, driver now stops and has children run across and he picks them up on the other side. School board has to reroute 30 of 47 buses because of similar hazards in county.

Despite herbicides, S. Viet soil fertile

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — The soils of Vietnam remain fertile and capable of producing food despite nearly a decade of military herbicide spraying, a Michigan State University scientist said Monday.

Dr. Anton Lang, part of a research team that visited Vietnam between 1971 and 1973 to assess the effects of the herbicides, said experiments on treated soils show they are capable of sustaining growth as soon as six weeks after spraying.

Lang, director of the Michigan State Plant Research Laboratory, said the effects on plant growth are undetectable a year after spraying.

The research team's report was released in February in Washington.

The military spraying operations —the most intensive in history —dumped about 18 million gallons of herbicides on Vietnamese forest and crop lands, covering about 8 per cent of the area of the country.

Lang said 36 per cent of the country's mangroves were almost destroyed along with much of the inland forests.

But he said the overall effects were not as severe as many critics of the spraying claimed.

In the long run, the damage to the forest may eventually be beneficial by allowing the Vietnamese to introduce planned forestry and modern conservation practices, Lang said.

"With careful management, it may be possible to generate greater timeber production than existed prior to spraying," he said. "This could be done provided genuine peace is established and the Vietnamese people receive the support they would need for this task."

'Nice guy' voted MVP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steve Garvey, the Los Angeles Dodgers' "nice guy" first baseman and the only major leaguer this year to collect at least 200 hits and 100 runs-batted-in, today proved the "big stick" is more valuable than the "quick steal" by winning the 1974 National League most valuable player award in a runaway over Lou Brock.

Garvey, who drove in 111 runs for the pennant winning Dodgers, accumulated 270 total points from the Baseball Writers of America (BBWAA) —including 13 first place votes —to outdistance Brock, baseball's all-time stolen base king, by 37 points.

Brock, the St. Louis Cardinals' early favorite for the award after setting an all-time one-season stolen base mark with 118 steals, wound up with eight first place votes and 233 total votes.

The champion Dodgers, not surprisingly, placed three players in the top five with Cy Young Award-winning relief ace Mike Marshall third with 146 points and centerfielder Jimmy Wynn fifth with 137 points. Catcher Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds, the NL runs-batted-in leader with 129, was fourth with 141 points.

Typically, Garvey, considered by many observers as one of baseball's truly "nice guys," shunned most of the credit for the award.

"Any success I've had is directly or indirectly due to other players on the team," the 25 year old Garvey said at a Los Angeles news conference. "The whole season is a culmination of (Dodger manager) Walter Alston's confidence in me. The key to my success is my wife."

Asked as to why he never seemed to lose his temper or criticize others, Garvey, who batted .312 with 200 hits and 21 homers in '74, gave three reasons.

"First," he said, "I have a beautiful life and family, plus I'm blessed with a good organization and finally, I've got good teammates —the other 24 players."

Despite not even being listed on the All Star ballot this season and thus making the team as a "write-in," Garvey rapidly proved himself as one of the most dangerous hitters in the National League. As it was, his two hits, one run scored, one run-batted-in and two outstanding defensive plays earned him MVP of the All Star Game.

The NL MVP award also culminated a true "rags to riches" saga inasmuch as Garvey almost had no future in the game as recently as two years ago when his fielding lapses at third base made him a "man without a position" with the Dodgers.

But the switch to first proved to be the finishing touch in Garvey's boyhood dream back in Tampa, Fla. of someday playing with the Dodgers. In those days, he would ride the Dodgers' team bus (driven by his father) around to the various spring training sites.

Brock, who broke Maury Wills' seemingly unbreakable stolen base mark of 104, was generally considered a shoo-in for the MVP after coupling the record steals with a .306 average and 105 runs scored. The Cardinal speedster evidentally felt so too after abruptly calling and then cancelling a press conference on Tuesday.

Marshall, the Dodgers' "direct contrast" to Garvey as far as press relations are concerned, received one first place vote after his Cy Young award season that included a record 106 appearences and 21 saves with a 15-12 won-lost mark.

Bench, a two-time MVP winner, had 33 homers along with his league-leading 129 rbis, while Wynn, one of baseball's biggest comeback stories of '74, was the only NL outfielder to hit 30 homers (32) and drive in more than 100 runs (108).

"I knew I had a chance," concluded Garvey, "but when you're up against good players like Lou Brock, you never can tell."

Harris has no limits--Knox

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles Rams' coach Chuck Knox, pleased with the play of James Harris, expects his new No. 1 quarterback to get even better.

Harris, who is 4-0 since taking over for John Hadl, threw two touchdown passes in the Rams' 21-0 win over Atlanta Sunday.

"I don't see any limit to what he can do," Knox said Tuesday. "He has the physical equipment, and with the game experience he should be just beginning to get better and better

"I know that James has been around for a few years," Knox continued, "but it's one thing to look at a defense on film and it's another to go out and practice against a dummy defense. But believe me, there's nothing like combat."

Knox said he anticipated problems with the Saints in New Orleans next Sunday, noting that Philadelphia went into New Orleans "sky high" two weeks ago and came away at 14-10 loser.

"If we don't play our game, we'll be in trouble," Knox said.

Bonita, San Dimas unwrapping weapons

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

Pete Lopez of Bonita and Bob Baiz of San Dimas un-wrapped the weapons of psychological warfare Tuesday at the weekly luncheon of coaches and writers at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

Lopez and Baiz rated the other team the favorite Saturday when San Dimas (3-4-1) and Bonita (8-0) meet for the third time in football at Mt. San Antonio College. Kickoff is scheduled for 1 p.m.

"We'll make Bonita the favorite since they have played in the afternoon before," said Baiz.

"Bonita has the best defense in the valley. If they have a weakness we haven't found it yet.

"We're second or third in the valley defensively, even though we've won only three games. Teams haven't been able to score (on us) but neither have we."

San Dimas has a 2-0 edge in the short series with Bonita, and Lopez was quick to point this out.

"I'm sure Bob is ready to face our veer-T offense," said Lopez. "He's coached against it long before they even thought of using it around here."

Bonita claimed the Hacienda League football championship last weekend with a 14-9 victory over Royal Oak.

"We have a fine quarterback (Harold Drake), a fine running back (Brad Frick) and a very fine defense," Lopez added. "We're not very physical but we are quick and aggressive."

"A lot of kids decided they wanted to play ball for Bonita this year and worked hard at it," Lopez said, explaining the team's success this season.

Coaches and writers voted Pomona-Pitzer quarterback Larry Cenotto and Cal Poly defensive tackle Leon Hooker the four-year college offensive and defensive players of the week. Junior college honors went to two MSAC players — kicking specialist Mando Herrera and linebacker Lance Fralick.

Cenotto had another fine week in P-P's 33-22 win over Claremont-Mudd, completing 19 of 29 attempts for 307 yards and three touchdowns. Hooker, a transfer from Citrus College, helped hold Cal State Northridge to 155 yards rushing in Poly's 14-12 win.

Herrera kicked two field goals and two PAT's and averaged better than 42 yards on four punts in MSAC's 22-17 win over Santa Ana. Fralick led the defensive effort, helping to stop the Dons on only seven first downs.

Quoting the coaches:

Walt Ambord, Pomona-Pitzer — "It was a typical Pomona-Claremont game. The score wasn't indicative of the contest. Claremont receivers dropped a couple of passes that could have been a difference. This week we play Whittier and we feel we have a shot at them, but we can't make any mistakes or we'll get blown out of there."

John Zinda, Claremont-Mudd — "I have the kind of feeling of depression that I know I'll get over sooner or later. Pomona just wanted the game more than we did. (Larry) Cenotto is a fine football player. We have Occidental this week and they will be the toughest opponent we've faced this year. We'll be hard pressed. They say coaching is a series of hills and valleys and I must be in Death Valley.

Jerry Sconce, Azusa Pacific — "We play Cal State L.A. Friday at 1 p.m. I really don't think they're a good football team. They've been scoring on broken plays all season — just stumbling around."

Andy Vinci, Cal Poly — "Wind is a great equalizer — you can't throw and you can't punt. Our kids weren't emotionally ready (for Cal State Northridge) but we rushed well against them. We end the season this week at Cal State Hayward. They're a lot like Northridge, but they have a QB. Hopefully we'll finish with the best record in 13 years at Poly."

Roland Ortmayer, La Verne College — "I thought if we concentrated on the conference this year we could win it. But we had the usual problem of sharing the ball too frequently in a 10-7 loss to Whittier. This week we play Redlands and I see them as a stronger team than Whittier. It's our homecoming and we have the type of players who get motivated for things like that. We hope it's a contest."

Mal Eaton, Mt. San Antonio College— "We're really proud of our kids. They never have quit and they played a good ball game against Santa Ana (22-17 win). It was a good effort and a good one to win. This is the decider week in our conference. Anyone can beat anyone else and does. We play Fullerton at Anaheim Stadium. It's a typical Fullerton team. They have two fine quarterbacks. It's their homecoming. We spoiled Cerritos' two weeks ago."

Willie Richardson, Chaffey College — "The bye hurt us. We were flat for San Bernardino and they were up (in 26-14 loss).

We did get about 300 yards on them though and made a game of it. We play San Diego City this week and they have an awesome defense. If their defense is the best, I just hope their offense is the worst.

Jim Gulli, sports information director, Citrus College — "We play Saddleback (5-0-1) in a big game at our stadium this week. Saddleback is No. 2 both offensively and defensively in the conference. To beat them, John (coach Strycula) says we'll have to better balance our offensive attack.

Garvey believes award honors his consistency

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Steve Garvey, the Los Angeles Dodgers' steadiest hitter during their drive to the National League pennant, said his winning the league's Most Valuable Player award shows "the value of consistency."

Garvey, the Dodgers' 25-year-old first baseman, easily beat out St. Louis Cardinal speedster Lou Brock in the balloting announced Tuesday.

"Brock had such a spectacular year (118 stolen bases). It was impossible to speculate on just how the writers would vote," Garvey said. "Would they be influenced by the breaking of an all-time record or by consistency, by the day-in, day-out contribution to the winning of the pennant?

"By voting for me they seemed to have given recognition to the value of consistency and that's gratifying since it's really what athletics is all about."

Garvey, batting in the cleanup spot, hit .312 with 200 hits and 111 RBIs. He did not go more than two games without a hit until early August and his longest hitless streak of the season was three games.

"My initial reaction to the award was numbness," Garvey said. "This is the highest achievement a player can obtain. I knew I had a good chance, but when you're up against players like Lou Brock, you can never tell. The whole season is a culmination of (Manager) Walter Alston's confidence in me."

Alston stuck with the muscular Garvey when he was having fielding troubles two years ago. Last season, Garvey was switched from third base, where he had throwing problems, to first. The Sporting News thought so much of Garvey's fielding they awarded him their Golden Glove Award, which was also announced Tuesday.

"The key to my success is my wife," said a smiling Garvey. Cyndy Garvey, however, admitted she didn't expect her husband to win the MVP award.

"I was positive Brock would win it," she said.

Another Dodger, centerfielder Jimmy Wynn, admitted he felt he deserved more consideration in the balloting. Wynn, who hit 32 homers and drove in 108 runs, finished fifth.

"I'm disappointed to finish fifth," he said. "I'm disappointed that I didn't win it. But I am happy that a Dodger got it. Steve had a hell of a year."

Lucius Allen starts tonight

SEATTLE — New Laker guard Lucius Allen is scheduled to make his first start as a Laker here tonight when Los Angeles tries to snap a three-game losing streak.

L.A. will face the Seattle SuperSonics, a club on a three-game winning streak, in an 8 p.m. game to be televised by KTLA (Channel 5).

Allen will team with Gail Goodrich in the Laker backcourt. Both are former UCLA stars.

Seattle, coached by Bill Russell, has won seven of its last nine games including a 117-97 victory over L.A. here two weeks ago.

Soviet gymnasts in L.A.

Olga Korbut and the USSR National Gymnastic Team will play a return performance tour of the United States following recent triumphs in the World Gymnastic Championships. The 10 date tour opened Nov. 9 in Philadelphia and includes one performance only in Southern California at the Los Angeles Sports Arena tonight at 8 p.m.

The exciting new program will showcase an expanded team of 16 gymnasts and acrobats who will perform daring feats with the precision, grace and style that has made each a champion. Every member of the team holds at least one of the following titles — Honored Master of Sports, Champion of the USSR, Europe, 20th Olympiad, and the World. Half of the Russian team is either a World or Olympic champion.

Heading the group of Olympic medallists on the U.S. tour are the two best known gymnasts in the world, Korbut and Ludmila Turischeva, who between them captured five gold medals, two silvers and a bronze at Munich in 1972.

Korbut, who captivated the world as the heartbroken victim of a slip during the 1972 Olympics, now lays legitimate claim to the title of world's two all-round women's gymnast. Now a maturing nineteen years of age, little Olga won the silver medal in the all-around, late last month in competition in Varna, Bulgaria, behind the incomparable and absolute champion of the world, Turischeva.

The World Gymnastic Championships, held each non-olympic, even year, saw the Soviet gymnasts dominate by winning twelve of the possible fifteen medals. In team standings the USSR women won first place and the USSR men placed second. Individual gold medals went to Turischeva in both the bleam and floor exercise, Korbut in the vaults and Nikolai Andrianov in the rings. Andrianov also won second place in the men's all-round.

Reprimand, warning from Duke

Woody gets a wrist slap

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes had a reprimand and warning today to avoid any action in the future which might be construed as unsportsmanlike conduct.

Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke issued both the reprimand and the warning Tuesday for Hayes' public criticism of officiating and play in Ohio State's 16-11 defeat by Michigan State Saturday.

The reprimand was imposed under a clause in a newly approved sportsmanlike conduct code adopted by the conference which provides that unsportsmanlike conduct shall include "any person who publicly is unduly critical of any game official, conference personnel, another member instituion or its personnel."

"Such person shall be subject to a public reprimand for the first offense and to a one-game suspension for an additional offense," the code rules.

Duke said he had talked to Hayes personally to inform him of the reprimand and that there would be no other penalty "at this time."

However, he said "I have informed Coach Hayes . . . that repetition of his unsportsmanlike conduct would result in referral to the conference compliance committee for imposition of increased penalties."

The penalty was levied because Hayes criticized Michigan State players for not unpiling quickly enough as time ran out in their game Saturday and also game officials for not stopping the clock because of what he believed undue delay in unpiling by the Spartans.

Hayes also was accused of punching at least one Michigan State fan after the game, but Duke inferred that the fans should not have been near enough to Hayes to get punched, and said crowd control "is a problem."

The sportsmanlike conduct code was prepared by a special committee including a faculty representative, athletic director, football coach, basketball coach, sports information director and Duke. It was approved by the conference faculty group and directors last July and reviewed at a special meeting of athletic directors and football coaches in August with the understanding it would be effective with the start of the football season.

Hayes, while not at the review meeting, had a representative present and the code was reviewed for him, Duke said.

"Coach Hayes himself expressed publicly his support for these efforts," Duke said.

Jets seek a GM as Weeb resigns

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York Jets are looking for a general manager but from all indications, Coach Charley Winner feels they shouldn't look too far.

Weeb Ewbank, who last year resigned as the Jets' coach after 10 seasons, ended a 45-year career in football Tuesday when he announced his retirement as the club's general manager, effective at the end of the season.

Jets owner Phil Iselin said he would start searching immediately for "the right man" but Winner, who took over the coaching duties from Ewbank this season, thinks the situation is fine just the way it is.

"Actually, I think I have both jobs now without the title," he said. "Weeb and Mike Martin (assistant GM) have the responsibility of signing players, but I take care of everything else. I have full resposnsiblity for the talent department, trading players and the coaching of the team. The only thing left is signing players, setting up preseason games and management of the office.

"My personal feeling is that the team can be run now without a general manager as such. But that's my personal opinion—and I'm not the owner.

"What we could use is someone perhaps in the line of a business manager to handle player contracts. I had a long talk with Don Shula (Miami Coach) before taking this job and he felt it was not wise to be in direct negotiations with the players. On one hand you're trying to get the most out of them on the field and on the other you're trying to sign them the most economical way."

Winner's reaction could lead to a conflict with Iselin. The Jet owner apparently has bypassed Winner and Martin for consideration.

"I'm going to look for the best man available," he said. "We're going to try to get someone before the end of the season. We want a knowledgeable football man and we don't have any plans at this time to move anyone up in the organization. I would try to avoid having Charley Winner do both jobs. I think it's just too much for one man to undertake."

Despite the obvious differences in opinion, Winner feels there won't be any problem.

"We're not going to have any conflict," he said. "We're going to sit down and do what's best for the overall picture of the organization. It's tough because Phil and I haven't really had a chance to sit down and talk about this."

Kings aiming at club record

INGLEWOOD — The Los Angeles Kings, aiming at a club record for consecutive games without defeat, host the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Forum tonight seeking to extend their current string to nine games.

The record of 11 consecutive games without defeat was established during the 1972-73 season.

Los Angeles has won six and tied two of their last eight games. The Kings lead the National Hockey League in goals-against in allowing only 26 goals in their 15 games.

Scores soar at Via Verde

McAllister's 69 leads SoCal Open

By PHIL ROCHE
P-B Staff Writer

Via Verde Country Club posed problems galore for the pros and amateurs alike Tuesday.

Only three professionals were able to shoot sub-par scores on a glorious, sunny golf day in the opening round of the $10,000 54-hole Southern Cal Open Tuesday at Via Verde.

Craig McAllister of Studio City fired a three under 69 on a day when scores soared into the 80s and in a few cases, sailed into the 90s.

Jerry Barber, former PGA title-holder from Griffith Park, shot a steady 70, and Howie Johnson of Palm Springs had a 71 for the only other sub-par rounds.

Leading the amateurs was Marsh Shumaker with an even par 72.

McAllister, teeing off at 11:30, started quickly. He birdied the par 5, 520-yard second hole and followed with a birdie on the third hole, a 184-yard par three. He also birdied the 377-yard eighth, winding up his opening nine with a 33. He shot an even par 36 on the back side for his 69. He did not have one bogey all day.

Struggling pros who had battled the slick greens and early morning winds were calling McAllister's round a "super one."

At 73 were Alex Sandahl, Mike Haney, John Schamp and Pete Moren. The nine players who fired 74s were Steve Applegate, Wally Bradley, Ralph Evans, Al Feldman, Russ Fraser, Jeff Hewes, Denny Meyer, Rick Talt and Earl Svenningsen.

Jimmy Powell, host professional at Via Verde, shot a 75 along with Jack Hopper, James Walker, Bill Hartley, Hank Woodrome, Mike Korich, Ken Davis and Tony Lopez.

It was a woeful day for most amateurs, but seven did manage to break 80. Kurt Johansson's fine 74 was second only to Shumaker's par 72.

John Overmeyer shot a 76, and Mike Bellmar had a 77. Tied with 78s were Dave Hill, Kelly Gifford and Glen Nash. Jim Lynch shot a 79.

Four amateurs were tied with 80. They were David Sams, Jim Severino, Mike Cosentino and Bill Buskey.

The pros and amateurs are gunning for Via Verde again today, and scores are expected to drop. As one pro said late Tuesday, "You had to play that course today to really understand how tough it was. Tomorrow will be better."

San Dimas wins H.L. cross country crown

San Dimas High's cross country team won the Hacienda League title outright Tuesday afternoon by defeating Bonita handily, 15-44.

Frank Diaz, who went undefeated in dual meet action this season, paced the Saints with a first-place finish in 9:47 over the two-mile course. He was followed by teammates Kevin Kellogg (9:52), Ron Hargett (10:08), Perry Lamont (10:17 and Greg Claiborne (10:26) to account for the clean sweep.

The Saints swept all three divisions, winning the junior varsity race 15-50 and claiming the frosh-soph contest 19-40

San Dimas finished Hacienda League dual meet action with an unblemished 7-0 mark, and now will prepare for Thursday's league finals at Mt. San Antonio College, which begin at 3:15 p.m.

Mounties end pool season

Mt. San Antonio College's waterpolo team capped its South Coast Conference season Tuesday by romping past Cerritos, 14-5.

The victory puts the Mounties in third place in the conference, with a chance to end up tied for second. Second-place Orange Coast takes on unbeaten Fullerton Friday, and if OCC loses the Mounties would end up in the second-place deadlock with the Pirates.

Joe Vargas led the Mountaineer victory Tuesday, recording five goals. Teammate Phillip Sanchez added three, while Chris Vargas and Steve Flores pumped in two each.

The Mounties will now wait for the conference's decision on who will represent the SCC in the Southern California playoffs at El Camino College on Nov. 26-27.

La Verne plans basketball loop

Boys, ages 9-14, wishing to participate in an organized basketball league in La Verne may register by visiting Pelota Park on Wheeler Road between Bonita Avenue and Foothill Boulevard between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. Thursday evening.

Registrations for the league sponsored by the La Verne Jaycees will also be taken at Pelota Park from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

Riedel grabs prep scoring lead again

Chino High's small but quick running back Rick Riedel has taken the lead once again in the valley's prep football scoring derby.

The 5-foot-6, 145 pound halfback scored two touchdowns in the Cowboys' 34-6 win over Montclair last weekend to propel into the lead by two points over Charter Oak's Bill Darrell.

Riedel, who held the lead earlier in the year, has only one week to hold onto the lead. But there are four players within one touchdown of reaching the little Cowboy running back.

The other contenders, along with Darrell, include Nogales' Napoleon Sparks, Bonita's Harold Drake and Rowland's Flavio Garcia.

Rowland maintains the lead as being the top offensive team in the valley, averaging 20.3 points per game. The only real threat to the Montview Leauge champions is Upland, which is averaging 18.4 an outing.

Unless Bonita gets "bombed" this weekend, the Bearcats will probably claim the defensive championship. The Bearcats have only allowed a measly 5.8 points per game. other defensive contenders include Royal Oak (8.4), Chaffey and San Dimas (8.8) and Ontario Christian (9.5).

Lopez surprised by Bonita 'first'

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

La Verne has become the place where dreams come true.

In the spring, two baseball champions were crowned. Bonita High captured the Hacienda League title and advanced to the CIF 2-A finals before being beaten by Hemet. Also about that same time, La Verne College was winning the SCIAC, the NAIA Division III title, the NAIA regionals, and a third place in the nationals.

And last Friday night, Bonita added a Hacienda League football championship to the communities' achievements with a 14-9 win over Royal Oak at Charter Oak High.

While championships are becoming common to the city, it's a new experience for Bearcat coach Pete Lopez and some of his players.

"It feels good," said Lopez, who directed the team to their first H.L. title ever, "especially whern you see the kids. Seeing their excitement really makes it worthwhile."

When the season began Bonita could only be considered a contender along with Walnut, Sierra Vista, San Dimas with Royal Oak the favorite.

"I didn't think we'd be here when the season started," continued Lopez, who achieved his first title since taking over head coaching duties for Larry Zeno in 1972 —the team's first H.L. season. "I knew we had a lot of talent but I also knew the kids would really have to mature."

"We'd have to be real fortunate injury-wise," continued Lopez, in regards to his early season feelings. "And as it has turned out, we've had a lot of injuries but there has always been somebody to step in and give that needed 110 per cent."

The popular Bearcat coach then referred back on some of the key accomplishments that have occurred.

"Ross Thompson has done a great job on the line offensively and defensively. Bill Forbes (center) took over when Terry Clemens broke his leg early in the season," added Lopez. Forbes and Thompson supplied the key blocks to enable Brad Frick to score the winning touchdown against Royal Oak. "Rick McClinntock took over for (Harold) Drake and Bruce Hines took over for Frick on defense."

McClintock came on to be one of the leading tacklers in the final couple of games and Hines intercepted two passes in the last two contests.

"Offensively, Frick and Harold have done a great job and look how (Dave) Drury came on to make those key catches against Walnut and Royal Oak," Lopez added.

And of course, Lencho Nava and Rick Carlton enjoyed fine seasons to rate as primary factors in Bonita's defensive success. The Bearcats are the top ranked defensive team in the valley allowing just 5.3 points per game.

Drake, who quarterbacks the Bearcat Veer offense chalks the Bonita success up to guts and the players' love for each other.

"This team has had a lot of injuries but we've done well," said Drake, the inspirational leader of the team. "Earlier in the season we couldn't see with all of the injuries why we could still be on top but now we know the answer is . . . just guts . . . wanting to win . . . and a love for each other."

Drake also states the championship was the result of, "super coaching that created a good relationship with the players and built good morale. Also the togetherness of the whole school — we had the students backing us and the players inspiring each other."

Brad Frick, Bonita's leading ball carrier added his enthusiasm over the title.

"We feel pretty good. It's still something to think about," said the strong fullback who had never been on a championship team before. "We're really a close team. We do a lot together and are good friends."

Frick said he felt early in th season that the Bearcats would do well if the key positions would come through. He said he thought that the line might be questionable but that when they (Bonita) were losing people like Rick Lober with injuries, people filled in and did the job.

Frick had praise for Thompson and Carlton. "Ross has come a long way on offense. He's made some big holes. He (Ross) and Carlton are doing real well on defense. They're both real good players."

Center Bill Forbes said the turning point for the season for him was the Alta Loma game. "I really had my doubts but the way we pulled that game out really gave me confidence. And in the Royal Oak game we never felt down. Even with four minutes left in the game (when RO took a 9-7 lead on a field goal) we knew there was plently of time to score. And Dave (Drury) had said the whole game that he could beat him man deep. I really had confidence we'd win.

The Hacienda League comes to a close this weekend with Bonita playing San Dimas Saturday at 1 p.m. at MSAC, while Friday night's 8 p.m. action features Ontario against Alta Loma at Chaffey College, Walnut facing Sierra Vista at Baldwin Park High in a 'must win' game for the Mustangs, and Royal Oak needing a win over Gladstone at Citrus College.

Walnut (4-2 is still in the running for second place and a berth in the CIF 2-A playoffs as is Royal Oak (1-1-1). Bonita (6-0) has already captured the league title but its crosstown rivalry with San Dimas (3-2-1) is at stake.

Chaffey High shoots for CIF playoffs

BY JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

Surprising Chaffey High goes after a CIF playoff bid Friday as the Tigers travel to Fontana to meet Fontana High in a crucial Citrus Belt League battle.

The way the Tigers started out in CBL competition, no one would have given them any hope of winning a playoff spot. But Chaffey has won its last two games and a win Friday would leave both the Tigers and the Steelers with 3-2 CBL marks.

While Redlands has the league title sewed up with a 4-0 record, head coach Ray Stark of the Tigers feels that the CIF will admit Chaffey to the playoffs — if they beat Fontana.

"No doubt about it, we have a shot at it," claims the Chaffey mentor. "We have really bounced back from those two early losses (to Eisenhower and Redlands) and if we beat Fontana we feel we belong in the playoffs."

Beating the Steelers eis not going to be easy, however.

FoHi has a 6-2 season mark to go with its 3-1 CBL ledger and is a rough ball-control type of team. The only Steeler setback in CBL activity was a narow 21-20 decision to Redlands.

"To beat the Steelers we'll have to execute better than we have been on offense, and avoid mistakes," points out Stark.

It would certainly be a major achievement if Chaffey makes it to CIF post-season action. In addition to losing

Zibell: SAL's 'huge' success

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

It never fails. When a San Antonio League football coach starts talking about Pomona High's offense, he almost always mentions "that huge fullback."

And even Red Devil coach Mike Clifton feels he's got the best fullback in the league.

Well, that "huge" fullback is none other than Hank Zibell, a junior who stands at 6-foot-2 and 205 pounds.

Needless to say, you can see why the other SAL coaches shudder when they think about facing Pomona.

He is without a doubt, the biggest running back in the league this year. But is he the best?

"I don't like to talk about myself much as far as that is concerned," the Pomona Fullback modestly said. "I just go out and do what I have to do and let the other people do the judging. If I do something right, the others will see it."

Apparently they have.

When the 1974 season began, Pomona's main offensive weapon appeared to be halfback Raymond Butler, a flashy little running back who was returning from last year's successful '73 club. But Butler suffered an ankle injury early in the season and really hasn't been in top form until lately.

So that's why Zibell had to take over.

"A lot of teams are keying on me now," the stocky Damien High transfer commented. "I like it. It's a challenge. It's good too because Raymond is just now getting back his full strength."

That's pretty good timing.

Pomona is one of six teams shooting for the San Antonio League championship this weekend, the final weekend of regular season play.

The Red Devils are one-half game behind leaders Ganesha and Claremont, and are presently sharing third place with Garey — each possessing 3-2-1 records.

One game back is Upland and Damien.

There are all sorts of possibilities this weekend, and here is what the contending coaches have to say:

Esper Keiser, Claremont — "I can't predict anything out of this league anymore. We just have to play one game at a time. Damien is a balanced team. They'll probably do a lot of running and also throw a little."

Garry Norvell, Ganesha — "If we win, we've got the title. If we lose we could end up in fifth place. We play a heck of a team (Upland) and it'll be a heck of a ball game. The last time we went to the playoffs we had to beat Upland in the final game of the year (1967). We won and tied Pomona for the championship."

Lawson Bush, Garey — "I think our chances of winning it are great. I think Damien can beat Claremont and I think Upland can beat Ganesha. We play Chino and they always play us tough. They'll probably take away some of our speed, so we plan to throw too. They'll probably do the same. I think it'll be a defensive game."

Clifton, Pomona — "I can't imagine Claremont and Ganesha both losing. They could, but I don't see it. I just want to get to the playoffs. I'm hoping Garey loses and one of those other two loses. That would give us second place (automatic berth in the playoffs)."

Ron Smedley, Damien — "I hate to try and figure out the different combinations. I would just like to go out and win for ourselves. We're looking forward to playing a very good Claremont team."

Bob Holycross, Upland — "I think Pomona's sitting in the driver's seat. They play Montclair, which has to be considered the worst team in the league right now. Ganesha is the best football team in the league."

There are two teams which are wrapping up the 1974 season for sure this weekend. They'll both be cast into the role of the spoilers, with Chino visiting Garey at MSAC Saturday and Montclair hosting Pomona Friday.

Jim Rawls, Chino — "I think the Pomona game was the turning point of our season. We should have won that one. Our season had a lot of disappointing times, but I never predict a championship. This league is really something. Garey and Pomona are shooting for the championship and both of them only have three wins. That's disgusting."

Jack Simpson, Montclair — "There were two or three games we could have won, but you can almost always say that every season. Our total football program has improved. We played only two bad games out of eight, which is an improvement over the past. We'll have a monumental task of getting the players up for this game."

Blues hold on for 4-3 win over Bruins

By United Press International

While St. Louis Coach Garry Young was suffering on the sidelines Tuesday night, the Blues' Garry Unger was having a great time on the ice.

"I died that last few minutes," Young said after the Blues' 4-3 win over the Boston Bruins. "I was really sweating out there."

But from Unger's viewpoint: "I love it. That's the game. That's hockey."

The two were referring to the furious finale when the Bruins pulled their goalie and tried desperately to tie the game. But while the Blues fought for their lives at the end, it was the Bruins who had to play catchup most of the night.

After taking the lead on Dave Hynes' first National Hockey League goal in the first period, St. Louis tied it with Wayne Merrick's score in the same period and pulled away to a 3-1 lead with goals by Pierre Plante and Unger in the second period.

Boston's Wayne Cashman cut the lead with a score with more than 13 minutes left in the game before Brian Ogilvie again gave St. Louis a two-goal advantage about four minutes later.

Dave Forbes then scored to put Boston within reach but St. Louis goalie John Davidson was invincible as the Bruins pulled goalie Gilles Gilbert for the final attack.

"John has been hot — unbelievable," said Plante.

But the young goalie added the entire team in the accolades.

"We've really started getting it together," he said. "The younger players are more poised, they have a looser attitude. We've got a good young hockey team that's a lot better than most people think."

In other NHL games, Washington tied Atlanta 2-2 and Vancouver shut out Chicago 1-0. In WHA play, Houston ripped New England 6-1, San Diego beat Chicago 4-2 and Quebec edged Michigan 5-4.

Capitals 2, Flames 2

Jack Egers' deflection for a power play score at 12:13 of the final period lifted Washington into its tie with Atlanta. Egers' goal came only three minutes after Bob Murray put the Flames ahead 2-1.

Canucks 1, Black Hawks 0

Aeros 6, Whalers 1

Mariners 4, Cougars 2

Norm Ferguson's two goals led San Diego over Chicago and enabled the Mariners to remain tied with Houston for the WHA West lead.

Nordiques 5, Stags 4

Michael Parizeau had a pair of goals as Quebec sent Michigan to its sixth straight loss and 10th in 11 games. Gary Veneruzzo had two goals for the Stags.

Celtics laugh their way from 19-point deficit to beat Bucks

By United Press International

Tom Heinsohn said the Boston Celtics got a "good laugh" out of their first-half performance Tuesday night.

But there wasn't anybody laughing over in the Milwaukee Bucks' dressing room.

The Bucks blew a 19-point lead and dropped their ninth consecutive game 91-83 to the Celtics.

The Celtics had scored only seven points in the first quarter going without a point for the first 5½ minutes. They scored only 36 in the half but still trailed only 43-36 when they went into the locker room after the Bucks had led 38-19 midway through the period.

"I was beginning to wonder if we would ever score a basket," Heinsohn said. "But we had a good laugh during the half and came out and won the game."

It wasn't easy but the Celtics outscored Milwaukee 33-20 in the third period to take a 69-63 lead. The Bucks came back and took a 78-75 lead with just 7:34 left.

But then it happened. What is becoming known as the "Veer that made Milwaukee Famous."

The Celtics scored seven points in a row and outscored Milwaukee 16-5 the rest of the way to coast in to victory.

In other NBA games, Buffalo beat Cleveland 112-94, Chicago downed New Orleans 88-79, Houston topped Kansas City-Omaha 103-99, Golden State whipped Atlanta 128-111 and Portland edged the New York Knicks 105-103. In American Basketball Association play, San Antonio stopped Virginia 109-92 and San Diego defeated Memphis 113-104.

Braves 112, Cavaliers 94

Bob McAdoo, the NBA's leading scorer, collected 32 points and 23 rebounds to lead Buffalo past Cleveland. Austin Carr scored 28 for the Cavaliers.

Bulls 88, Jazz 79

Chet Walker's 30 points helped Chicago overcome a sloppy first half and hand the Jazz its 12th loss in 13 games. Pete Maravich led New Orleans with 27.

Warriors 128, Hawks 111

Rick Barry's 33 points, 12 of them in a decisive second period spree, powered Golden State over Atlanta. The win was the Warriors' ninth in the last 10 games. Newly-acquired Tom Van Arsdale led Atlanta with 24 points.

Rockets 103, Kings 99

Rudy Tomjanovich's two free throws and Calvin Murphy's basket put the game out of reach for Houston. Mike Newlin led the Rockets with 25 points while Nate Archibald had 27 for the Kings.

Blazers 105, Knicks 103

Sidney Wicks and John Johnson combined for 30 points in the fourth quarter to lead Portland over New York. Earl Monroe led the Knicks with 33 points while Johnson and Wicks paced Portland with 26 and 23.

Spurs 109, Squires 92

Rich Jones and George Gervin teammed for 41 points as San Antonio beat Virginia. Rookie David Vaughn led the Squires with 19.

Q's 113, Sounds 104

Travis Grant's 30 points lifted San Diego past Memphis. George Carter had 35 points for the Sounds.

Messersmith, Garvey named top fielders

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — For the 15th consecutive year slick-fielding Baltimore Oriole third baseman Brooks Robinson has been named as a Gold Glove winner by The Sporting News.

The All-Star team picked each year for fielding ability by the weekly sports publication was named Tuesday. Robinson was joined on the American League squad by Chicago pitcher Jim Kaat, named for the 13th straight year.

All of the rest of the American League team were repeaters except Oakland outfielder Joe Rudi, who made the squad for the first time. Other Orioles joining Robinson were second baseman Bobby Grich, shortstop Mark Belanger and outfielder Paul Blair. The team was rounded out by first baseman George Scott of Milwaukee, catcher Thurman Munson of New York, and outfielder Amos Otis of Kansas City.

In the National League the familiar name of Bob Gibson of St. Louis, a winner for the past 10 years, was replaced by Andy Messersmith of the league champion Los Angeles Dodgers. Repeaters on the NL squad were Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench, a winner for all of his major league years, Joe Morgan of Cincinnati at second base, Houston third baseman Doug Rader, Houston outfielder Cesar Cedeno and Bobby Bonds, recently traded by San Francisco to the New York Yankees.

Others on the National League team are Cincinnati's Dave Concepcion at shortstop and Cesar Geronimo in the outfield and Steve Garvey of Los Angeles at first base.

Valley motocross teams battle at CR

CORONA — Corona Raceway is now sporting one of the finest High School Motocross schedules in all of California, as 20 high schools compete in five different leagues.

Every Friday night at Corona Raceway, five schools compete, as they try to collect points for the overall season title. This Friday night, five Riverside and San Bernardino County high schools will compete on the big one-mile course, which include the big downhill on the back of the half-mile stadium. Montclair, Bloomington, Norco, Alta Loma, and defending Inland Empire Champion North will be attempting to score points in the overall battle.

The league setup is in five different divisions with schools placed in divisions by the school size. The 'A' division consists of Eisenhower, Ramona, Upland, and a combination of Hemet and San Jacinto high schools. In division 'B' there are Montclair, North Palm Springs, and Rubidoux. Alta Loma, Chino, Corona, and Riverside Poly make up the 'C' division. The final two division consists of Arlington, Bloomington, Norte Vista, and Moreno Valley in one class with Garey, La Sierra, Noroc, and Notre Dame in another division.

The league will run through the month of April with each school competing once a month. Also Corona Raceway will not be racing stock cars for the rest of the year, and the Sunday afternoons will be dark.

Goudy, Templeman favorites at Ascot

GARDENA — Either Rick Goudy of Norwalk or Clark Templeman of Reseda appears to be the most logical choice to score a rare double in the California Racing Association's combined sprint car and midget program at Ascot Park this Saturday night.

Goudy leads the CRA midget division and has won three of the last four CRA sprint-car events at Ascot, including the 50-lap Grand Prix on Nov. 2. He proved his versatility that day when finished 12th in the United States Auto Club midget 50-miler in Phoenix before flying home for the Grand Prix.

Templeman showed his class when he won the Pacific Coast Open championship in sprint cars Oct. 19. He was a continuous contender in CRA midgets when they were running regularly on Thursday night at Ascot.

If incentive is a factor, Templeman, who placed fourth in the sprint-car Grand Prix, needs only 17 points to overtake Dean Thompson of Torrance for second place in the final CRA sprint-car standings. Jimmy Oskie of Downey has already clinched that title.

Both Goudy and Templeman are also runing for the 34th running of the USAC Turkey-Night midget Grand Prix, along with Bobby Olivero of Lakewood, a top contender in both kinds of car. Olivero won the Phoenix midget race on the mile track after two earlier USAC victories this fall. He was fourth in the Pacific Coast Open sprints.

The weekend program at Ascot also includes the second attempt to stage the annual Speedway Racing Association half-mile event at Ascot. The half-mile competition, involving Mike Bast, Sonny Nutter, and all the rest was postponed to avoid conflict with the U.S. Open Speedway championships at Orange County Raceway.

Motorcycle champ featured in playoff halftime show

ANAHEIM — Don Smith, the only three-time European Observed Trials motorcycle champion, will be the main halftime attraction Thursday night at Anaheim Stadium when the Southern California Sun hosts the Orlando Blazers in WFL playoff action.

Smith is currently conducting a 34-city American tour talking to the American public about Observed Trials, the second largest motorcycling activity in Europe. Next to motocross, Trials brings out more spectators and participants than any other form of motorcycle recreation.

Smith will be talking to the fans about Trials and then will give a riding demonstration which will include his riding over a car. Where most motorcycle activities are loud, fast and attempted by only a brave few, Trials is not. Trials is for everyone. Smith is convinced that Trials will be the largest motorcycle recreational activity in America within five years.

Exotic vehicles on display

LONG BEACH — An estimated $2 million in exotic vehicles will be displayed at the 15th annual Long Beach Custom Car, Rod and Motorcycle Show, set Nov. 22-24 at the Long Beach Arena.

The roster of motors will include exotic customs, race cars, motorcycles, choppers, sports cars, dune buggies, boats, classics, antiques, vans, dune buggies, models, bicycles and hot rods.

One of the likely custom winners is Dennis Bryant's 1963 Chevy full custom. It has flop-down doors, chopped top, TV, bar, phone, swivel seats and is valued at $20,000.

Parsons, Baker getting anxious

Two of the most competitive and colorful drivers on the Grand National stock car circuit, Benny Parsons and Buddy Baker, are getting anxious for the Times 500 on Nov. 24 at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Parsons, the 1973 Grand National champion, is an eight-year veteran who has finished in the top five 11 times this year.

The son of former champion Buck Baker, Buddy Baker has started 371 Grand National races in his career and won over $700,000.

"I enjoy the race track," said Parsons. "It will be good racing. If you're faster than someone else, you can pass. The competition should be fantastic with some of the top guys on the West Coast in the race."

Baker, who finished second to A.J. Foyt in his only start at Ontario, agrees with Parsons. "The track is ideal for aur kind of racing. The drafting procedure is terrific.

"Our car (RC Cola Ford) is capable of standing up at a track like Ontario," continued Baker. "We were second to Richard Petty at Pocono and that track is similar to Ontario. In that Pocono race the lead changed something like 24 times in the last 25 laps."

Baker has eight career Grand National wins and in '74 has finished in the top five in 10 of his 18 races.

HE has won the World 600 three times and has also posted superspeedway triumphs at Darlington, Charlotte and Texas.

Seven other top NASCAR drivers entered in the Times 500 are Cecil Gordon, James Hylton, Elmo Langley, J.D. McDuffie, D.K. Ulrich, David Sisco and Walter Ballard. Between them they have started over 1,600 Grand National races.

The field for the $120,000 race now totals more than 50 and includes Petty, Foyt, Bobby Allison, David Pearson, Johnny Rutherford and Cale Yarborough.

The companion feature, the Permatex 200 for Late Model Sportsman cars, will be run Saturday Nov. 23. Nearly 40 cars have entered the Permatex race.

Tickets for the big racing weekend can be purchased at Ontario Motor Speedway, Pacific Stereo (637 S. Hill, Los Angeles), Times Special Events Department (212 W. 1st, Los Angeles) and all Mutual, Ticketron, Liberty and Wallichs ticket agencies.

Southland racing

IRWINDALE — The powerful sprint cars of California Racing Association will converge on Speedway 605 in Irwindale this Sunday afternoon for their final outing of the 1974 season on the asphalt racing oval.

Four of the fastest cars will start off the program at 2 p.m. with a four lap trophy dash followed by heat races, semi-main and 20 car main event.

Kennedy set a new track record of 19:86 for a one lap tour of the half-mile track on August 10 and finished third in the main event behind Terry Caves of Whittier and Jimmie Oskie of Downey.

With the record in his pocket, Kennedy ,an auto body shop owner, will be back trying for the winner's circle Sunday afternoon. Caves and Oskie, who leads in championship points toward the 1974 crown, are also expected to return for the clash.

Kennedy has run up a record of 13 fast times in 23 California Racing Association races for the year.

Another ranking threat to the win honors is young Danny McKnight of La Verne, returning to sprint car racing following a head injury suffered earlier this year when an object thrown up from the track by another car struck him.

McKnight, a hard charger and 1973 C.R.A. "Rookie of the Year," will drive the Lee Wasson-owned Chevy sprinter.

At least 40 cars will be on hand for time trials at 1 p.m. on the 4900 Rivergrade Road oval located two blocks north of the lower Azusa Road exit from Freeway 605 northbound in Irwindale.

VALENCIA — With an aim toward increasing the number of activities available for spectators, competitiors and family riders alike, plans are now under way to inject added variety into the scheduling of weekly programs at Indian Dunes Park.

While continuing to hold motocross racing events for the motorcycles every Friday night and during a daytime show on Sundays, as well as contests for gocarts, minicycles and dunecycles, management at the 600-acre, off-road complex is proceeding with development plans to add both trials competition and bicycle motocross to the busy schedule. Both sports have displayed a tremendous growth rate in the past few years.

The terrain at Indian Dunes, which is located just to the north of Magic Mountain, is considered ideal for trials meetings, a form of motorcycle competition that demands skill and great balance, instead of a speed factor. And having been the site for rounds in the California State Trials championships held in 1972 and 1973, many portions of the courses that were used in those two events will be employed by the park to furnish some interesting traps for a series of Sunday programs.

Established 4½ years ago as the sole off-road facility in Los Angeles County, the 'Dunes remains open to the public on a daily basis from 7 a.m. till dark. It offers the riding enthusiast more than 20 miles of scenic trails, river crossings, a long sand flat area and the use of the many different race tracks for practice sessions.

Entrance to the park is located on Highway 126, two miles west of the Golden State Freeway.

Attendance up in WHA

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — World Hockey Association attendance is on the rise, a depressed economy to the contrary.

"We are highly encouraged with the response to the WHA this season," said President Dennis Murphy of the three-year-old league. "As a matter of fact, we are elated in view of the general economy. Through 69 games, exclusive of Tuesday night's action on three fronts, the WHA has attracted 478,858 for a per game average of 6,940, an increase of 31.7 per cent over last season.

The league, which went from 12 to 14 teams this season, has experienced turnouts of 15,326 in Edmonton, 14,141 in Toronto, 13,263 in Cleveland, 12,837 in Indianapolis and 12,521 in St. Paul.

Motocross standings

WESTERVILLE, Ohio (UPI) — The American Motorcycle Association's Trans-AMA Motocross Series standings through the fifth of eight races:

Rider	Points
1. Roger DeCoster, Belguim	510
2. Gerrit Wolsink, Holland	390
3. Jim Pomeroy, Yakima, Wash.	299
4. Brad Lackey, Pinole, Calif.	275
5. Adolf Weil, West Germany	265
6. Arne Kring, Sweden	200

Locals in curtain calls this week

Making the playoffs is of no concern to Rowland High. The Raiders are already in.

Workman's 22-6 loss to Azusa last Saturday coupled with the Raiders' 13-13 tie with Nogales gave Rowland the Montview League crown. The Raiders now hold a 5-0-1 league mark going into their loop finale with Workman at La Puente High on Friday.

Nogales, which gave Rowland a great game in that 13-13 deadlock, will shoot for a win in its league curtain call with Northview. Coach Archie Carter's Nobles have played extremely well the past two weeks and a victory Friday would give them a respectable 3-3-1 Montview mark.

Charter Oak, coming off a 7-0 shutout of Northview, can finish at 4-3 in Montview action by beating Baldwin Park Friday.

Two Arrawhead League locals, Webb School and La Verne Lutheran, tangle in their league finale Saturday at Webb.

Although both teams have had rough seasons, a win in the season's last game would be an encouraging way to finish.

"I'm optimistic that we can beat 'em," states coach Les Perry of the Gauls. "We have avoided any major injuries and my kids would like to finish the year with a win."

Trojan mentor Steve Miller also feels his squad has a chance at stopping the Gauls, but the already thin La Verne squad is hobbling because of injuries.

"We have 16 guys ready to go for Saturday," Miller said. "It will be an interesting game, we feel we can compete with Webb."

Versatile Trojan gridder Don Liles is listed as doubtful for the game, as is tight end Dale Pomo.

Miller is also hoping that his defensive line, anchored by Kurt Boehn and Rick Goetz, can halt the potent Gaul running attack.

Ontario Christian also closes out its season Friday night as the Knights play host to Mary Star of the Sea in an Olympic League encounter

Salaries for U.S. athletes proposed

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The new president of the Amateur Athletic Union said Tuesday U.S. athletes should be paid salaries while competing internationally.

Joseph R. Scalzo, Toledo, told a news conference that Eastern European countries pay their athletes in international competition and that the U.S. should offer the same incentives.

Scalzo, a former U.S. Olympic wrestling coach and now a business executive, said his proposal to business, industry and other segments of U.S. society was "a challenge to the free enterprize system" in competition with the socialist world.

"The American athlete who takes part 2-3 months every year in international competition can't make it without pay," Scalzo said.

"Close to half of our athletes don't even try out under these circumstances," he added. "I'm challenging industry and the private sector to join us in this effort."

He said his plan will make the free enterprise system "equal to the socialistic countries we compete against."

"I believe a program like this will be approved by one company after the other," Scalzo predicted.

He said his firm, Sun Oil Co., of Toledo, has become the first large company to subscribe to his plan.

"We don't want our good athletes to be penalized" from not taking part in international sports because of financial reasons, the AAU official said.

Scalzo said he was confident smaller firms will also go along with his plan, "but we'll start with the big firms first."

SPORTS NEWS IN BRIEF

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —The Indiana Pacers Tuesday signed three-year veteran Johnny Neumann, who starred in college basketball at Mississippi.

The 6-6 guard-forward played with Memphis and Utah of the ABA before being traded to Virginia after last season. He was placed on waivers by the Squires and signed by the Pacers as a free agent.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The New Orleans Jazz swapped veteran forward John Block to the Chicago Bulls Tuesday for starting guard Rick Adelman.

The trade came just hours before the Bulls and Jazz tipped off their NBA game in Municipal Auditorium.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) —The NCAA has ruled that Jacksonville University basketball players Henry Williams and Shawn Leftwich are ineligible for any further college basketball.

The NCAA said the two received checks paid to them by Professional Athletics Inc. of Fresno, Calif., which handles negotiations between players and professional teams.

SEATTLE (UPI) — Kennedy McIntosh, a three-year veteran forward who sometimes found himself in dispute with his coaches, was placed on waivers Tuesday by the Seattle Supersonics of the National Basketball Association.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — William F. Niemi's 61-foot sloop "Joli" from Seattle moved into the elapsed time and handicap lead Tuesday in the 1,023-mile Los Angeles to Mazatlan yacht race.

"Joli" was about 15 miles ahead of her sister ship, "Sorcery," sailed by Jacob Wood of Marina del Rey.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific running back Willard Harrell, who is fourth in the nation in rushing with 1,161 yards gained this season, is the first selection for the 50th annual East-West team.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bantamweights Carlos Zarate and Alfonso Zamora, both of Mexico, opened training Tuesday for their separate bouts at the Forum Nov. 23.

Zarate and Zamora will fight in preliminaries to the Ruben Olivares-Alexis Arguello World Boxing Association featherweight title bout.

Zarate, unbeaten in 28 pro fights, meets James Martinez of Dallas, who is 15-0. Zamora, 19, meets Jose Rosa of San Juan, Puerto Rico. Zamora is 17-0, with all of his wins coming by knockouts.

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus will participate in a golf exhibition at the Spokane Country Club next April 29, according to the sponsoring Spokane Junior League.

Proceeds of the visit will go toward league charitable activities.

'Hen booters in playoffs

Pomona-Pitzer's soccer team defeated cross-campus rival Claremont-Mudd, 1-0, Tuesday afternoon to gain a berth in the qualifying round of the NAIA District Three playoffs.

The Sagehens, the defending District champions, qualified for the playoffs by placing second in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Pomona will host independent United States International University at 2 p.m. Thursday at Merritt Field with the winner advancing to the four-team district tournament. There will be an admission charge at the game.

Thursday's winner will advance to a semifinal match Saturday against Claremont-Mudd, the SCIAC champion, at a site and time to be announced later. Westmont will play Azusa Pacific in the other semifinal match.

Paul Suter's goal — his 15th of the season — in the first half gave Pomona the tight win Tuesday.

Majors signs pact to remain at Pitt

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh football coach Johnny Majors put to rest rumors he would return to his native Tennessee Tuesday by announcing he had agreed to a new five-year contract with the Panthers.

Majors, who spun Pitt football fortunes 180 degrees since taking over in December of 1972, agreed to the new pact amid reports of a grass-roots campaign among Tenessee fans to draft him as a replacement for Vol coach Bill Battle.

"Although technical details of this special contract will be worked out to coincide with the new calendar year," Pitt cnancellor Wesley Posvar said,"the committment of both parties to this event is firm."

Majors, who replaced Carl DePasqua after Pitt' charted its worst season in history (1-10), was named Coach of the Year by the U.S.Football Writers Association after guiding the Panthers to a 6-4-1 record last season and an appearance in the Fiesta Bowl.

The Tennesceee All-America, a runner up for the Heisman Trophy in 1955, became the object of rumors after last season that he would return as coach of the Vols, despite an 8-3 record posted by Battle.

Majors, whose first contract with Pitt reportedly specified a base salary of $35,000 per year, has led the Panthers to a 7-2 record this season and a possible Liberty Bowl bid which is contingent upon 16th-ranked Pitt's performance against fourth-ranked Notre Dame Saturday.

"We are making the announcement to make clear to the public that our belief in Majors is not contingent upon bowl bids or performance in any particular game," said Pitt athletic director Casimir Myslinski.

"While we think our football record has justified a bowl, our plans for success are long term," he said.

Posvar called the move a "vote of confidence on our part in the leadership ability of Johnny Majors and the strong belief he will continue to enhance the quality of our intercollegiate athletic program."

Majors' name was associated with the Tennesse job again this season when it was reported that Tennesse fans had undertaken a bumper sticker campaign demanding "Johnny Come Home."

Majors last week replied bitterly that the campaign was malicious and that he was not entertaining any thought of leaving Pitt. He said the flood of rumors which have surronded his short tenure here may have been started by rival coaches using it as a ploy to lure recruits away from Pitt.

"I think Pitt represents one of the greatest opportunities for intercollegiate football in the United States," Majors said Tuesday. "I have had the most gratifying support from the university's administration and look forward to my future years here."

Kings' Stars record victories in PSL play

The Division II Claremont Peterson's Pharmacy Kings and the Division IV Claremont Stars both won last Saturday in Pacific Soccer League play while the two Division III Claremont teams lost.

The Kings defeated the Culver City Estudiantes 2-1 despite playing without Jerry VanZee due to an injury and losing the services of Karcsi Kiraly 10 minutes into the game due to a foot fracture and being forced to play the rest of the game with 10 players. The Kings gained a 2-0 lead in the first half on two goals by Mike Hunter and managed to hold on to the winning margin in the second half through excellent defensive play by Mark Layne, Tai Martin, Ruben Raya, and goalie Steve Tipping. With this victory, the Kings completed the pre-CIF round in a three-way tie for first place and will resume play in March in the post-CIF round.

The Claremont Stars won an easy 6-0 victory over the Brea Olindas. Henry Gonzales led the scoring with three goals while Jesse Albert scored two and Ward Watanabe added one. Jeff Eyrich and Dave Ryan were outstanding in controlling midfield play.

In Division III, the Spittin' Image Claremont Knights were defeated 4-1 by the Culver City Estudiantes. Larry Ryan scored the one Knight goal with the assist going to Kent Rothman. The Claremont Straw Hat Pizza Lancers were defated by the Torrance Celtic Rangers 6-0.

The Knights travel to Torrance to play the Celtic Rangers Saturday while the Stars entertain the Brea Spurs at 3 p.m. at El Roble Junior High School. The Lancers have a bye.

Bonavena KOs Vaka in 5th round

HONOLULU (UPI) — Heavyweight Oscar Bonavena of Argentina knocked out a game but outclassed Mani Vaka of Tonga in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-rounder Tuesday night at the Honolulu International Center.

Bonavena, 209¼ and the No. 4 ranked heavyweight, caught Vaka on the ropes late in the fifth round and pummeled him with lefts and rights to the head. The end came at 2:44 when Vaka crumbled and sagged to the canvas, his feet in the ring and half his body lying across the bottom strand of the ropes.

Bonavena decked Vaka twice in the second round. The Tongan went down the first time under a barrage of lunging lefts and took the mandatory eight count. Then, in the closing seconds of the round, Bonavena trapped Vaka in his corner and clubbed him on the head and chest. Neither fighter heard the bell and referee Walter Cho had to pry Bonavena off Vaka, who did a Tongan war dance of frustrated anger in his corner as Bonavena walked away.

Bonavena took all the rounds. The closest was the third when the 207¼ pound Vaka stung Bonavena with straight rights to the head.

Canadian heavyweight Bob Bozic, 204½ of Toronto took a split and loudly booed decision from the Koroseta Kid, 200½, of Pago Pago in their eight rounder. In the semifinal, Al Gutierrez, 114, of the Philippines knocked out Mario Rogelio 112¾ of Mexico in 1:47 of the fifth.

Osamu Toku, 127¼ of Japan, stopped Modesto Dayaganon 127¼ of the Philippines in 39 seconds of the third round.

Many pressures on sugar prices

The sugar price rise in the United States is a result of a world-wide problem. World demand has been strong and prices had been too low to stimulate the needed world production. Four out of five of the last crop years have resulted in a deficit of world sugar production under world sugar consumption.

Along with the reduction in world-wide supply, other economic forces worked to push up sugar prices. The monetary crisis, the energy crisis, inflation, and a poor harvest caused by bad weather which reduced other crops.

In order to attract the sugar to our markets, Americans had to bid up prices equal to those which other buyers would pay. Because of the price increase, we did get a supply of sugar, unlike Great Britain who had to ration because of a non-delivery by the supplier.

It takes between 24 and 36 months for sugar to get from the planning board to the grocery shelf. In the long run, without restrictions, the high price levels are expected to stimulate production, which will ultimately provide adequate supplies of sugar at more reasonable prices. The old sugar act is no longer in effect, and it is no longer limiting sugar production increases.

Hurricane Carmen has caused some damage to the Louisiana crop of sugar, and adverse weather reduced forecasts for the sugar beet crop world-wide at a time when sugar stocks are lower than desired levels — but not at critically low levels.

Our 1974 peak period of consumption (summer) has passed. Consumer resistance to high prices has been noted in recent weeks, which tends to reduce demand. Nevertheless, current demand is still sufficient to create a very tight market.

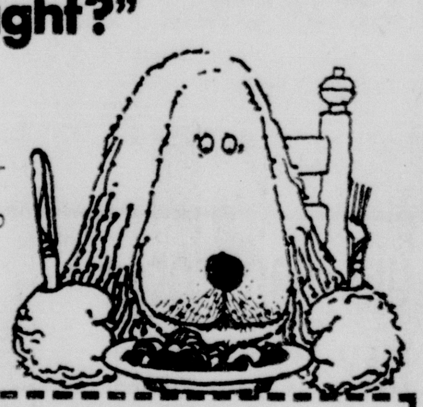
Sufficient supplies appear to be available as long as consumers will pay competitive prices; however, sugar prices are very volatile. It is not probable that prices will decline until the very tight conditions in the world market have abated. A more normal equilibrium between supply and demand cannot be expected until more supplies can become available. Consumers are, however, once again adjusting to these higher prices by taking a hard look at what they are purchasing.

Duck poisoning

Lead poisoning in ducks is not caused by shot which hits the waterfowl. Rather, it is due to shot picked up by the bird and ground to powder in its gizzard.

Gilbert and Sullivan

The first performances of Gilbert and Sullivan's operas in the United States were held in St. Louis in the 1880s at Uhrig's cave.



BLUE MOUNTAIN
COMPLETE 100% NUTRITION

Q: "My neighbor says table scraps aren't good for dogs. Is that right?"
A: Yes. When compared to scientifically formulated pet foods like Blue Mountain Home Style Stew, table scraps are sadly lacking in the needed protein, vitamins, minerals, amino acids and carbohydrates. Besides, overly rich table scraps can make your dog a finicky eater and eventually lead to obesity, hardening of the arteries and even heart attacks.

Throw a party with wines and cheeses

Become acquainted with Norwegian cheeses by having a Norwegian cheese and wine get-together. Give your guets something to talk about, something to taste that's new, different, and delicious as well.

Cheese and wine have many things in common with each other as they are natural foods and both must age in order to taste the delightful sensations of each. Most cheeses should be served at room temperature, therefore, taken out ofthe refrigerator at least a half hour before serving. The same rule applies for red wines, although white and rose wines are best served chilled.

To have your friends actively participate in the cheese and wine tasting, provide descriptions of each of the cheeses being served with a score card as to which is the most preferred. For example: Jarsberg cheese is one of Norway's most distinguished cheeses. It has a mild and nutty flavour which is not found in any other cheeses. Norvegia is mild, smooth and aromatic — marvelous for snacks and popular with those who enjoy the mild cheeses.

Another excellent and interesting cheese is the Nokkelost, which in Norway means Key Cheese. This cheese has a piquant flavour which originates from the addition of spices, such as cumin seed and cloves. For variety, serve Gjetost which is made from the milk of goats and cows. Pronounced Yetost, its character reflects the healthy outdoor life that is so typical of Norway. Gjetost is best served in wafer thin slices on crispbreads or crackers.

The wines should be handled in a similar fashion; however, this time cover the bottles and number each. Set-up the following score card for the wines. Here are some helpful guidelines to wine terminology:

BOUQUET means the fragrance that drifts up from wine. Each wine has its own bouquet, and drinking wine is as much a matter of smell as taste. The way to appreciate wine is to sniff it before taking a single sip.

CHARACTER describes the general impression of the wine. A good wine has positive character.

FULL-BODIED is the opposite of thin. A thin wine seems watery, without character.

TART means the wine has a pleasant acidity — not harsh or sour.

VINTAGE refers both to the harvesting of the grapes and the year in which the wine was produced.

FRUITY means a wine with an almost fruitlike taste but not resembling grape juice.

NUTTY is a term indicating the pungent flavor of sherry.

WOODY means the smell that comes from keeping wine too long in the cask or in a cask of defective wood.

Decide males not eligible to be queen

CHENEY, Wash. (UPI) — Eastern Washington State College student leaders have been saved the trouble of trying to decide what to call a male homecoming queen.

Four male students had sought the title of homecoming queen, or possibly homecoming person, along with nine coeds.

But the Associated Student Social Activities Committee at the last minute ordered the names of the four men removed from the ballot on grounds the student constitution states only females are eligible to seek the title.

The decision was backed by assistant State Attorney Roger Reed, who said the sex discrimination laws apply only to the areas of employment and housing and not homecoming contests.

66,000 gallons of liquid rubber spilled

LA MIRADA (UPI) — More than 66,000 gallons of milky liquid rubber flowed through a flood control channel after vandals opened valves on six Union Oil Co. tanks over the weekend.

Sheriff's deputies said nine valves on the six 70,000 gallon tanks were opened.

Sweets are a royal treat for the queen's top taster

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The English sweet tooth is world famous and a Britisher can meet any challenger for the "fastest sugar spoon" title when it comes to total consumption. The Queen's Taster is no exception.

When dapper Col. A.J.B. Rutherford, C.B.E., visited this city recently, he saw several tempting desserts on a table and with a glint in his eye asked, "Who's going to attack the trifle?"

He was pleased to have the honor.

"I love good solid English desserts," Col. Rutherford explained when asked about his favorite foods. Ice creams and roly-poly, a steamed dessert, also rated high on his list of what makes for a pleasant eating experience.

His mentioning of such sweets reflects on the eating habits of those who cling to the traditional in foods in Great Britain.

Col. Rutherford proved a good source of information on the eating patterns, except for the sweets, in his homeland since he lives by his taste buds.

As a queen's taster, he is one of those wine experts known for their rare olfactory talents. He is the fifth generation of wine shippers and his great-great grandfather began shipping Madeira in 1814 when it was still an American favorite along with Porto. There is a new interest in these fortified wines in the U.S. As a member of the Advisory Committee for Wine for the Royal Cellars, he and a panel of four plus two Buckingham Palace officials participate in blind tastings of wines — the identity of the wine is not known to the tasters so their impressions won't be influenced, for example, by a distinguished chateau name on a label.

Their selections are served at the queen's table for the family and at official functions in the five Royal residences — Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, Balmoral, Sandringham and Holyrood House.

After 53 years in the wine business, with time out to serve with the British Army staff in Washington, D.C., during World War II, he plans no book on wine or food.

"After all," he said, "I haven't done anything exceptional except shattering my stomach."

Mrs. Rutherford gave a wifely smile at this comment but added that they both enjoy good food. Although she doesn't cook that much now she said she began cooking during the war. "I had three hungry children, one cookbook and queuing up with our food stamps was a part of our lives."

Although she claimed she "wasn't a good cook," her children liked good food and enjoy preparing it, too, so something did rub off. She admitted that there has been a drastic change in attitude toward food in Great Britain, despite the belt-tightening due to the economy.

"People didn't take the proper interest in preparing tasty food before," she said as an explanation to the criticisms of English foods she often hears.

"Deep freezing," she said, "is taking over in England and people in villages are more conscious of paying for the cost of a freezer by buying in bulk. Supermarket shopping is big, too. I think we have better fresh vegetables in our gardens than Americans do and tend to eat more vegetables. The English climate is so good for these and for fruits."

The Rutherfords share the English love for fish and seafoods and he prefers mutton to beef. "Lamb chops, too, are easier to digest and I like simple things like kidneys and bacon."

Since so much of his work is spent in wines he faces the problem of what to drink. "I have so much to choose from so I dring everything," he smiled, "within moderation. One can get frightfully greedy with bad results."

However, along with his preference for mutton, kidneys and sweets, he follows the old tradition of topping off his dinner with a glass of Porto. There are some things that even supermarkets with their frozen dinners can't change in Great Britain.

ICE CREAM CAKE LISBOA

16 small macaroons
½ cup tawny Porto
1 3-inch sponge cake layer
2 quarts vanilla ice cream, softened
1 pint heavy cream
3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Arrange the macaroons in a single layer in a shallow pan. Pour one-quarter cup Porto over them. Let stand until wine is completely absorbed. Place pan in a 350-degree oven and toast macaroons lightly for about seven to eight minutes. Cool.

Cut the sponge cake into three cross-wise layers. Place one layer on bottom of a nine-inch spring-form pan. Sprinkle with one-third of remaining Porto.

Cover the layer with one-third of the softened ice cream, add the second cake layer. Sprinkle another third wine over cake. Cover the second cake layer with half the remaining ice cream and sprinkle generously with crumbled macaroons.

Add the remaining cake layer and spread with remaining ice cream. Pour remaining Porto over the cake.

Freeze for four to five hours. Loosen and remove sides of springform pan. Whip cream with confectioners' sugar until it will hold soft peaks. Cover cake with whipped cream. Sprinkle with remaining crumbled macaroons. Store in freezer until ready to serve. Serve with sauce. Makes six to eight servings.

PORTO SAUCE

5 egg yolks
1 ounce sugar
1½ ounces Porto wine

Put all ingredients into fireproof mixing bowl on top of double boiler. Beat with wire whip until firm. Cool.

RUBY TRIFLE

1 pound sponge cake, sliced
1 cup ruby Porto
1 package cherry or raspberry flavored gelatine
1 cup boiling water
1 pint heavy cream
1 cup vanilla pudding, cooked and cooled
Whipped cream, maraschino cherries, angelica

Line shallow pan with slices of cake. Pour wine evenly over cake. Dissolve gelatine in the boiling water; cool until it becomes slightly thickened. Pour gelatine over cake. Refrigerate until gelatine begins to set. Whip cream until it begins to thicken. Add vanilla pudding a little at a time, continuing whipping until the mixture stands in soft mounds. Carefully spread or spoon whipped mixture over the gelatine layer. Refrigerate for at least four hours or overnight. Serve topped with whipped cream, maraschino cherries and bits of angelica. Makes eight to ten servings.

FILLETS OF SOLE VALE DO DOURO

4 tablespoons sweet butter
8 fillets of Dover or lemon sole
½ cup diced raw mushrooms
½ cup diced cooked artichoke bottoms
2 tablespoons chopped shallots
1 cup white Porto
½ cup fish stock or water
1 cup light cream
Juice ¼ lemon
Salt and white pepper, to taste
1 tablespoon chopped pistachio nuts

Use a shallow skillet or pan large enough to hold fillets. Melt two tablespoons butter in pan. Arrange fillets in pan and sprinkle with mushrooms, artichoke bottoms and shallots. Pour Porto and stock or water over fish. Cover and cook over low moderate heat for about 10 minutes or until fillets flake easily with a fork. Remove fillets to a hot serving platter. Keep warm. Bring ingredients remaining in pan to a quick boil. Reduce to half. Add cream and stir in lemon juice, a little at a time. Stir in remaining butter. Do not boil. Pour sauce over fish. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Makes four servings.

GERMAN FISH SKILLET

Thaw 1 pound frozen fish fillets or use fresh ones. In a large skillet, fry ¼ pound diced bacon until crisp and remove from pan. Combine ½ cup flour, ½ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper in a mixing bowl. Dip fillets in flour mixture to coat. Fry fish in bacon drippings, adding vegetable oil if needed. Keep fish warm while boiling potatoes. In another skillet, saute ¾ cup chopped onion in 1 tablespoon oil. Blend in 1½ tablespoons flour, and gradually add ¾ cup water and ¾ cup vinegar. Stir in ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Heat mixture to boiling, stirring constantly, and boil for 1 minute. Stir in 4 cups sliced cooked potatoes and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Top with fried fish and heat before serving.

Union stages protest at stores

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two Los Angeles May Company stores were picketed Monday as part of a nationwide action by clothing workers protesting foreign imports.

An estimated 1,500 members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of Los Angeles marched in front of the downtown store, while another 150 were in front of the Wilshire and Fairfax store.

A union spokesman said clothing goods imported from "low-wage countries" such as Yugoslavia, Taiwan and Korea have cost American clothing workers 300,000 jobs in 10 years.

2 armed men duel in street

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two men —one armed with a shotgun and the other with a pistol —faced each other Sunday in an apparent duel on a city street in a dispute over what type of music should be played at a party.

Six shots were fired, one of them fatally wounding Nathaniel E. McKinley, 30.

He was shot in the stomach by Warren J. Mims, 28, who fired four shots from a pistol, police said.

Home economists offer diet hints

So you have decided you want to lose a few pounds and the only way to do it is to cut down your eating.

Not an easy task but one you can accomplish with a lot of determination and common sense. Maybe some tips provided by the home economists in the Betty Crocker Kitchens at General Mills will help, too.

First, be sure that your meals, although reduced in size, remain well balanced with the necessary proportions of the basic four food groups.

Then they have some specific suggestions on how to eat less.

Resist the temptation to starve all day so you can eat a big dinner. Because you are generally less active in the evening, you "burn up" fewer calories then. Thus, the less you eat after 6 p.m. the faster you are likely to lose.

Eat three meals daily or several small ones; include some protein foods — meat, cheese, eggs, milk — in each meal. Protein foods satisfy your appetite longer than sweets.

Save dessert to fill the between-meal gap. Instead of a rich dessert have fruit, cheese and crackers or a favorite tidbit from the Basic Four that will contribute to your daily needs.

Weigh yourself once a week, preferably in the morning. More often can be discouraging, even misleading, for weight loss is seldom a steady thing.

Don't punish yourself by eliminating all snacks. A nibble here and there is actually helpful in staving off hunger pangs. Crisp raw vegetables, broth or bouillon are excellent low calorie fillers.

Bulky foods, such as raw vegetables, take longer to eat and help fill an empty stomach better than foods with concentrated calories, such as fats, sweets and alcohol.

Plan ahead. If you know a big dinner or a party is coming up this evening, go very light on lunch this noon or eat less today or tomorrow.

Cut food into small bites and eat slowly. It will make your food last longer and seem like more than it is.

Use a salad or luncheon-size plate instead of a dinner plate. It makes your food portions seem larger.

Learn to season your foods with a sprinkle of herbs or a dash of lemon instead of with butter, sauces or gravy.

The Now Restaurant suits today's need

What is a "now" restaurant? We are in an inflationary time and some rich aren't so rich anymore. The moderately well-off are worrying and the poor are frightened, according to some observers.

A "now" restaurant is geared to meet needs of a changing society. It is opened only for dinner. This cuts down labor costs and waste. All the food is packaged and frozen at one large station or commissary then shipped to the local restaurants but the aim is to serve quality food. "Now" customers' ages are between 20 and 40. At least 30 per cent want prime ribs of beef. The rest go for lobster tails and steaks. The average income of the customers is $15,000 and higher. The dinner restaurant has no neon signs in front. The decor is modern and practical. The entire establishment is geared to the modern financial strain since people still want to eat out but they cannot, or will not, pay enormous prices. They want quality but don't demand dishes created by fine French chefs.

One of the men behind the development of these "now" restaurants is Frederick A. Rufe, vice president of the Dinner House Division of Marriott Corp.

"Everything I've ever done has been with food," he explains, stressing his study at Cornell University's Hotel School, jobs as food and beverage chief at several top Miami Beach hotels, vice president of the Four Seasons and the Forum of the Twelve Caesars in New Yorg and also his Army service in the food supply department. A genuine food man.

We dined recently with Fredrick Rufe at the newest of his Dinner House restaurants in Huntington, Long Island, called the Joshua Tree.

He says "Look at this menu. You can eat a decent meal for $3.95. All the fancy salad you want, all the bread and butter you want and a chopped beef steak plus glasses of sanggria. Or for $5.50 you get beef tenderloin brocsette plus the other things. You can't tell me those prices and the quality of the food won't attract people who don't want to cook at home, or young fellows and their girls who have little spending money but a preference for dining out.

"The biggest item," Rufe continues, "is our prime ribs of beef with salad, bread and butter and sangria, for $6.95. The beef is really prime. Everyone who can afford it goes for it. Incidentally, salads served on large dinner plates, thoroughly chilled, make a big hit, too. The fixings for our salad, which customers mix themselves at an attractive salad bar, include ripe and green olives, bacon bits, chopped eggs, green peppers.

The secret behind the low cost, he says, is efficiency and control. Everything is precut and weighed. Every serving or prime beef is weighed before going on the plate. Diners get 12 ounces without the bone, 14 ounces with. Plus au jus gravy.

The menu offers extras: large baked potato (without aluminum foil) for 75 cents, fresh mushrooms at $2, vegetable casserole for 85 cents, whiskey pie or seasonal casserole for $1 and coffee for 35 cents.

The carvers and the broilers are clean-cut young men. The waitresses are young, quite attentive and usually local students. The atmosphere is youthful and willing, rather than professional and surly.

"What you see here is typical of all our Dinner Houses, People welcomes our "now" way of serving food—reasonable, not fancy, very good, and in pleasant atmosphere with pleasant people. They keep coming back. They no longer can afford to spend $25 a person on French food. But they want excellent, plain food. So they get it here," Rufe says.

Acorn squash makes good main dish

An acorn squash filled with sausage meat, wheat germ and a celery and onion combination makes a main dish that is nutritious, tasty and filling. Bake the squash covered first and then uncover for the last few minutes of cooking time. A quick way to have a change of pace meal during the coming holidays, filled squash is a good recipe for a son or daughter to prepare and let Mom take a breather from her heavy cooking duties.

WHEAT GERM-SAUSAGE FILLED SQUASH

½ pound sausage meat
½ cup vacuum packed regular wheat germ
1 cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 acorn squash

Cook sausage meat over low heat, stirring constantly, until crumbly. Stir in wheat germ, celery, onion and ¼ teaspoon salt. Cut squash in half lengthwise and remove seeds, Prick cavities of squash with fork and sprinkle with remaining ½ teaspoon salt. Fill squash halves with sausage mixutre. Place in baking pan in ¼-inch water. Cover with foil, crimping it to edges of pan. Bake in 400-degree oven 45 minutes. Remove foil and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer or until squash is tender and sausage is lightly browned. Makes 4 servings.

Humble prune is finally getting its due recognition

The snickered-at prune really has quite a history. Cuttings from France first arrived in California in 1856, and these few things have now grown to 100,000 acres, supplying 75 per cent of the world's prune supply and 98 per cent of the nation's crop.

Primarily found in four central California valleys, prune plums are one of the few fruits allowed to tree ripen, which results in a food that is high in natural sugar content. Sunny skies and fairly predictable rainfall, similar to the Mediterranean, have provided an ideal setting for production of this mineral-laden crop.

Part of this production is turned into juice, rich in iron, potassium, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin. These important nutrients help build red blood cells and healthy nerves, aid digestion, protect against disease, and assist in proper development of bones and teeth.

Instead of shivering at 68 degrees on some of these long winter evenings, step into the kitchen and heat up a batch of Spicy Hot Prune Juice. Enhanced with orange peel and complemented with cloves and cinnamon sticks, you'll find this helps chase the chill in a most enjoyable and nutritious way.

SPICY HOT PRUNE JUICE

- 6 cups prune juice
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 orange, just the peel
- 3 cinnamon sticks
- 6 whole cloves
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- Extra cinnamon sticks and orange peel, if desired.

In a saucepan combine all ingredients and simmer for 5 minutes. Strain mixture into mugs and garnish with extra cinnamon sticks and a twist of orange peel, if desired. Serve with potato chips or pretzels or other favorite snack. Makes 6 servings.

CRUNCHY PRUNE LOAF

- 3 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 1 cup butter or margarine, melted
- ⅛ tablespoon vanilla
- ½ teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1½ cups coarsley cut pitted prunes
- 1 cup coarsely grated carrots
- 1 cup granola (recipe below)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees (moderate oven). Lightly grease two 8 x 4 x 3-inch loaf pans.

Mix together flour, soda and salt; set aside. In a large bowl, beat eggs with a wire whip or electric mixer until foamy. Add sugar, melted butter or margarine, vanilla and orange peel; blend until smooth. With a spoon, fold in prunes and carrots. Stir in flour mixture, blending until all ingredients are mixed. Add granola.

Divide mixture between pans. Bake 60-65 minutes or until toothpick inserted in middle of each loaf comes out clean. Cool on racks for 15 minutes, then remove from pans. One loaf may be frozen

GRANOLA

- 2¼ cups old-fashioned rolled oats
- 1 cup rolled wheat
- ¼ cup quick cooking oats
- 2 tablespoons toasted wheat germ
- 1 tablespoon instant non-fat dry milk powder
- ¼ cup water
- ¼ cup vegetable oil
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1-3rd cup flaked coconut
- ½ tablespoon salt (to taste)
- ½ cup chopped or slivered blanched, almonds

In a large bowl, mix the first five ingredients. Combine water, oil, brown sugar, honey and coconut in a saucepan. Stir over low heat just until ingredients are mixed. Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Pour mixture over dry ingredients in bowl. Mix thoroughly. Add salt to taste and almonds. Set aside for 15 minutes. Preheat oven to 250 degrees (low heat).

After 15 minutes spread granola mixture in 15-x 10-x 1-inch pan and place in oven. Turn mixture with spatula or pancake turner every 15 minutes, until dry and toasted to a pale golden brown—about 1 hour. For a more toasted, crunchier, granola, turn oven up to 325 degrees the last 10 minutes. Remove granola from oven and allow to cool without stgirring.

Don't waste your leftover pastry. Use it to make nutritious prune "sweet treats". Simply coat pitted prunes with honey, roll in chopped nuts and wrap in pastry. Moisten pastry-wrapped prunes with lemon juice, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon mixture and bake in 425 degree (hot) oven until golden brown, 10 to 15 minutes.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The wives of sailors aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea are changing the ship is short of crew, needs an overhaul and has cockroaches in its food.

Wives led by Vicky Kelly of nearby Alameda circulated a petition recently to halt departure of the 27-year-old ship for the Far East Nov. 26 on grounds it is unsafe.

Coral Sea Captain Thomas S. Rogers Jr. denied the ship needed an overhaul but admitted there was a crew shortage. "The navy is short of petty officers," he said, indicating other navy ships face the same problem.

A Pentagon inspection team will visit the ship in a few days and one wife commented: "They may get to see more than they bargained for."

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Sunday was not quite a holiday for engineer Floyd Fowler, whose train hit two cars and sent three persons to the hospital.

Early in the day, in Pleasant Grove, Fowler's locomotive hit a car with frosted windshield, and five hours later, in Salt Lake City, another car came in his way after it apparently failed to beat him to a crossing.

"It hasn't been a very good day for Engine No. 3040,"

Colorful cheesecake fits many occasions

One of the oldest and most popular recipes in the Knox Unflavored Gelatine collection is lemon cheesecake. The recipe here for Neopolitan Cheesecake is just one variation on this delicious theme. It is so called because it uses ricotta cheese and has the traditional three colorful layers for a festive look! (You can Americanize the recipe, if you wish, by substituting small curd cottage cheese.)

Knox Unflavored Gelatine has come a long way from the days of plain aspics and glazed sandwiches! Having no sugar, flavor or color of its own, it just naturally blends so many ingredients compatibly together to shape interesting new desserts, salads and main dishes. The two most important points to remember when working with unflavored gelatine are: 1) make sure all granules are completely dissolved before going on to the next step; and 2) when directions say "chill until mixture mounds when dropped from spoon," this is so solid ingredients will blend evenly throughout and not sink to the bottom.

The cheesecake would make a handsome "sweet" to serve at a ladies' tea party, or to guests dropping in after dinner.

NEOPOLITAN CHEESE CAKE

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
4 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
2 pounds ricotta cheese, beaten until smooth
1-3rd cup orange liqueur
1 package (6 ounces) semisweet chocolate pieces, melted and cooled
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ cup finely chopped mixed candied fruit

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease and lightly sugar bottom of 9-inch spring-form pan; arrange cookies, overlapping slightly, to cover bottom. Bake 12 minutes or until golden brown; cool.

In medium saucepan, combine unflavored gelatine with ¼ cup sugar; blend in egg yolks beaten with milk. Stir over low heat until gelatine dissolves, about 5 minures. Blend into cheese with liqueur; chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds when dropped from spoon.

In medium bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually add remaining ½ cup sugar and beat until stiff. Fold into cheese mixture. To 4 cups cheese mixture, add chocolate and vanilla; mix well and turn into prepared crust. Chill until just set. (Leave remaining gelatine mixture at room temperature.) To remaining gelatine, add fruit; carefully spoon onto chocolate layer. Chill several hours or until firm. Garnish, if desired, with seedless green grapes and mint sprigs, or with chocolate curls. Makes 12 servings.

This year's onion supply is plentiful

Onion lovers and those who enjoy more snap to their salads will be happy to learn that the sweet Spanish onion crop will be a good one this year. These snowy-white onions with their subtle sweet flavor go well in a colorful salad of avocado slices and tomato wedges. Top with a piquant Chili Dressing, an oil and vinegar combination with lime juice, chili powder and oregano. Great with hamburgers or an expensive steak.

MEXICAN-STYLE ONION SALAD

Crisp salad greens
1 large tomato, cut into wedges
1 fully ripe avocado, sliced
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Chili Dressing

Peel and slice onion. Separate into rings. Place salad greens on platter. Arrange tomato wedges, avocado slices and onion rings over greens. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Serve with Chili Dressing. Makes 4 servings.

CHILI DRESSING

2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons lime juice
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon chili powder
¼ teaspoon oregano

Combine all ingredients in small jar. Cover and shake until well blended. Makes about 2-3rds cup dressing.

Papayas are perfect for party or picnic

Movable feasts have been eulogized for centuries in words, on canvases and in minds. Originally the concept came from the French word "piquenique" meaning "to pick up a trifle." But picnics are no longer confined to set rituals and set menus. Nowadays picnics pack up and easily follow the action . . . to the beach, to the woods, to any sporting event.

Let your imagination go when planning picnic menus. The only criteria are taste and ease. Hawaiians who are expert at picnicking (only they call their outdoor feasts, luaus) recommend luscious papayas as a picnic perfect food to mainlanders.

You used to have to travel all the way to Hawaii to enjoy the sweet, juicy, fragrant fruit. But they're now jet flown daily to markets all over the United States.

Exotic, soft-fleshed papayas taste some what like a cross between a Crenshow melon and a peach with a sweet headiness. Besides an unusual sweetness and rich nutritional value (half a papaya supplies significant amounts of vitamins A and C for only 78 calories) papayas are perfect for picnics, because they can be prepared way in advance. They don't turn brown when cut.

A favorite with picnic papayas is to stuff the tropical fruit whole with a flavorful mixture of various cheeses, deviled ham, liverwurst, smoked turkey spread or pate. Chill, tote to the picnic site whole, and cut into thick slices for serving.

But you can also combine chunks of papayas with other favorite fruits, such as strawberries, avocados as in our delicious Papaya Jug Salad. Or cut them in half and pile the cavity high with your favorite salad.

Papayas can be chosen at your market in all degrees of ripeness. When fully ripe, they'll have an over-all yellow-orange color. Then you can serve them chilled or at room temperature, embellished with salads or simply —the Hawaiian way—with a splash of fresh lime.

STUFFED PAPAYA & SANDWICH RINGS

Slice an inch or so from the large end of the papaya. Scoop out seeds. Fill with deviled ham, smoked turkey spread, cheese spread or liverwurst. Equal parts of any of these and cream cheese is excellent. Chill. Slice into rings at the picnic site. Serve on plates; eat with fork or spoon.

PAPAYA JUG SALAD

1 avocado, peeled and diced (save pit) juice of 2 lemons
1 pint of strawberries, stemmed
2 cups watercress
¼ cup salad oil salt and freshly ground pepper

Toss papaya and avocado with lemon juice. Add rest of ingredients and mix gently. Ladle intol large jar with avocado pit (to keep avocado from darkening). Seal and chill until picnic time.

Book clears the air for allergy victims

One of seven people in the United States suffers from an allergic disease, according to the Allergy Foundation of America. In addition, allergy has now become the leading chronic disease of children.

"I firmly believe that after years of treating children suffering from various degrees of asthma and other allergies, the loving care parents give a child is far more important than his atopic (allergy prone) heredity," states Dr. Emile Somekh, specialist in the treatment of asthma.

"It is vitally important to treat very young children for asthma. Then it is possible to prevent the asthma from getting worse. The young body is much more suceptible to treatment. But when asthma develops for the first time around 20 or 30, it is much more difficult. ..It often gets worse progressively. Sometimes it is even fatal."

Dr. Somekh has written a new book, "Allergy and Your Child." It should help parents and the allergic child and banish some old-fashioned superstitions. It treats the problems of the atopic baby year by year through the first six years. It treats the subject of bronchial asthma thoroughly. Its approach is simple and direct and very easily understood.

But the most practical part of the book is that devoted to special diets and cooking for the allergic child. Here are some examples from the book:

Food Additives

Additives are (1) dyes derived from coal tar, plants or animals; (2) preservatives derived from chemicals, such as sodium benzoate, lactic acid and citric acid; (3) emulsifiers and thickeners, such as karaya gum, gum arabic or tragacanth; (4) spices and condiments; (5) linseed and peanuts; (6) antibiotics such as penicillin, and hormones such as estrogens.

To allergic children, these additives offer some hazards. Most of our synthetic foods are flavored or colored with artificial additives. These create a great problem for our asthmatic population, Dr. Somekh warns.

The Milk-Free Diet

Milk sensitivity varies in intensity. Some children cannot tolerate milk in any form. Milk is incorporated in beverages, breads and zwieback, butter, cheese, cookies and cakes. Also, cream, including cream soups, cream sauces, desserts such as cream pies, ice cream, sherbet and many others.

Cereal-Free Diets

A child who is sensitive to two types of cereal grains must avoid the entire grain family. These foods contain cereals: beverages such as flavored milk drinks (malted), instant coffee, breads including rye, soy, graham, melba toast, etc., cereals, dry or cooked, crackers or cookies, desserts, prepared mixes for cakes, gravies, sauces and cream soups, macaroni products, meats that are breaded, pancakes, seasoned potato chips, commercially baked beans and the like.

The Egg-Free Diet

Eggs should be carefully avoided by some allergic children. These foods contain eggs: beverages such as eggnog, malted drinks and others, bread and rolls, broth, cakes and cookies, desserts, noodles, meat loaf, croquettes, meatballs and breaded meats.

"Allergy and Your Child" also gives several recipes that avoid the foods warned against here. It also lists places in the United States where ragweed is relatively scarce and provides a list of the main allergies with symptoms and treatment.

However, Dr. Somekh adds, "I must warn the troubled mother that she is a nurse and guardian of her asthmatic child but not his doctor. The asthmatic child and others with serious allergies must see his doctor regularly."

Scabies cases rise in U.S.

CHICAGO (UPI) — While the ancient disease known as the "seven year itch" traditionally has bypassed the United States and Canada in its worldwide spread —that is no longer the case.

The itch, otherwise known as scabies, is now seen frequently among Americans of all ages and sexes, Dr. Samuel F. Bean of Baylor College of Medicine in Houston reports in the current edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The disease is caused by a small mite that burrows under the skin and causes severe itching.

The report said the itch can be easily recognized in adults but that symptoms in infants and children are similar to other ailments, making it more difficult to identify

Department of Agriculture controls bacon packaging

"Don't buy a pig in a poke." This old expression advises buying only after seeing the merchandise. To give you a better look at the bacon you buy, a U.S. Department of Agriculture regulation requires all bacon packages to have a transparent area at least 1½ inches wide revealing at least 70 per cent of the length of a representative slice. To meet this requirement, many bacon parkages have a new "back window;" some simply show a full slice in a front window. Here's what you should look for through the window:

Do you like your bacon crispy? or chewy? Distribution of lean, thickness of slice and cooking time are factors that determine how bacon will turn out. When fried, bacon with several strips of lean distributed throughout the slice will tend to be crispy, while bacon with the same amount of lean concentrated in fewer but larger sections will tend to be chewy. Here again, select according to your taste.

Thick slices—unless cooked longer — will be chewier than thin or very thin slices. A one-pound package of bacon of average thickness usually contains 20 to 22 slices. A one-pound package of thickly sliced bacon usually contains 12 slices.

Bacon is commonly sold in one-pound shingle packages. However, it is available in two-pound packages or the smaller 12-ounce or half-pound packages. When comparing prices, check the weight of the package. Bacon is also sold unsliced—and usually with the skin not removed. This is referred to as "slab bacon."

Bacon comes from a pig's side, processed in a special way. If you were able to buy meat from a pork side that hadn't gone through this special process, you would be buying what is called "fresh side pork", and it would taste like other fresh pork cuts rather than bacon.

To make bacon, pork sides are trimmed, and squared. Then they are cured in a brine mixture consisting of salt, sugar, and sodium nitrite and nitrate. After curing, the sides are hung on racks called "bacon trees" and taken to a smokehouse where smoke from a hard wood such as hickory or apple adds its characteristic aroma and flavor.

After it comes out of the smokehouse, then bacon is chilled and "formed" so that finished slices will come out even. Then the slicing machine cuts the formed side into slices of uniform thickness for packaging.

If you'd like to give bacon an international role, star it in this classic Quiche Lorraine from France:

QUICHE LORRAINE

or ¾ cup ham
finely chopped
¼ cup onions
1½ tablesoons
butter
¾ cup Swiss Cheese grated
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell
3 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Dash of cayenne pepper
1½ cups light cream
Nutmeg (if desired)

Fry bacon until crisp; crumble into bits. Saute onion in butter. Sprinkle bacon and cheese on pie crust with onions. Beat the eggs until foamy; add seasonings and cream and beat just long enough to mix thoroughly. Pour cream mixture into pie crust. Sprinkle ground nutmeg on top if desired. Put into oven 400 degrees for 5 minutes. Reduce oven heat to 300 degrees and bake 35-40 minutes or until done. Serves six to eight.

LITTLE MORSELS WITH BIG PUNCH

Dry beans and dry peas are two physically small food products packing plenty of protein power. They make good menu sense for this fall since marketing specialists with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) say that dry beans and peas will be plentiful in November.

According to USDA the dry pea crop has been harvested and is more than double last year's. Dry bean harvesting is close to completion and is expected to be up 31 per cent over last year's crop.

Beans and peas, part of the legume family, are among the oldest cultivated food plants. They were used by ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans. Records indicate that beans were being grown in China 2,000 years ago. Some varieties of these legumes are indigenous to the New World and were raised by ancient Indians of North and South America.

One important reason ancient and modern cultures rely on dry beans and peas is ease of storage. Once the orginal package is opened, they can be stored in covered containers in a dry, cool place (50-70 degrees). Stored this way, dry peas and beans will keep their quality for several months.

Some of the varieties of beans available for varied menu planning include black beans, black-eyed beans, garbanzo beans (chick peas), Great Northern beans, kidney beans, lima beans, navy beans, pintos, red, and pink beans. Dry pea varieties available are green and yellow peas, split or whole.

These foods are an excellent source of protein and can be used as food extenders. The many ways and means of using them in hearty meals make them a worthy addition to any menu.

Price of bird feed may cut down supplies

BOSTON (UPI) — Even birds might feel the pinch of inflation this winter.

"As for bird feed, the outlook for the next few years is glum,'' the Massachusetts Audubon Society said in its weekly report.

The society does not recommend that old standby, bread crusts —"It usually results in the neighbor's dog eating more bread than is good for him" — or dinner leftovers —"attracts rats."

Food provided by humans is the total winter supply for some species "and they would die without it," the society said.

It recommends some long-range planning by planting fruit-bearing shrubs or trees that will bear natural food for

Swiss cuisine right up with its watches and cheese

However, the resourceful Swiss are known for a few other things, in case you're interested. One of them is their cuisine, which gourmets rate with Europe's best.

Drawing on the four cultures—French, Italian, Germany and Romanche—that make up the small, landlocked nation, the Swiss have created a cuisine that is at the same time distinctively theirs. Included are such items of fare as Zurcher geschnetzeltes (minced veal in cream), roesti (Swiss hash brown potatoes), baked brandy-marinated escargots, Swiss cervelat and bratwurst (pork and veal sausage with gruyere cheese), ravioli Ticinesi, croustade oberland (a casserole of ham and mushrooms covered with melted cheese) and a variety of fondue dishes.

These and many others can be enjoyed at New York's Swiss Center Restaurant, prepared under the expert supervision of Chef Robert Keller. And, to properly follow one of these tasty main courses he might recommend a cup of continental coffee with a slice of Black Forest cake or St. Honore with profiteroles, both made with Cheri-Suisse, the native Swiss chocolate cherry liqueur.

BLACK FOREST CAKE

Chocolate Sponge Layers
- 4 eggs
- 7 ounces sugar
- 5 ounces flour
- 2 ounces unsweetened cocoa powder
- 2 ounces melted sweet butter
- ½ ounce baking powder

Place eggs and sugar in top of double boiler over lightly boiling water. Beat with wire whisk until warm and fluffy. Remove from double boiler and continue beating (with electric beater) until cold and stiff. Sift flour, baking powder, and cocoa together. Fold into egg mixture. Then fold melted butter (cooled to room temperature) into mixture. Pour resulting batter into well-buttered 8-inch round cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until an inserted toothpick comes out clean. Cool for at least one hour. Slice cooled cake horizontally into three equal layers.

Cream Filling
- 3 cups of heavy cream
- 8 ounces can sour pitted cherries
- 5 tablespoons Cheri-Suisse liqueur
- 2 ounces Swiss milk chocolate, shredded

Drain cherries and marinate in Cheri-Suisse liqueur overnight. Reserve remaining liqueur for pouring evenly over each of the three sponge layers. Whip cream until thick and fluffy. Spread cherries over first layer and cover with whipped cream. Lightly place second layer on top and spread with whipped cream. Add third layer. Cover top and sides of cake with whipped cream and sprinkle with shredded chocolate. Decorate with swirls of whipped cream and remaining cherries.

ST. HONORE

Make chocolate sponge layers as directed above.

Pastry Cream
- 2 tablepoons of cornstarch
- 1½ cups milk
- 2 whole eggs
- ¼ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract
- 5 tablespoons Cheri-Suisse liqueur

Dissolve cornstarch in ½ cup of cold milk rubbing through fingers to break up lumps. In another bowl mix eggs and sugar with a wire whisk and add in a thin stream to egg mixture stirring constantly with whisk. Return this to saucepan and cook over low heat, stirring with whisk until it thickens to a custard-like consistency, or starts to bubble. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla extract. When cold, stir in Cheri-Suisse liqueur.

Profiteroles
- 1¼ cups water
- 8 tablespoons butter
- 1¼ cups flour
- 6 eggs

In a heavy-bottomed saucepan, over medium heat, combine the water, butter and salt and bring to a boil. Pour in flour all at once and stir vigorously until dough rolls away from sides of pan forming a single mass. Remove from heat and allow dough to cool to luke warm, about 15 minutes. Beat in eggs one at a time. Beat dough by hand or in mixer until thoroughly blended. Using pastry bag, squeeze out thumbsize rounds of dough on baking sheet. bake at 350 degrees for fifteen minutes. Let cool, then fill these profiteroles with pastry cream.

Also, fill sponge layers with pastry cream and cover sides. Place profiteroles in circle around top edge and sprinkle with icing sugar. Swirls of pastry cream also can be added to top of cake.

Compact treat delightful in hiker's pack

Camping, hiking and backpacking have become year-round activities for many families. College students also take to the woods or mountains surrounding their campuses for day or weekend hikes. Theirs is a compact world and few extraneous items such as bulky cooking utensile fit in. This is why snack foods that provide energy and nutrition are so popular. One such is an apricot back-packin' bar which combines filling oats, raisins and apricots. These keep well.

APRICOT BACK-PACKIN' BARS

- ½ cup sesame seed
- ¾ cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 cup packed light brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 cup quick oats, uncooked
- 1 cup finely chopped dried California apricots
- ½ cup seedless raisins

Place sesame seed in shallow pan in 350-degree oven for 5 to 8 minutes, stirring occasionally until golden. Remove from oven. Cool.

In a large mixer bowl, cream butter, brown sugar and egg until light and fluffy. Stir flour, salt, baking soda and cinnamon into butter mixture until well mixed. Add oats, apricots, toasted sesame seed and raisins; mix well. (Mixture will be thick.) Spread evenly in a greased 13x9-inch baking pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 5 minutes. Cut into 24 bars.

Girl is slain helping mother fend off thugs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 17-year-old girl was fatally stabbed Wednesday night when she tried to fend off two men who grabbed her mother's purse in a store parking lot.

Yolanda Madrid died at White Memorial Hospital at 10 p.m., three hours after she was stabbed twice in the stomach.

Investigators said the girl and her mother, Maria, 41, were walking out of the store when the two men grabbed Mrs. Madrid's purse. As she struggled to hold on to it, the girl began beating the men with her own purse.

One of the men stabbed the girl and then both fled with the mother's purse which contained $55.

WHAT'S IN STORE...
HOW'S YOUR SHOPPING I.Q.?

Smart food shopping is a skill which is built upon knowledge of nutrition and the value of foods. Menu planning is the art of using all kinds of food products in creative ways. This art makes dining more interesting and food shopping more fun and economical. A wise shopper probably has been fighting inflation effectively for some time but here are some questions to test your shopping I.Q.

1. Do you plan your meals around leftovers or what you already have and make up a grocery list before going to the market?
2. Do you plan meals with an eye to appetite appeal and an awareness of nutritional needs?
3. Do you use less expensive proteins such as eggs, milk, beans and pastas in planning "meatless" meals?
4. Do you read the food ads, and try new products occasionally to have variety and save money in your meal planning?
5. Do you eat before shopping and shop by yourself so you can avoid impulse buying?
6. Do you figure "cost per serving" when selecting foods and buy budget-priced meat cuts that can be used for more than one meal?
7. Have you considered the savings in dry non-fat milk (for cooking purposes especially) or budget burger which has high nutritional value at a low price?
8. Do you buy only what you can use or store for a reasonable period of time?

Housewives complain jar lids are faulty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Complaints are pouring in about home-canned food lost or spoiled because jar lids failed to seal properly.

Most of the angry reports are about lids made by the Kerr Co., although some of the many letter writers complained of lids made by Ball.

Kerr has suggested the problem is one of technique, but most of the writers described themselves as veteran canners and said they never had such trouble before.

Kerr said the problem is isolated to a few regions of the country — particularly the Pacific Northwest —and caused by failure to tighten the screw ring on top of the jar.

A news release advised canners to "immediately after hot jars are removed from canner, use a cloth or rubber gloves and tighten screwbands again as much as possible manually."

Mrs. Knauer's office is not convinced the problem is solely a matter of poor canning technique.

One woman in Independence, Mo., who lost 21 quarts from poor sealing, wrote: "Could all us women who have canned over 42 years be wrong? We're not dumb and stupid like the Kerr Co. seems to think we are.

"I think the Kerr Co. was just trying to save on the (rubber) cushioning, if you want my true feeling about it, and got caught and don't want to own up to it."

Another, from Butte, Mont.: "Out of nine quarts of pears, five did not seal. Out of eight quarts of jam, six did not seal. This is just an idea of the trouble I've been having this year.

"I understand a Kerr representative in Portland made the remark it was the housewives and not the lids. I disagree with him wholeheartedly.

Pair indicted in slaying

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI) — Two 19-year old Wanaque youths, charged in the sniper death of a 71-year-old night court judge shot while presiding over night court, Monday were indicted on murder charges.

A Passaic county grand jury returned the indictments charging David Vervaet and Robert Carroll with the Nov. 4 slaying of Municipal Court Judge Joseph J. Cresente.

Vervaet was arrested Nov. 5, the day after a single .22-caliber shot was fired through a second floor courtroom window, fatally wounding Cresente.

Salmon doesn't have to always be salad

Salmon is the king of fish, said Izaak Walton. Most everyone would agree with this famous angler, but in these days of high food costs, we tend to turn more to canned salmon than to the fresh.

But even to the most budget-minded cook, there should be more to a can of salmon than the usual salmon salad. With just a bit of imagination and little effort, you can create a delicious treat, like this Golden Gate Salmon Swirl. It's a marvelous dish, even for the most elaborate company dinner.

The pastry roll, easily baked in a jelly roll pan, is filled with a melange of superb flavors. The canned fish is mixed with broccoli, sliced mushrooms and California dip, that tasty combination of onion soup mix and sour cream that was discovered about 20 years ago and is still the No. One party dip of all time. Here it's used as a flavorsome ingredient, both in the filling and as the base for a perfect sauce to serve over the roll. The sauce is made in a jiffy by combining the remaining California dip with instant tomato soup, milk and almonds—a fitting "crown" for the king of fish.

GOLDEN GATE SALMON SWIRL

1 package (10 ounce) frozen chopped broccoli, cooked and drained
1 can (7 ounces) salmon, drained and flaked
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 cups California dip
4 eggs
¾ cup sifted cake flour
¾ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk
½ cup slivered almonds
1 envelope instant tomato soup

In medium saucepan, combine broccoli, salmon, mushrooms, and 1 cup California Dip; heat through and keep warm.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease bottom of 15½" x 10½" x 1" jelly roll pan; line with waxed paper. Grease paper lightly.

In medium bowl of electric mixer, beat eggs at high speed until thick, about 5 minutes. At low speed, blend in flour, baking powder, and salt. Spread batter evenly into prepared pan and bake 10 to 12 minutes.

Turn out roll immediately onto towel; remove waxed paper and trim crisp edges. Spread with hot salmon mixture to within ½-inch of edges. Starting at narrow end, roll up jelly roll style and place seam-side down on platter. Serve with tomato-almond sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

This was one of the ideas advanced by Dr. Raymond D. Bowman, senior nutritionist for H. J. Heinz Co., to food editors attending the week-long 1974 Newspaper Food Editors Conference in Dallas.

"The age and stage of development of the infant and its genetic history are among the factors to be considered in determining the optimal nutritional intake," Dr. Bowman said.

A registered dietitian and a specialist in pediatric nutrition, Dr. Bowman talked with the editors during a lucheon sponsored by the baby food product group of Heinz.

Although no firm conclusions can be drawn regarding the direction infant feeding will take in the future, Dr. Bowman said, he feels that it will be much different than now.

"The structure and function of an animal, including man, can be modified according to how we feed it, what we feed it, and when we feed it. But, we must be sure of what we want to gain from these nutritional practices first. That is what we must decide."

In addition to discussing "Infant Feeding . . . Which Way to Go?", Dr. Bowman told the audience about the new labeling system for his company's Baby Foods, Heinz "Building Blocks for Good Nutrition.

The "building blocks," unique within the baby food industry, identify the company's products according to the "basic four" food groups into which all the products can be classified. This classification, Dr. Bowman said, should aid parents in selecting a blanced diet for their infant.

Each product has a symbol on the label which corresponds to the food group or groups to which the product belongs. The "d" block symbol represents the milk-dairy group; "v-f" denotes the vegetable-fruit group; "m" indicates the meat group; and "c" stands for bread-cereal.

Flank steak makes stew different

Although flank steak is no longer the most inexpensive of beef cuts, it still is a lean cut that stretches to serve several persons. For a different beef stew, roll a beef flank steak around a layer of fresh herbs, onion and bacon. Simmer slowly until done and combine cooked vegetables with the sliced steak for a different beef stew.

PINWHEEL FLANK STEAK

1 beef flank steak
1 cup finely chopped parsley
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 thick slices bacon, chopped
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 (14-ounce) cans beef broth
1 teaspoon salt
1 bay leaf
¼ cup celery leaves
Choice of vegetables

Lay the steak flat on cutting board. Mix parsley, onion and uncooked bacon. Spread over steak, roll jelly roll fashion and fasten with skewers securely. Cut roll into 2 pieces. Brown in oil in large soup pot. Add broth, salt, bay leaf and celery leaves. Cover. Simmer 50 minutes or until tender. Skim off fat. Meanwhile cook vegetables in boiling salted water until barely tender. Remove beef from broth and cut into slices. Arrange beef pinwheels in casserole or individual bowls with vegetables. Heat broth to boiling. Pour over beef and vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

Small unpeeled potatoes, onions, carrot strips, green beans or other vegetables may be used.

Good supply of parsnips in markets

When was the last time you served parsnips?

Parsnips once were a staple in Europe and were grown and cooked by American Indians. The fall of the year and the holidays find parsnips generally in good supply. Parsnips have a sweet nutty flavor and marry well in flavor with apples in a candied parsnip dish which goes well with traditional holiday fare.

CANDIED PARSNIPS AND APPLES

2 pounds parsnips, pared and diagonally sliced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 apples, cored (do not pare)
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup honey
1 teaspoon grated fresh lemon rind
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger

Place pared parsnips in one inch boiling salted water in saucepan, cover and simmer 20 minutes or until tender. Drain. In large skillet melt butter, add parsnips and apples, and stir in remaining ingredients. Cover and cook over low heat 10 to 15 minutes or until apples are tender. Makes 4 servings.

Creative baking enjoying a new surge of popularity peanut butter and jelly, and chock-full of protein-rich peanuts, this burnt sugar cake defies description. It's a welcome change from the usual chocolate, yellow or white variety. It's a cinch that its uniqueness as well as the fine texture and flavor will garner you compliments galore.

These days needlepoint pillows, crocheted afghans, embroidered samplers, even quilts are being turned out by the truckload by women and men seeking to express themselves in creative stitchery. But right up there along with the needlework is another popular pastime — baking. The nation's cooks as well as noncooks are suddenly discovering how satisfying it is to bake bread, pies and cakes from "scratch."

Besides being absolutely delicious, Burnt Sugar and Peanut Cake is inexpensive to prepare, costing only half as much as the store-bought variety. And these days anything you can do to bolster the sagging budget is welcome news. The peanut butter used in the

If you haven't yet joined the flour-sifting set and found out what fun it is to bake, now's the time to begin. For a starter try your hand at Burnt Sugar and Peanut Cake, a super-tasting cake that is simple to put together and sensational to behold. Layered with that old favorite, filling and the chopped peanuts used in the cake batter and sprinkled on top the icing are among the more economical items on the supermarket shelf. (A word to the wise: Do lots of peanut cookery, since these nutritious nuts in whole or peanut butter form top the list of low-cost protein sources.)

Don't put off the pleasure of baking. Begin today by creating this master-piece. You'll be glad you did and so will anyone lucky enough to get a slice of this different and delicious cake.

BURNT SUGAR AND PEANUT CAKE

2-3rds cup sugar
2-3rds cup boiling water
½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 eggs
2½ cups flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup cold water
¾ cup peanuts, chopped

FROSTING:

2 egg whites
1¼ cups sugar
¼ cups cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

FILLING

½ cup currant jelly
¼ cup peanut butter
½ cup peanuts; chopped

To prepare burnt sugar syrup: In a large saucepan, over medium heat, melt 2-3rds cup sugar, stirring occasionally, to a deep golden syrup. Remove sauce-pan from heat and add boiling water. Return to heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Continue to cook sugar mixture until it is reduced to ½ cup. Remove from heat and cool.

To prepare cake: In a large mixing bowl beat together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in vanilla, then eggs, one at a time. In a separate bowl mix together flour, baking powder and salt and add to creamed mixture alternately with ¾ burnt sugar mixture and beat cup water. Add ¼ cup cooled for 4 minutes. Stir in ¾ cup chopped peanuts. Pour mixture into 2 greased 9-inch round baking pans. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes or until cake tests done. Let cakes cool 5 or 10 minutes and turn out of pans.

To prepare frosting: Combine egg whites, sugar, water and remaining ¼ cup burnt sugar in top of double boiler. Beat about 7 minutes, over, but not touching boiling water until frosting forms stiff peaks. Spread jelly and peanut butter between cooled cake layers and frost. Sprinkle edge of cake with ½ cup chopped peanuts.

Extra-rich Crab a la Florentine

A crab a la Florentine brings out the very special flavor of Alaska King crab when paired with spinach. It may be served as a first course at dinner or some will enjoy it as a luncheon treat. Small shells or ramekins are lined with cooked chopped spinach, lightly seasoned with onion and dill weed. Then the creamy crab mixture is mounded in the center. Bake with bread crumbs and Parmesan cheese sprinkled on top. Serve piping hot with crackers or melba toast. If you wish to serve wine, select a French Muscadet, Taylor's American Chablis or Gallo Sauvignon.

CRAB A LA FLORENTINE

1 (7½ ounce) can Alaska King crab or 1 (6 to 8 ounce) package frozen Alaska King crab
1 (12 ounce) package frozen chopped spinach
2 tablespons minced onion
¼ cup butter, divided
1 teaspoon salt, divided
½ teaspoon dried dill weed
Dash black pepper
2 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 cup milk
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese

Drain and slice canned crab or defrost and slice frozen crab, reserving whole leg pieces for garnish if desired. Cook spinach according to package directions. Drain well. Saute onion in 1 tablespoon butter. Add to spinach along with ½ teaspoon salt, dill weed and black pepper. Set aside. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in saucepan. Blend in flour and white pepper. Gradually add milk. Cook and stir until mixture boils and thickens. Beat egg yolk slightly. Add small amount of hot mixture to egg yolk and blend thoroughly. Return to hot mixture and cook over low heat for a minute longer. Add crab and lemon juice. Spoon spinach into 6 to 8 small ovenproof shells. Top with crab mixture. Garnish with reserved crab. Toss together bread crumbs, Parmesan cheese and remaining 1 tablespoon butter, melted. Sprinkle over top. Bake at 350 degrees 10 to 15 minutes, until heated through. Makes 6 to 8 appetizer servings.

PASSENGER CAR TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons, except taxis. If your tire does not give you this mileage because of:

- defects in material or workmanship,
- normal road hazard failure,
- premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining);

Montgomery Ward will:

1. During the first 10% of guaranteed mileage, replace the tire free.

For guarantee service and adjustments, return tire to any Montgomery Ward branch with the Guarantee Booklet issued at the time of sale.

Charge after first 10% of guaranteed mileage based on selling price in effect at the time of return at branch to which returned, including federal excise tax.
